PREMIER ASQUITH BACK AT HIS POST

PREMIER ASQUITH

Reelected Unopposed by His Constituency He Reassumes the Leadership of His Party in Parliament

LONDON, April 8.—Premier Asquith again became a member of the House of Commons today when he was returned unopposed by his old constituency of East Fife, Scotland. At noon as no other candidates had put in an appearance the returning officer of the constituency declared Herbert Henry Asquith duly elected once more for the constituency he has represented in the lower house since 1886.

An interesting coincidence in connection with Mr. Asquith's return is that today is the sixth anniversary of his assumption of the premiership.

RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Three of Six Who Robbed Bank Killed and Two Wounded—One Escaped With $1000

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., April 7.—Three of the six bandits who robbed the bank of Canada at New Hazelton yesterday were killed and two were seriously wounded by a posse, the remaining robber escaping to the hills with the booty, about $1000.

As the robbers started for the hills 200 citizens followed, both sides firing as fast as they could work their guns. Just before gaining the shelter of the wood, two of the bandits were killed. The third was killed a little later. The two wounded robbers struggled on for a time but soon surrendered. None of the posse was injured. It is estimated that 1500 shots were exchanged and nearly all the ammunition in the town was exhausted.

Don't Let Them Fool You, Supt. Welch

There is a very ingenious attempt in certain quarters to mislead the superintendent of police and to deceive the public in connection with the so-called "Seely dinner" by giving the impression that the real question is who was present, or whether a certain official was present on that occasion. That is not the question, Mr. Welch. It is understood that most of those who were present were there innocently. It is no reflection upon anyone to show that he was unwittingly present at the "Seely dinner," nor can the fact of such presence at the show affect anyone's political fortune at this time. The campaign is over and the truth can no longer have any political effect whatever.

The question is not who was present but who was responsible for the whole affair. It is your duty, Mr. Superintendent, to find out who organized the entertainment, who solicited the different gentlemen to attend, who were the promoters, who were the stage managers, what they did during the performance, and what they did after it was over.

There is where the whole responsibility lies and there alone. If you find that this matter comes within the limitation of the statutes, and that there was any unlawful conduct on the part of the promoters before, during or after the performance, it is your duty to report it to the proper authorities in order to satisfy the ends of justice, to punish the real culprits, so as to wipe out the stain on the fair name of our city and to prevent a repetition of anything of the kind in Lowell in the future. It is not a question of gratifying any politician's spite or pulling the political chestnuts of any official out of the fire. The question is, did this exhibition occur as alleged, and if so, when did it occur, and who was responsible for it. Do your duty Supt. Welch. Don't let anyone sidetrack or fool you. Find the facts and take such action as the law demands.

LICENSE BOARD HEARING

Charge of Selling to Intoxicated Man Heard—Case Taken Under Advisement

The license commissioners held a hearing in their rooms last evening on a complaint, which was signed by Supt. Redmond Welch, against the firm of John H. Douglass & Co., liquor dealers at 168 Middlesex street, in which it was charged that John H. Moore, an employee of the firm, sold intoxicating liquor to a person while under the influence of liquor on April 2, in violation of the terms of the first class license. Andrew Monahan was named in the complaint as the person who bought the liquor.

The firm of J. H. Douglass & Co., defendant was represented by Attorney James J. Kerwin while Superintendent Welch had charge of the government's case. Mr. Douglass pleaded not guilty to the charge. Officer Philip D. Murphy of the liquor squad was the first witness called for the prosecution and he testified that he entered the store on Middlesex street on April 2, together with Officer C. W. Sheridan, also a member of the liquor squad. Witness said he immediately discovered a man, who appeared to be intoxicated standing at the bar with a glass of liquor in his hand. Mr. Murphy said that he took the liquor from the man's hand, tasted it and then passed it to Officer Sheridan, who stood just behind him. The bartender, John H. Moore, admitted to the liquor inspector that he sold the contents of the glass to the man standing against the bar but said he did not believe he was drunk. Mr. Douglass, the proprietor, was not in the store at the time, said the witness, and the man alleged to have been intoxicated was taken to the station.

Police Officer Sheridan was then called to the witness stand and testified practically the same story as his fellow officer, saying that he believed that the man was drunk. Supt. Welch said that the man admitted being drunk at the time and was released as a first offender. John H. Douglass was the first witness called for the defense and he said that both employees were familiar with the laws relative to selling liquor, as he had instructed both of them on the matter. Mr. Moore is still employed by him.

John H. Moore, who is said to have served Andrew Monahan while intoxicated, took the witness stand and told of receiving instructions from his employer relative to the selling of liquor to minors and intoxicated. The man whom he served on April second, he believed, was perfectly sober. He said that the man leaned against the bar, but this is the custom of the greater number of patrons. He spoke plainly and gave no evidence of being intoxicated, said the witness. He had served the same man on previous occasions during the week and noticed no change in his condition.

In his argument, Lawyer Kerwin said that he did not believe the evidence submitted was sufficient to prove the man was intoxicated and the judgment of the police officers was not infallible. He impressed upon the minds of the commissioners the fact that the matter occurred while the defendant was absent from the premises and that the acts of the employee were contrary to the defendant's instructions.

The board took the matter under advisement.

U. S. WARNS CARRANZA

To Modify Villa's Expulsion Order Against Spanish Residents—Grave Situation

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Vigorous representations went from the American government yesterday to General Carranza, the constitutional chief, urging that he modify the order of Gen. Villa expelling Spaniards from Torreón.

The United States has undertaken to obtain for Spaniards in Mexico the same protection it affords Americans resident there, and Ambassador Riano has been assured that nothing will be left undone to assure for the unfortunate at Torreón every right to which they are entitled under international law and usage.

Purpose Made Plain
That Spain proposes to exhaust every resource to protect her people in the revolution-torn republic was made plain yesterday when Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico cabled the navy department that the commanding officer of the British cruiser Hermes had been instructed to call for Spaniards at this besieged federal port. Officials here did not comment on this development.

The state department, as well as the Spanish embassy here is embarrassed in dealing with the situation at Torreón by a lack of exact information as to the extent of the decree of expulsion and how far it has been executed. It is understood that Villa, in a public speech, has told the Spaniards of Torreón that they were to be deported en masse; that a commission would be appointed to examine into each individual case and that such of them as could establish the fact that they have rendered no aid to the Huertista cause would be permitted to return to Torreón.

The gravity of the problem has been

LOWELL MEN FAVOR FISH AND GAME BILL

Proposed Law Submitted by State Commission is Indorsed—Officers Chosen—The Fishway at Falls Discussed

Two members of the Massachusetts Fish and Game commission, George W. Field, chairman, and William C. Adams came to Lowell last night and talked matters over with the Lowell Fish and Game association. The third member of the commission, George H. Graham was sick and unable to come. It was the annual meeting of the association and the attendance, owing, perhaps, to the unfavorable condition of the weather, though hunters and fishermen are not supposed to mind a little thing like that, was rather slim, but the drift of talk and argument was quite interesting.

At the regular business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Lucius A. Derby; Harry L. Conzales, first vice president; William O'Hair, second vice president; William P. McCarthy, secretary; Simon B. Harris, treasurer; H. H. Henry J. Draper, Willis S. Holt, Henry Ulbrach, Charles E. Blaisdell and George F. Cretz, directors.

The most important matters before the meeting had to do with a reformation of the fish and game laws and the fishing license of $1 as proposed by the commission. The fishing license was first mentioned, and that was some time ago, there was considerable opposition to it. At the very plain talk induced by Commissioner Adams last night seemed to turn the tide in favor of the proposition. He said that the fishermen of the state had never borne their share of the expense connected with fish and game work and he wanted to know if there was a man in the house who would object to paying a fishing license of $1. He allowed that no live sportsman would object to it. He explained that 15 cents of the $1 license fee would be paid city or town clerks who receive less than $500 a year and that clerks whose salaries exceeded the magnificent sum of $500 would not receive any part of the license money.

There was one man in the hall who objected to any clerk receiving any part of the license money. He said that the clerks were paid for their work and that making out licenses for fishing was a part of their work. The association went on record, however, as endorsing the fishing license. The new proposition has been quite widely endorsed throughout the state and it will mean a considerable more money for the commission to spend. The commissioners complained last night of the way

INSPECT LOWELL MILLS

Lt. Gov. O'Hara of Illinois to Study Labor Conditions in the New England Factories

BOSTON, April 8.—Lieut. Gov. Barrett O'Hara of Illinois, chairman of the vice commission of his state, accompanied by his wife, is expected today to apply for a job at a New England factory or mill, so that he can investigate the relation of low wages and commercialized vice.

His wife, who is the daughter of Elisht A. Hoff of Cabot, Ill., one of the foremost living hymn composers, accompanies him here. She is also his campaign manager in his fight for congress. Just where O'Hara will take up his studies is known only to himself and his wife but it was said last night that he might apply for a job in one of the Lowell mills.

increased by unofficial but credible information that this policy of expulsion of the Spaniards is to be of general application; that as rapidly as the constitutionalists by force of arms extend their control over such cities as Saitillo and Monterey and other places now within the federal line they intend to drive out the Spaniards and seize their property.

MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED

Byron Chandler Sued by His Wife Who Charges Violence and Stinginess

NEW YORK, April 8.—Byron Chandler, the Million-Dollar Kid, did not attend a theatrical performance last night as he intended. Instead, Chandler acted as host of Philip McDannel and Louis Zeltner, deputy sheriffs, at the Waldorf-Astoria. The deputy sheriffs made the acquaintance of Chandler through the order of arrest which they served on him at the Hotel McAlpin in a suit for separation which Mrs. Grace L. Chandler, known on the stage as Grace La Rue, brought against him. After Deputy Sheriff's McDannel and Zeltner placed Chandler under arrest he was unable to obtain the $25,000 bail required, and Sheriff Grifenhagen permitted the prisoner to go to the Waldorf on the assurance of Ruel W. Poole, president of the Garfield National Bank, that Chandler's mother in Manchester, N. H., would arrange for the bail today.

Fearful "Kid" Would Skip
Chandler arrived here from Europe only a few days ago. It was only two days ago that Mrs. Chandler announced that she was going to sue for a separation and the things that happened in such rapid succession proved that when she says a thing she means it. It required only a few minutes for the attorneys for the wife to get the order of arrest to the sheriff's office after Justice Weeks had issued it.

The actress asked for the arrest of her husband in the proceeding because she feared he would leave the jurisdiction of the court and then there would be no way to enforce an order for alimony which she hopes to get in her separation suit.

The voluminous complaint of Mrs. Chandler is crowded with allegations of cruelty, including a threat to kill her and beatings that her husband administered to her and related about his alleged infidelity and his regard for various other women.

Although the plaintiff refers to the wealth enjoyed by the defendant and his lavish expenditures, she declares that he has been very remiss in the matter of providing her with means of sustaining herself, telling her on one occasion that if she wanted money she had better work for it, which she did, accepting an engagement which Chandler obtained for her in London.

Calls Him Poor Gambler

Just to show how little the "million dollar kid" thought of money, his wife mentions that he had an auto that cost him $11,000, including the duty to bring it into this country. Then he had another car that cost him $800, and still another the value of which Mrs. Chandler did not know. They always lived at the best hotels and in one night's play in France he lost $3000, the actress alleged. In brief, as Mrs. Chandler says, Chandler was known in this country and Europe as "a man of very large means," and yet when he went to Europe in the spring of 1913 to spend a month with his mother he left his wife with only $50, she says.

Getting down to the cruel treatment which the wife declares she suffered at the hands of her husband, she alleges that, beginning in 1911, he became very abusive and frequently threatened to kill her. Mrs. Chandler declares that her husband beat her while they lived at the Hotel Somerset until she required medical treatment. At times he had been drinking heavily. When she protested against his driving one of his automobiles while in that condition, he, so it is alleged, drew a revolver from a drawer and threatened to kill his wife.

The latter, frightened by the threat, telephoned to the hotel office and a negro porter was rushed up to their apartment to protect the woman in distress. Chandler ordered him out and hardly had the hotel functionary left the room when the fighting was renewed and was continued until the wife fell from exhaustion.

Mrs. Chandler also mentions that while they were in London, Chandler used to entertain other women in their apartments while she was at the theatre but when she got home he was gone and would not return until 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning.

Hail to Wear Sleeves

The cruel treatment of her husband has also made quite a difference to her appearance on the stage. Grace La Rue says, for instance, formerly she appeared in some parts in décolleté gowns, she was compelled to forego them because her shoulders, neck and chest showed scars and discolorations. So she had to have sleeves put into her gowns. Also her nervous system has become much impaired.

Chandler was calm and outwardly undisturbed while he waited in the sheriff's office to get the required $25,000 bond. He remarked that his wife went about her action in the wrong way, that he received his money from his mother and his wife had played her part well by causing his arrest, because that would not recommend her to the consideration of his family.

"I had no intention of leaving the city," said Chandler; "I am interested in right now is getting out of here so that I can go to the theatre tonight, for I have tickets." But the "Million-Dollar Kid" could not get $25,000 bail, and the tickets were not used—by him.

$5000 FOR LOST LOVE

WIFE OF DORCHESTER CONDUCTOR SUES WIFE OF MOTORMAN WHO WORKED ON SAME CAR

BOSTON, April 8.—After failing to win back the love of her husband by promising to go anywhere in the world with him if he would only leave Dorchester, Mrs. Frederick Leighton Gwynn, 2 Faulkner Circle, has brought an alienation suit for $5000 against the wife of her conductor-husband's former motorman, Mrs. John R. Graham, 5 Gibson Street, Dorchester.

The suit filed yesterday at the Pemberton square court house, brings to light a matrimonial tangle that centres around the Field's Corner barn, where both men are stationed. Gwynn is a conductor and Graham is a motorman. Formerly for a time they were paired together on the same car.

Mrs. Gwynn said last night that she knew positively that Mrs. Graham had been keeping company with her husband since March, 1907, practically ever since their marriage, and since that year before the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

After trying for several years to stem the receding tide of her husband's affections, Mrs. Graham, as a last resort, prepared to seek a divorce. A lawyer to whom she had entrusted her case managed to reconcile the two.

The wife says she begged her husband to go to Canada with her or to any part of the world. She says she promised never to make her jealous again and together they spent several months at her home on Prince Edward Island.

Not long after their return matters became as bad as ever, Mrs. Gwynn says, and turned detective. She secured a room across the street from the house occupied by her rival and kept constant watch for several days. It is expected that whatever evidence she secured will make dramatic testimony when it is recited on the witness stand.

THE SIEGEL CASE

Mrs. Eddy-Brown Will Appear to Testify Before Grand Jury

BOSTON, April 8.—Mrs. Diana E. Eddy, who became Mrs. James Sullivan Brown on Saturday last, and for whom District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier and his first assistant, Thomas D. Lavelle, have been conducting a vigorous search in connection with the affairs of Henry Siegel in this city, will appear before the Suffolk county grand jury next week.

This fact became known last night after a confidential conference between ex-Mayor Henry E. Tiepie of Pawtucket, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Lavelle at the district attorney's office late yesterday. Both refused to tell what happened at the conference, but Lavelle declared he was satisfied that Mrs. Brown would appear next week to testify before the grand jury.

It was intimated last night that ex-Mayor Tiepie had received a letter from his clients telling him that if he could make satisfactory arrangements with the Suffolk county district attorney, Mrs. Brown would accept service on the special summons.

Tiepie called Lavelle on the long-distance telephone and announced his intention of coming to this city. It was late in the afternoon when he quietly walked into the office and asked for Mr. Lavelle. He was ushered into the private office without the attaches being aware of his identity.

Just what day Mrs. Brown will appear before the grand jury will not be determined until today, when District Attorney Pelletier will be at his desk. He completed his conference last night with District Attorney Whitman in New York regarding the Siegel affairs

Today Assistant District Attorney Lavelle will report to him of the final locating of Mrs. Brown and her husband. The town in which the couple are spending their honeymoon is not known. This information Attorney Tiepie refused to make public.

there were almost as many mills along the river then as there are today. Mr. Marren rather held to the belief that if the fishways were restored the salmon and shad would manage to survive the pollution of the river.

David Has the Floor
It was at this point that David Curtis got Chairman Derby's eye and David proceeded to pass out a little inside information relative to fish and their habits. He told how eels will "take a dam" and then he spoke about the "blowing up" of lakes and ponds. He thought it was an outrage and he understood it was something done by authority of selectmen. He told of meeting men with baskets loaded with fish in the early morning, the result of a "blown up" pond. He said that dynamite had been used several times at Lakeview, and Dr. Field said it was up to members of the association to see to it that dynamite was not used. He said that members of the association should be just as much interested in streams, lakes and ponds as they would be in their own property.

Enforce the Game Laws

Commissioner William C. Adams is an unconventional sort of chap and he addressed the meeting without rising. He simply stuck to his chair and talked matters over rather sportsmanlike. He corroborated all that Dr. Field had said relative to the uselessness of restoring the fishway at Pawtucket falls. He seemed to anticipate a feeling on the part of certain ones that the commission would stall on ordering the Locks and Canals to restore the fishway and he wanted it understood, he said, that there were no strings between the manufacturers and the commissioners. Mr. Adams spoke about screening the ponds in order to keep in the fish and said that if the association believed there were any ponds around here that should be screened the commission would see to them. He mentioned George pond, merely as an example. Mr. Adams spoke about the fishing license and was very emphatic in declaring that the fishermen should bear their share of the freight. He said that the $1.00 fish-license was a "red-blooded proposition" and he didn't think any real sport would object to it.

FISH AND GAME BILL

In which they were "ramped for money and old of the" any things that might be done if they but had the money to do with the buying of fish hunters' habits, hatcheries, etc.

Commissioners Learned Something

When the discussion relative to the restoration of a fishway at Pawtucket falls was at its height there arose a David in the room, of whom no scriptural mention is made, but he told of the fishes. The David in question was none other than our mutual friend, David Curtis, the penial street railway conductor.

David relieved himself of a whole lot of dangerous knowledge concerning migratory fish and when the commission chairman mentioned eels David was right there with the exclusive information. He said that eels didn't require a fishway in order to negotiate the falls. "Why, man alive," said David, "the eels build their own dam when they want to go over the falls. They get one on top of the other, and that's the way they get over. Chances have been spanned by human chains and the eels are almost human in this respect." David didn't explain how the last eel would get over the falls, but it was inferred that at least one eel had to die for the cause and the understanding, of course, was the goat.

No Shad or Salmon

Dr. Field said that the shad and salmon have disappeared almost entirely from the Merrimack river and that there isn't fish enough of any description in the river to warrant the rebuilding of the fishway at Pawtucket falls. The Atlantic salmon, he said, had almost entirely disappeared from the coast and the Pacific salmon is not a very ambitious fish. He said it would be the height of nonsense to think of restocking the Merrimack river with shad or salmon, especially because of the pollution of the water, and this evil, he said, could be corrected in

TREAT TUBERCULOSIS

LONDON SCIENTIST USES ELECTRIC LIGHT IN CASE WHICH HITHERTO REQUIRED KNIFE

LONDON, April 8.—Dr. Reym, head of the French Light Institute, has made interesting experiments in the treatment of patients suffering from surgical tuberculosis, says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. Electric light was used in cases which had hitherto required the knife and, it is said, with most satisfactory results.

Describing the treatment, the correspondent says the patient is placed about a yard in front of an ordinary lamp and its rays directed against the affected parts of the body. The irritation lasts, at the beginning of the treatment, 15 minutes daily, but it is increased gradually until it reaches two and one-half hours. It has been suggested that the light cure may also be useful in cases of lung tuberculosis, but this has not yet been demonstrated.

PRaise FOR OUMET

English newspapers are devoting much space to Francis Oumet, the American golfer, who already has won many friends by his unassuming manner, modesty and sportsmanship. Oumet made his first appearance on an English golf course at Deal yesterday and there was much speculation as to how he would shape up after his long rest from practice. That he needs very little practice to get into form was shown when he went around the course in 31 strokes, a remarkable performance in the face of a stiff wind.

HOME RULE BILL PASSED

The home rule bill has been read a second time in the third year stage of its passage over the veto of the peers. In the British Isles when a bill is passed for the second time the people regard it as beyond the possibility of defeat. When the great masses of Catholic emancipation, the disestablishment of the English church in Ireland and the land act of 1903 passed their second reading, nobody paid much attention to the third reading which was regarded as a mere formality. So it is in the present case, the home rule bill is passed, the victory is won and not all the Ulster shenanigans nor the O'Brien-Healey crafters can avail to prevent it becoming law.

The question, however, is, will it pass unchanged or will the Ulsterites decide to accept the offered concessions? That matter is yet uncertain; but there is yet a possibility that the Ulsterites will accept the offered concessions granting them the privilege of local option on home rule for a term of six years. The question on the ballot for each county would be something like this:

"Shall this county come under the operation of the home rule for Ireland act for a period of six years?"

As the Irish parliament will not be opened until 1915, it is quite likely that every county in Ulster would vote in favor of local self-government. It is a mistake to say that Ulster is divided on religious lines on this question. A very considerable proportion of the Protestants of Ulster are in favor of home rule and these with the Catholics would make a majority in favor of the new law. The only possible exception is Antrim, in which Belfast is located; but one county could not remain outside as its business would be ruined by lack of co-operation with the rest of Ireland. Hence it is quite immaterial whether the bill passes with or without the offered concessions as the latter mean nothing permanent and would only supply the Ulsterites a means of backing down gracefully. Expecting to extort more from the government they ask that John Redmond be eliminated from the negotiations as he vetoes every request they make. But Redmond in this case represents Ireland and he will stand firm as a rock against any move that would cause a division of the Irish nation. As for the O'Brien-Healey gang, if by their abstention from voting they had defeated or even jeopardized the bill, they might never show their faces in Ireland. They would be mobbed and banished or slain. The people can tolerate and even respect the opposition of an avowed opponent like Sir Edward Carson, but pretended friends playing the role of traitors such as O'Brien and Healey, never!

Through all this crisis the patience and self-restraint of Mr. Redmond and his party in parliament have been marvelous, but not a whit more so than the calm and imperturbable serenity of the Irish nationalists, particularly in Ulster where the provocation to resentment and counter attacks has been the greatest that human ingenuity could invent. The home rule bill in all probability will pass into law without change within the next eight weeks and it will take an entire year to convince the Irish people at home and abroad that through the superb leadership of Hon. John E. Redmond backed by his parliamentary party and practically the whole Irish race the dream of centuries has become an indestructible reality.

UNDERWOOD'S VICTORY

Oscar W. Underwood, majority leader of the national house of representatives, did not have to do much fighting to beat Richmond P. Hobson in the race for United States senatorship of Alabama, and though he personally deserves the honor there are many involved issues that make his triumph unusually significant. More than any other man in national politics, with the possible exception of President Wilson, Mr. Underwood was responsible for the framing of the tariff bill of the administration and for its successful passage through the house, and though it may be far fetched to regard his election as a tariff vindication, it is certain that were he defeated by Hobson, his failure would be quite generally attributed to the effects of the tariff revision on the popular mind. Mr. Underwood may not have been elected by such a large majority merely on the tariff issue, but his tariff reputation did not apparently injure him. In this one respect his success is a triumph for democracy in general and for the administration in particular.

Mr. Underwood is one of the most notable men in Washington who has taken issue with the president on the tariff revision question and it is gratifying to find that no party holds him in less esteem for his attitude which is undoubtedly sincere. Though the tariff matter is not a strictly party consideration, some of the more important democrats were not held to be altogether disinterested in their stand against the administration, but in shadow of doubt rested on the name of Mr. Underwood except in a few cases where the wish was father to the thought. Were one of the great democratic reforms to be introduced in congress tomorrow there is not a man on whom the president could depend more readily and more wholly than on Mr. Underwood. It is folly to suppose that his attitude on the tariff problem affected his campaign either favorably or unfavorably. Hobson is a lightweight who has been gallivanting about the country since the Spanish-American war shrieking for a greater navy. The dignity of the senate would be greatly lowered by the membership of such a man as Hobson in spite of the fact that he did risk his life in a brave deed at Santiago harbor in blowing up the Merrimack.

SPEAKER SCORES HOUSE

Speaker Grafton D. Cushing very forcibly reminded the Massachusetts house of representatives on Monday last that it is a serious body appointed to transact serious public business and he mentioned some trivial activities of recent date to prove that this fact is sometimes forgotten by those interested. Without losing his temper he struck out from the shoulder and warned the members of the house that unless they introduce speedy reform in their methods of attending to state affairs they will be regarded as the most hopelessly inefficient legislative body of recent years—a truly awful outlook. Little wonder that immediately afterwards the legislature put aside trivial bills, useless debates and obstruction tactics and made a day's record for sensible public service.

When the reports of legislative happenings are so often of a nature calculated to try public patience, it is not strange that the absence of a sense of duty and the silly tactics so frequently displayed in the legislature should bring the speaker to his feet in occasional protest. Unfortunately many representatives get an exaggerated sense of their own importance the day after election and they will introduce nonsensical bills with all the gravity of a Webster or a Disraeli and make political mountains out of every ant hill. From long abuse we have grown accustomed to look for this style of thing in the deliberations of municipal boards, but we expect a slightly higher standard in the state legislature. If the senators and representatives who have nothing to say would refrain from saying it, a "scold" from the speaker would not be necessary and public patience would not be so often tried by the press reports which are anything but flattering to our solons.

FIRES AND FINES

In his annual report, just published, former Fire Commissioner Cole of Boston makes the novel suggestion that they who are responsible for preventable fires be considered guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined accordingly. He specifically mentions as deserving of punishment the owners of property with defective chimneys. Most of his other suggestions are in line with those usually adopted by progressive cities such as the adoption of stringent regulations with regard to building, the elimination of wooden roofs, the creation of special zones in the business districts, certain restrictions of space and construction in building, and many other things that relate more particularly to the fire department of Boston. His suggestion with regard to fining those responsible for preventable fires seems impracticable, but it emphasizes the fact that fire is no longer considered a private affair but is something in which all the citizens are or should be interested. He who causes a fire through negligence endangers the property of his neighbor as well as his own and inflicts damage on the city.

SECRETARY DANIELS' ORDER

Opponents of the order of Secretary Daniels regarding the barring of intoxicating liquors from the navy pretend to be horrified at the possible embarrassment of our officers when meeting representatives of foreign powers. Surely there is no embarrassment in an officer's carrying out the instructions of his government. Even though there were, a careful reading of Secretary Daniels' order reveals an anticipation of such an emergency.

Apropos of this subject, it may not be generally known that Mr. Daniels has been for many years opposed to some phases of the liquor traffic, excluding all advertising of alcoholic liquors from the Raleigh newspaper which he owns. In this respect the Raleigh paper follows the policy adopted years ago by The Sun, which is one of the very few newspapers in New England that refuses to print liquor advertisements.

COURT INTERPRETATIONS

One of the points brought out in the recent legislative report on immigration is the inadequacy of the present system of court interpreters and the resultant confusion in achieving the only one winning. To get the genuine, call for full name, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c.

ends of justice. The board found that many of those commonly used as interpreters were so incompetent as to be worse than useless, and it is no exaggeration to say that this state of things has resulted in anything but fair play for the immigrant on trial in some cases. In our local police court, trials are frequently delayed because of the difficulty of getting an interpreter, and when one is found who will assume to say that he is qualified to serve? The obvious remedy is the appointment of official interpreters under the civil service regulations.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Now that the board of trade has started on the problem of cleaning up the city and awaking a better spirit in this regard among our people, the committee in charge should not cease agitating until the city provides more receptacles for rubbish in the business district, and insists on public use of them, instead of allowing people to throw litter on the streets as is commonly done at present. This crusade for a general clean up and in favor of the city beautiful is in the right direction and should be encouraged.

Let us hope that the preference of Miss Wilson for blue in selecting her trousseau is no indication of her feelings.

Seen and Heard

This rainy weather is depriving the youngsters of their favorite sport, baseball, for although it is still early in the season many have already exercised their muscles and tested their skill at this great game. Last Saturday the writer was in the vicinity of Walker street, when his attention was attracted to a large field between Columbus avenue and Middlesex street, where two full teams of youngsters, averaging between 11 and 15, were roughing it. The only hitch in the game was the fact that there was no umpire, but nevertheless the game was a lively one. One little chap showed great skill in catching right and left with one hand and on one occasion a very clever double play was made from first to third base. There was a large number of spectators on hand and they enjoyed the game immensely. Cheer up boys, this weather cannot last forever!

The papers lately have been full of items wherein women have been arrested for wearing skirts with slits in them, but so far we have only read of one case where a man was arrested for the same offense. A man, in a city of opportunity, was arrested for carrying a bottle of brew that made him famous in his pistol pocket. The prisoner pleaded guilty, but insisted that he had not violated the law in carrying it. The judge thought otherwise, however, and fined him $5 and costs, giving as his opinion that

45 No. Main St., Passaic, N. J.—"I had eczema which I could not get rid of. It began by pimples and blackheads and then began to itch so I began to scratch and kept on scratching until it formed in scabs and they came to a head. The parts that were affected were my hands, face and neck. I was covered with it. I had to leave my office work for a week and a half. The eczema caused much disfigurement and I could not put my hands into water at all. I could not wash my hands for two weeks. It also caused loss of sleep. "I got some ointment and used one box and it didn't seem to do any good so I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three weeks and then I was cured." (Signed) Miss Beatrice Desautelle, Sept. 17, 1913.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Judge Martin Foran was a good speaker in great demand at political meetings in Cleveland, O. Once, when he had an engagement of this kind he was taken ill and sent his young partner, Newton D. Baker. No one in the audience had ever heard of the stippling. "Pat" McKinney, who presided, when he reached Judge Foran's number, looked pityingly at Mr. Baker.

"Judge Foran is sick and cannot appear," he said. "He sent his boy to speak for him. Come on, boy, and tell 'em what you know."

Of course, the crowd laughed as Mr. Baker tripped forward. But he was entirely self-possessed; he had spoken only a few clear-cut, staccato words when the laughter changed to the raucous attention; and, long before he had finished, says The World's Work, the crowd was just as well pleased that Judge Foran had not appeared. From that moment the "boy" has been one of the most vital elements in the life of Cleveland. He is now the city's mayor.

Old friends every one, and welcome back.—St. Louis Press Despatch.

Security from physical injury and gain are now the right of a husband. That a man may defend himself against the attacks of his wife has been recognized as a right by a court. Whether the doctrine may ever be so far extended as to relieve from mental suffering and anguish, by affording inflexible relief against the wife's "callings" and admonitions as to late hours and the husband's closest associates, can be settled by time only. But some of his rights were laid down by the court of criminal appeals of Texas, in Kelton v. State, 160 Southwestern Reporter, 342. This case arose out of a prosecution for assault. The only evidence for the state was that the wife of accused had asked him for money to visit relatives, and was told that he did not have it, but would have it for her a little later; that she became angry, striking him on the head with a bucket, and biting his shoulder, when he reached down and got a rock and struck back over his shoulder, making a small cut on her head. In reversing a verdict for erroneous instruction the court held that, "While the assault upon a woman usually is aggravated assault, this does not deprive a party of his right of self-defense against an assault. His right to defend himself against the attack of a woman, or against his wife, under these circumstances, would be the same as her right of self-defense against him or against any other person."

LITTLE HOUSES

Great apartments, fine and stately, line the boulevards of tower cities. Sprucely modern, built but lately, perfect from the turret down. They're of marble, pure and snowy: they are things of boastful pride. Like a jewel casket, showy, for the gems that are inside. Ah, but greater pride arouses where, in some still, modest street. Rows and rows of little houses make the name of home more sweet.

Mansions? Yes, we've these a-plenty, with an auto at each door; With their servants, eight or twenty, with great rooms—at least a score.

Ah, but these are chill so often for their women and their men. But the heart must warm and soften if we just look back again To the rows of little houses, tiny houses trim and neat. Standing back from roar and bustle on some little quiet street.

Rows and rows of little houses, and therein a city's pride: On the porch a baby drowses, and there's the joy of love inside. Rows and rows of little houses, just as simple as the nest. That the springtime birds have builded for their loving and their rest. Mansions? Aye, they're very splendid, but there's something very sweet In the rows of little houses on some little quiet street.

"DRY" IN MILITIA

Officers Favor Barring Liquor—Gen. Pearson Commends Action

BOSTON, April 8.—Adjutant General Pearson yesterday commended the decision of National Lancer officers to bar liquor at the troop's 76th anniversary celebration. He also urged other militia organizations to follow suit.

The announcement of the cavalry body created considerable interest in military circles. Sides have been taken on the abstinence question. A number of officers declare that they will propose an anti-liquor crusade in their respective companies.

First Step Toward Drought

It was stated that the action taken by Troop A (National Lancers) is significant of the sentiment that is now being expressed throughout the entire militia, and there are many who believe that it is the first step toward a general order that will prohibit the serving of liquor in camp or at social affairs.

The adjutant-general stated yesterday that it is not necessary to make any sudden or drastic order. "The enlisted men themselves are cutting down the use of liquor of their own accord," he said. "I will leave the question of buying liquor in camp to the individual organizations."

One thing is certain, however, that employers and parents of enlisted men are getting over the idea that the militia is an organization of benefit to brewers and distillers. Formerly the summer maneuvers or camp used to be an annual drunk. Every private would contribute from three to five dollars for the "booze" chest. It cost officers as much as $15 for liquor during the one week's campaign. It used to be a serious question, but in the past few years the sentiments of the men themselves have changed so that I do not regard it as a problem today. I have advocated a moving camp during the summer maneuvers. My most serious objection to a stationary camp is the temptation for men to bring liquor into their tents

GALLIVAN WINS

Elected to Seat in Congress Left Vacant by Mayor Curley

BOSTON, April 8.—James A. Gallivan, democrat, was yesterday elected to congress from the 12th district, to fill the unexpired term of Mayor James M. Curley, resigned. The democratic candidate received a majority vote in a triangular contest. The vote was Gallivan, 5708; Frank L. Brier, republican, 2973; James B. Connolly, progressive, 2532.

The result marked the return of the republicans to second place in the district, the progressive candidate having finished second two years ago. The vote at that time was: Curley, (Dem.) 14,875; Connolly, (Prog.) 9001; Robinson, (Rep.) 5812.

Largely because of bad weather, the total vote today was but little more than half that cast at the last previous election. Congressman-elect Gallivan, who resigned the street commissioner's

Beware of ointments offered as "just as good as Resinol"

If you have any skin trouble, you want Resinol. You want it because you have known about it for years, because your friends and neighbors have used it successfully, and because you know that physicians have prescribed it for nineteen years in the treatment of eczema, rashes, ringworm, pimples and other distressing eruptions.

You do not want a "substitute" or something that a dealer tells you is "just as good as Resinol." You do not want it because you know nothing of its value. It has nobody's endorsement and for all you can tell it never did anyone any good at all. If a dealer tries to force a "substitute" on you, it is for a very good reason of his own—read about it in the next column.

Most druggists sell Resinol gladly. Small for 50c, large for $1. Resinol Soap 25c per cake. For trial use free, write to Dept. 46-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

This is why they do it

When a clerk tries to make you take a "substitute" for Resinol, or any other standard article, don't blame him, blame his employer. The clerk probably would rather sell you the genuine Resinol, because he knows even better than you that doctors prescribe it and that it does less skin trouble. Also it is easier to give you what you want than to argue you into buying something you DON'T want.

But because some cheap-made imitation pays a few cents more profit, an unscrupulous dealer here and there gives his clerk a commission if they can force you to buy instead of real Resinol. However, look the fact that this imitation may do you more harm than good or perhaps it may not, as you can't tell. Almost every town has its "substitute" man. Look out for him.

SERVED WITH SUBPOENA

VICE PRESIDENT OF NEW HAVEN
ROAD SUMMONED TO WASH-INGTON

NEW HAVEN, April 7.—H. M. Kochersperger, a vice president of the New Haven road, in charge of its finances and accounts, was served with a subpoena today to appear with other railroad officers and local bankers before the interstate commerce commission at Washington on Friday next to give information concerning the Billard company which bought stockholdings of the New Haven company in the Boston & Maine railroad. The subpoena appears to be broader in its scope than others which have been served here in that it commands Mr. Kochersperger to produce books and accounts of the Billard company, the New England Securities Co., which held trolley properties in Massachusetts, the New England Navigation Co., which holds marine properties of the New Haven company and also books and accounts of the New Haven road itself. Mr. Kochersperger has been granted leave of absence as vice president until July 1 when his resignation becomes effective.

HELD FOR DOUBLE MURDER

GEORGE LEFAVE ARRIGNED ON CHARGE OF KILLING PEARL
FROST AND WALTER H. HILL

PEARBODY, April 7.—After brief testimony by physicians and police before Judge Hall in police court today George LeFave, charged with the murder of Pearl Frost and Walter H. Hill on Friday was held without bail for the grand jury, which will meet in Salem Monday. The witnesses were those who were present when LeFave was overpowered and arrested by Police Officer Wiggins and Dr. Stucker, who performed the autopsies.

Several were questioned regarding LeFave's apparent mental condition especially as to whether he had been using liquor. A. F. Reed stated that LeFave admitted having had two drinks before the shooting.

Attorneys retained by the defense observed the prisoner during the hearing.

The shooting occurred at the home of Walter P. Hills where Miss Frost was employed as a housekeeper. LeFave called on the young woman as she quavered, the shooting followed. Hills, hearing the firing, rushed into the room and was shot.

A CHANGE IN FIRM

SIMMONS BROS. ARE NOW IN PART-NERSHIP WITH THEIR UNCLE, R.
O. ADAMS

Two of Lowell's best known and most popular young business men, Herbert A. Simmons and his brother, Warren H. Simmons, have recently bought out an interest in the undertaking and embalming establishment of J. B. Currier Co. in Prescott street and the firm's place of business has undergone a complete remodeling. The Simmons Bros. will now be associated in business with their uncle, R. O. Adams, who has been connected with the firm for many years.

Undertakers Currier Co. now offer to the public one of the most complete undertaking and embalming apparatus in New England. Not the slightest detail has been neglected in an attempt to place before the bereaved relatives and friends a full list of everything that the sad duties of the profession call for.

Not the least part of the remodeling of Undertakers J. B. Currier Co.'s Prescott street apartments is their new chapel. This is one of the most elegantly furnished and equipped of its kind anywhere and is totally isolated from the rest of the building. The new morgue is also worthy of note for in this as well the same idea of somber grandeur is carried out.

In the addition of the Simmons brothers to the firm, the J. B. Currier Co. has procured two young men who are well read and thoroughly trained in the more modern branches of the science of embalming as well as being wholly capable funeral directors.

Mrs. Herbert Simmons is a graduate of the Barnes School of Anatomy, Embalming and Sanitary Science of New York and is also a post-graduate of the New England Institute of Anatomy of Boston. He is a registered embalmer in New Hampshire as well as Massachusetts. Mr. Warren Simmons completed his scientific studies at the New England Institute of Anatomy and Sanitary Science of Boston. Both of the new partners were educated in the public schools of Lowell before taking up their studies for the profession which they will fillze at the apartments of Undertakers J. B. Currier Co. at 58 Pres at street.

SOUTH AND WESTMr. J. H. Johnson of Andover St.
Tells of His Trip South and West—Attended Bull Fight in Mexico

Mr. John H. Johnson, of the firm of Thomas W. Johnson Co., builders, and his mother, Mrs. Thomas W. Johnson, both of Andover street, have returned from a very pleasant trip across the continent, the trip having been undertaken for the benefit of Mr. Johnson's health. The young man, who is now the picture of health, reports a very fine trip and he says the journey down south and west did him a lot of good. The travelers were gone about three months and they went south as far as Juarez, Mexico, and as far west as Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Kirby Family

In California the tourists met several former Lowell people, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Kirby, who are now conducting a large apartment house. They report success and they said they would not want to return to Lowell. Mrs. Kennett, who is also in California, as well as a cousin of Mrs. Johnson, a Mrs. Scott, and Mr. A. Jones, a former wood dealer of this city.

The couple left Lowell on Jan. 15, went to New York and boarded a steamship for New Orleans, where they stopped for a day. Mr. Johnson reports that although New Orleans is a lively city on account of its large exportation of cotton, it is very old and not up to the standard as far as hygienic conditions are concerned. The population there is mostly negroes, although there are many French and Spaniards. It is a great railroad center and a fine seaport, but its buildings are old, while the streets are narrow and not too clean. There is an old cemetery known as St. Louis cemetery in New Orleans, where the dead are buried above the ground, this being on account of the dampness of the ground. The scene of this graveyard is most picturesque.

On Mexican Border

From New Orleans the travelers went to El Paso, Tex., just this side of the Mexican line. Mrs. Johnson remained there while her son went to Fort Bliss, a distance of about five miles, where about 5000 Mexican refugees are being kept under the care of Uncle Sam. These refugees consist of women and children who followed the army as far as Juarez, which was later captured by Villa and his army, and in order to avoid massacre they crossed the river to Fort Bliss, where they are held by the U. S. soldiers. They have their own tents and they are enclosed in a large field surrounded by barbed wires. The U. S. government supplies them with food and provisions and they are given the best of care. From Fort Bliss Mr. Johnson crossed over to Juarez, Mexico, a five-cent ride on the electric cars, and there he said it was florid. This was on a Sunday and all the gambling joints as well as saloons were wide open and a tremendous business was going on.

Mr. Johnson said: "I had heard a lot about bull fighting, but had never seen one, and while in Juarez I was given the opportunity to see a real one and I

A paving loan for $105,000 or thereabouts, will be introduced at the meeting of the municipal council to be held tomorrow forenoon. It is estimated that most of this money will be required to pave Westford and Gorham streets. Commissioner Morse will also ask for about $5000 for sidewalks.

Commissioner Morse is not the only one who avers that Lowell's sidewalks are in a rather disgraceful condition. Very little money has been expended on sidewalks within the last few years and the number of claims for personal injury due to bad sidewalks have grown out of all proportion. City Solicitor Hennessey knows a little something about sidewalks and he allows that if they were properly attended to the city would be a big saver in the end.

Commissioner Morse stated today that he would introduce the paving loan tomorrow because he wants to start the paving work as soon as possible. "I am not sure," said Mr. Morse, "that the council will give me the money, but the paving must be done and I consider Westford and Gorham streets the two biggest jobs that have started the street department in the face for a good many years. I want to have everything ready so that just as soon as the weather breaks right I can start paving. That is why I decided to introduce the paving order tomorrow."

Making the Connections

The water department has about 20 men working in Westford street making connections with the new main in order to get out of the way before the paving work is started. Mr. Morse made sure that all of the abutters would be properly notified. Mr. Morse, this morning instructed the engineers' office to notify all of the abutters in Westford street from Chelmsford street to School street that it would be necessary to make all connections before the paving work was begun. The abutters in Gorham street, from Davis square to the Fair grounds, will also be apprised, officially, of the fact that any connections in that street will have to be made before the pavers start in. This is done in order to obviate the necessity of digging up the street just after it has been newly paved.

Re-cutters Are Advanced
It was stated, inadvertently, yesterday that the pavers employed by the street department had demanded and had received an advance of 10 cents a day. This statement appeared in an interview with Mr. Morse, and he asked to have it corrected today. "I may have said pavers, but I meant re-cutters, the men employed in re-cutting the granite paving blocks," said Mr. Morse, and he added that the pavers are receiving the same wages as heretofore.

The Water Department

Besides the work now in progress in Westford street, including service connections already alluded to, the water department is connecting street hydrants and side streets with the new main in Westford street. The department is also laying about 250 feet of pipe in Daniels street, off Andover street. About 15 men are employed on this job and the connections are being made for new buildings. An abutter in Daniels street is completing the connection with the 20-inch main in Adams street, Liberty square, and houses in that vicinity have been without water off and on within the last few days.

Spring Building Begun

The spring building boom is on and the office of inspector of buildings at city hall is a busy one. Applications for building permits are pouring in and Clerk Roarkie is one of the busiest men in the big building.

The following permits were issued during the forenoon today:

Peter Gielakiewicz, 123 Lakeview avenue, enlarging cottage house and making general alterations thereto.

Estimated cost, $600.

Chas. Elie, dwelling, Riverside avenue, lots 67-68-69. The size of dwelling is 20 by 20 feet, one and one-half stories and the estimated cost is $500.

James W. H. Walton, dwelling, corner of Orleans street and Osgood avenue, 27 by 32 feet, eight rooms, pantry and bath, two and one-half stories.

Estimated cost, $2000.

Annie J. Devine, dwelling, 24 by 29 feet, 128 Carlisle street. The building will be one story high and the estimated cost is $1500.

Christina M. Moir, changing barn to dwellings at 77 Hampshire street. The barn will be made into a five room cottage and the estimated cost of the change is $1000.

Joseph Thibault will build a six tenement house at 215 Cheover street. The building will be 30 by 65 feet, three stories, and the estimated cost is $3000.

The United States Bunting Cricket and Athletic association has received a permit to erect bleachers on their grounds in South Lowell. The bleachers will be erected at either end of the oval and will be 12 by 32 feet, eight tiers.

Mr. Foye on Deck

Purchasing Agent Foye was at his desk at city hall this morning after an absence of several days, due to sickness. Mr. Foye found considerable work awaiting him upon his return and the following bids on 14,000 feet of lumber for the street department were opened at 11 o'clock: Pratt & Forest, $245; Burnham & Davis, $346; 50; Adams Pratt Co., $260.50. Davis & Sargent sent in a bid, with two weeks to fill and as part of the lumber must be delivered at once the bid was not considered. Part of the lumber is for the Plain street bridge and Commissioner Morse gave notice that the lumber would have to be on the spot within two or three days.

Suffered Paralytic Shock at His Hotel in Greenville, S. C., Today —Family Summoned

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 7.—Former Governor Eben S. Draper of Massachusetts suffered a paralytic shock at his hotel here this morning. Mr. Draper was stricken in his room shortly before nine o'clock this morning. Members of his family have been summoned by telegraph.

Mr. Draper was accompanied by J. D. Cloudman of Atlanta and was talking to him when stricken. Physicians were hastily summoned and they found his entire left side paralyzed.

RETURNING FROM CURA
HOPEDALE, April 7.—Former Governor Draper, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at Greenville, S. C., was returning to his home here after a visit to Cuba and the south. He was considered to be in fairly good health when he left here six weeks ago, though intimate friends were aware of the effects of the affliction which he sustained in the death of Mrs. Draper last fall.

The former governor is 55 years old. He retired from public life in January, 1911, when he was defeated for a third term by Eugene N. Foss. When S. Draper, Jr., returned recently from an extended trip to the Arctic regions, Ericson H. Draper is another son and Mrs. Thomas H. Gannett is a daughter of the former governor.

FOUR LOCAL MEN APPOINTED AS SUBSTITUTE LETTER CARRIERS
THIS FORENOON

Postmaster Robert B. Crowley announced this morning that four substitute carriers have been appointed from the list of those who have passed the civil service examination and are eligible for the positions. The names of the young men were at the top of the list and will substitute at the postboxes when carriers are sick or obliged to be away from their work. The young men appointed are:

BILLERICA

The first regular meeting of the newly elected board of selectmen at Billerica was held in the town hall last evening with Chairman Sanford presiding. A large number of bills that had accumulated since the regular meeting on Feb. 15 were approved and considerable other business of a routine nature was transacted. No attempt was made to appoint any of the town officers and this probably will not be taken up until the last week of the month. At a late hour the board adjourned until Wednesday evening, when a special meeting will be held.

WINTER WHEAT ENDS HIS LIFE BY GAS

Crop Report Issued To-day Shows Interesting Figures

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The average condition of winter wheat on April 1 was 95.5 per cent. of a normal compared with 91.5 last year, 90.5 in 1912 and 85.7 the ten year average, the department of agriculture reported today. There was a decline in condition from Dec. 1, 1913, to April 1 of 1.6 points as compared with an average decline in the past ten years of 2.3 points between these dates. The average of rye on April 1 was 91.2 per cent. of a normal, against 89.3 last year, 87.5 in 1912 and 82.2, the average condition for the past ten years. Comparisons for rye in New England states follow:

IN SUPERIOR COURT

CASE AGAINST BAY STATE STREET RAILROAD ON TRIAL TODAY—FIRST CASE OF SESSION

The first case of the April sitting of the civil superior court was opened this forenoon before Judge Sanderson and a jury. The suit was brought by Nils Nilson, a Stoneham farmer, against the Bay State Street railway to recover for damages alleged to have been sustained in an accident on October 24, 1913. Immediately after the case was called the jury was sent out to view the scene of the accident and court was ordered adjourned until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow forenoon. In this case the plaintiff claims the tracks of the defendant corporation are located on Main street, Stoneham, in front of his farm and are between the main thoroughfare of the roadway of Main street and the driveway leading to the plaintiff's house, so that it is necessary to cross said tracks in going from his farm to Main street. The plaintiff is claiming, while the plaintiff was driving his wagon from his premises to Main street and while exercising due care, a car of the defendant corporation ran into the rear of said wagon, crushing the wagon and injuring the plaintiff, who was thrown out with great violence and severely injured. The ad damnum is placed at $5000. The plaintiff is represented by Edward and Jordan while Trull and Wier appeared for the defense.

MURDER OF MARY PHAGAN

DETECTIVE BURNS SAID TODAY THE RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION TO BE ANNOUNCED THIS WEEK

ATLANTA, Ga., April 7.—Detective W. J. Burns said today that results of his investigation into the murder of Mary Phagan probably would not be reported until late this week. Burns, who has been at work on the case for nearly a month at the instance of friends of Frank, said that only a few minor points had to be cleared up.

FUNERALS

CROWNE.—The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Hollar Crowne took place this morning from her home at 162 Oak avenue, Napa, Mass. A funeral service was celebrated at St. Andrew's church, Napa, Mass. Deceased leaves a husband, a mother, eight children and four sisters, among them Mrs. Dennis J. Devine of North Billerica.

McNAMARA.—The funeral of the late Mrs. James F. O'Donnell & Sons and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence Tighe, O. M. I. The bearers were David Welch, Edmund O. Flynn, Richard and James Hackett. At the grave Rev. Owen McGuire, O. M. I., read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

PANAMA CANAL TOLLS

15 Days of Public Hearings Beginning April 9 on Sims Bill Decided Upon by Senate

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Fifteen days of public hearings beginning on April 9 on the Sims bill to repeal the Panama tolls exemption were decided upon today by the senate canal committee.

Administration supporters pressing for a minimum of delay in getting the bill out of committee professed to be satisfied with the plan for 15 days of hearings, provided added time was not reserved for consideration of the bill after the hearings are over. The hearings will give opportunity to the Senate to consider various amendments, principal among them one to reaffirm the sovereignty of the United States over the canal zone and its right to alter the tolls to grant an exemption to coastwise ships if it desired to do so.

Senator Works, republican, of California, made a lengthy speech analyzing the treaty obligations of the United States.

"The granting of this exemption is a purely democratic matter," said he. "There could be no discrimination against Great Britain because no foreign nation can enter into the coastwise trade. Some of our own representatives have out-bid the British in their claims for that nation."

Senator Brandegee, republican, cast the only vote against the hearings. He said he did so because he believed the committee action would have weight. He urged that the repeal bill be returned to the senate without any report and that the fight be transferred to the floor.

FUNERAL NOTICES

G.A.R. ELECTIONS

Woods Elected Commander—Annual Banquet Held Today

BOSTON, April 25.—The Massachusetts G. A. R. for the first time in 16 years, yesterday turned down the candidacy of a senior vice-commander for department commander and elected the junior vice-commander over his head. Former Mayor John M. Woods, of Somerville, who had been the junior vice-commander, was elected department commander, defeating Colonel Edward G. Skelton of Dorchester. The election came at the close of the day's convention and followed a warm debate. Five hundred and eighty-seven votes were cast, and Colonel Skelton received 177 and the other 410 went for Mr. Woods.

It had been rumored prior to the convention yesterday that there was an active movement to defeat Colonel Skelton. The presence of nearly 600 delegates at Fenwick Hall when the convention was opened by Department Commander Thomas J. Ames signified that something was in the air, as the number was larger than it has been for several years.

At the conclusion of the election Mr. Woods, who was inducted into office yesterday morning when the convention resumed at Fenwick Hall, made a speech of acceptance. Rumors were about that the defeat of Colonel Skelton was because he had declared he would appoint a new assistant adjutant-general in place of Wilfred A. Wetherbee.

The other officers elected were Alfred H. Knowles of Post 26, Arlington, senior vice-commander; Francis E. Mole of George F. Sayles Post 126, Adams, junior vice-commander; Dr. John Gilbert of Fall River, Post 46, surgeon; and the Rev. John W. Adams of Post 100, Methuen, chaplain.

The annual banquet of the veterans is to be held today at Ford hall, and seats have been reserved for 500. Commander-in-chief, Washington Gardner of Methuen, who spoke to the veterans at the meeting yesterday, is expected to be a special guest at the banquet today.

Department Commander Ames in his address told the comrades that during the year past 618 veterans had died and he asked that the members read the report of the adjutant-general. He also urged the veterans to increase their membership by persuading men who do not belong to posts and who fought in the Civil war, to join.

PREMIER ASQUITH

Reelected Unopposed by His Constituency He Resumes the Leadership of His Party in Parliament

LONDON, April 8.—Premier Asquith again became a member of the house of commons today when he was returned unopposed by his old constituency of East Fife, Scotland. At noon as no other candidates had put in an appearance the returning officer of the constituency declared Herbert Henry Asquith duly elected once more for the constituency he has represented in the lower house since 1886.

An interesting coincidence in connection with Mr. Asquith's return is that today is the sixth anniversary of his assumption of the premiership.

HANGED SIDE BY SIDE

Jacob Theis, 79, and His Wife, 78, Committed Suicide at Home of Grandson in New York

NEW YORK, April 8.—Despondent because they believed they were a burden to their grandchildren, Jacob Theis, 79 years old, and his wife, Elizabeth, 78, committed suicide today by hanging themselves in the apartment of their grandson, George, in First avenue.

The old couple made careful preparations for their death.

Apparently the old man, helped his wife adjust the noose around her neck. Then he assisted her to the window sill over which the rope was fastened. When she had stepped off to her death, he slashed his wrists and then hanged himself beside her. Hanging side by side they were found by the janitor.

TOWN OF DRACUT

The selectmen of Dracut have made the appointments of police officers for the coming year and there has been but one change, this being on account of one of the police officers being elected to the board of selectmen at the past town meeting. The newcomer is Clinton Coffin of the Centre district, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by Victor Cluff, now a member of the board.

Two old-timers, William Cullinan of the Collinsville district, and Charles A. Fore of the Kenwood district have been reappointed and their many friends will be pleased to hear the good news, for they are both valuable officers for the town and they are held in the highest esteem by their fellow citizens.

It was stated that there was a lively contest for Officer Fore's position, as other members of the Kenwood community were out strong for the job, but the officer's record is all and the selectmen could not see their way clear to remove such a brave officer, especially after the clever arrest of Sweeney, the alleged murderer of his wife.

The whole list of appointments is as follows:

Collinsville: William Cullinan, Harry Yards, Arthur Garland, Centre: Clinton Coffin and Peter Goyette.
Kenwood: Charles A. Fore.

One of the selectmen in conversation with the writer this afternoon stated that in a few weeks three more officers will be appointed for the summer months, one for Collinsville, another for Navy Yard and a third one for Kenwood.

Don't Let Them Fool You, Supt. Welch

There is a very ingenious attempt in certain quarters to mislead the superintendent of police and to deceive the public in connection with the so-called "Seely dinner" by giving the impression that the real question is who was present, or whether a certain official was present on that occasion. That is not the question, Mr. Welch. It is understood that most of those who were present were there innocently. It is no reflection upon anyone to show that he was unwittingly present at the "Seely dinner," nor can the fact of such presence at the show affect anyone's political fortune at this time. The campaign is over and the truth can no longer have any political effect whatever.

The question is not who was present but who was responsible for the whole affair. It is your duty, Mr. Superintendent, to find out who organized the entertainment, who solicited the different gentlemen to attend, who were the promoters, who were the stage managers, what they did during the performance, and what they did after it was over.

There is where the whole responsibility lies and there alone. If you find that this matter comes within the limitation of the statutes, and that there was any unlawful conduct on the part of the promoters before, during or after the performance, it is your duty to report it to the proper authorities in order to satisfy the ends of justice, to punish the real culprits, so as to wipe out the stain on the fair name of our city and to prevent a repetition of anything of the kind in Lowell in the future. It is not a question of gratifying any politician's spite or pulling the political chestnuts of any official out of the fire. The question is, did this exhibition occur as alleged, and if so, when did it occur, and who was responsible for it. Do your duty Supt. Welch. Don't let anyone sidetrack or fool you. Find the facts and take such action as the law demands.

VILLA'S WORD LAW

Graphic Picture of Villa's Successful Campaign Against Torreón—Army Well Behaved—600 Spanish Refugees Arrive at Juarez

EL PASO, Texas, April 8.—"Embroidering the salient facts of the successful constitutional campaign against Torreón are multitudes of incidents hardly less interesting," said the Associated Press correspondents who accompanied General Villa and who reached El Paso Monday night.

"What struck one chiefly during the campaign was the mixture of fear and confidence which Villa's name inspired in his followers," General Villa says he will shoot anybody who cuts the telegraph wires by shooting from the train called out so often to soldiers on top of a troop train who were improving their marksmanship by shooting at the insulators on telegraph poles. Instantly the Villa meant what he said.

"Send this telegram at once," said a newspaper correspondent to a military telegrapher in his field office under a tree near the railroad track. "I can't."

It was announced that probably both Captain Brickett and Studevant would be used in the box today and that the rest of the lineup would be the same as that which faced Cambridge Latin last Saturday.

CITY COUNCIL VOTES
TO BORROW $138,000

Making a Total of About $190,000 Borrowed This Year—Mayor Says He Has Reached His Limit

The municipal council met this forenoon and voted to borrow $138,000 for streets and sidewalks. The total amount borrowed this year amounts to about $190,000 and Mayor Murphy stated at today's meeting that he would not vote to borrow any more money this year unless the demand was a very urgent and a very necessary one.

Warren P. Riordan was elected sealer of weights and measures to succeed the late John William Stott. Mr. Riordan received the votes of all five members of the council.

The city solicitor sent in an opinion relative to police department authority. The opinion was asked for Commissioner Brown at a recent meeting

$8000 for Sidewalks

An order to borrow $8000 for sidewalks, introduced by Commissioner Morse, was read by the mayor. The order was adopted. Commissioner Brown said that some municipalities had a plan whereby the abutter paid his share in advance of the sidewalk work being done and he thought the plan would work well here. Mr. Morse said he would consider the suggestion Mr. Morse said that the old brick sidewalks had gone by and that new sidewalks should be of the granite type.

Steam Roller Repairs

Commissioner Morse asked permission to have the street department steam rollers repaired. The matter had been properly advertised and the council voted Mr. Morse the authority to make the contract, Mr. Brown voting against. The repairs will cost $3700 and will be paid out of Mr. Morse's appropriation.

$100,000 Loan Order

The next business had to do with a $100,000 loan order for "alone block permanent paving." The order was introduced by Mr. Morse and had the emergency clause attached.

Commissioner Donnelly asked what streets were included and the amounts. In reply to this question Mr. Morse said that he had gone over the matter with the city engineer and presented the following figures: Gorham street, $42,500; Westford street, $51,700; Pawtucket street, from Merrimack to Moody street, $7,100; Branch street, from Nichols street to Smith street, $3,400; Thorndike street, from Appleton street to the freight yard, $8,400.

Commissioner Donnelly said that Back Central street, so-called, is in very bad condition from Church street to Charles street and he said he would like to see something done there. Mr. Morse said he would try and do something there but it would be useless for of the council, the commissioner giving as his opinion that the police department should come under the jurisdiction of the council as a whole, rather than under the jurisdiction of the mayor. He thought it was too much power to place in one man's hands. The city solicitor, however, opines that the carrying out of the policies and the execution of the work to be done by the police department must be performed by the mayor.

Mayor Murphy called to order at 11:40 with all members present. The first business had to do with a petition for a pole location in Walker street. The matter was referred to the commissioners on streets and public property and licenses.

A petition for eight pole locations in Epinus street was referred. The petition of Owen McGary to keep gasoline in Amory street was read by the mayor and his honor also read communications from the Scott and Massachusetts bills protesting against the petition. The matter was referred. The petition by the Pitts Auto Supply Co. to keep store and use gasoline in Hurd street, was granted on recommendation of Commissioner Donnelly.

A hearing on a petition for a pole location in Methuen street was set for April 23. Other petitions for pole locations and wire attachments were referred.

Redmond Welsh, superintendent of police, petitioned for a police box in Plain street. The petition was referred.

The application of George A. Willet for license as weigher of coal was granted. The order permitting Martin Mack to keep a lunch wagon in Greene street was adopted, and lunch cart petitions by William Mulcahy and Michael Gray were referred.

MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED

Byron Chandler Sued by His Wife Who Charges Violence and Stinginess

NEW YORK, April 8.—Byron Chandler, the Million-Dollar Kid, did not attend a theatrical performance last night as he intended. Instead, Chandler acted as host of Philip McDonnell and Louis Zeitner, deputy sheriffs,

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The Easiest and Best Way Is to Dissolve It.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The deputy sheriffs made the acquaintance of Chandler through the order of arrest which they served on him at the Hotel McAlpin in a suit for separation which Mrs. Grace L. Chandler, known on the stage as Grace La Rue, brought against him. After Deputy Sheriffs McDonnell and Zeitner placed Chandler under arrest he was unable to obtain the $25,000 bail required, and Sheriff Grifenhagen permitted the prisoner to go to the Waldorf on the assurance of Ruel W. Poor, president of the Garfield national bank, that Chandler's mother in Manchester, N. H., would arrange for the bail today.

Feared "Kid" Would Skip

Chandler arrived here from Europe only a few days ago. It was only two days ago that Mrs. Chandler announced that she was going to sue for a separation and the things that happened in such rapid succession proved that when she says a thing she means it. It required only a few minutes for the attorneys for the wife to get the order of arrest to the sheriff's office after Justice Weeks had issued it.

The actress asked for the arrest of her husband in the proceeding because she feared he would leave the jurisdiction of the court and then there would be no way to enforce an order for alimony which she hopes to get in her separation suit.

The voluminous complaint of Mrs. Chandler is crowded with allegations of cruelty, including a threat to kill her and beatings that her husband administered to her and related about his alleged insubordination and his regard for various other women.

Although the plaintiff refers to the wealth enjoyed by the defendant and his lavish expenditures, she declares that he has been very remiss in the matter of providing her with means of sustaining herself, telling her on one occasion that if she wanted money she had better work for it, which she did, accepting an engagement which Chandler obtained for her in London.

Call's Him Poor Gumbler

Just to show how little the "million dollar kid" thought of money, his wife mentions that he had an auto that cost him $11,000, including the duty to bring it into this country. Then he had another car that cost him $8000, and still another, the value of which Mrs. Chandler did not know. They always lived at the best hotels and in one night's play in France he lost $3000, the actress alleged. In brief, as Mrs. Chandler says, Chandler was known in this country and Europe as "a man of very large means," and yet when he went to Europe in the spring of 1913 to spend a month with his mother he left his wife with only $50, she says.

Getting down to the cruel treatment which the wife declares she suffered at the hands of her husband, she alleges that, beginning in 1911, he became very abusive and frequently threatened to kill her. Mrs. Chandler declares that her husband beat her while they lived at the Hotel Somerset until she required medical treatment. At times he had been drinking heavily. When she protested against his driving one of his automobiles while in that condition, he so it is alleged, drew a revolver from a drawer and threatened to kill his wife.

The latter, frightened by the threat, telephoned to the hotel office and a negro porter was rushed up to their apartment to protect the woman in distress. Chandler ordered him out and hardly had the hotel functionary left the room when the fighting was renewed and was continued until the wife fell from exhaustion.

Mrs. Chandler also mentions that while they were in London, Chandler used to entertain other women in their apartments while she was at the theatre but when she got home he was gone and would not return until 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning.

Had to Wear Sleeves

The cruel treatment of her husband has also made quite a difference to her appearance on the stage. Grace La Rue says, for instance, formerly she appeared in some parts in décolleté gowns, she was compelled to forego them because her shoulders, neck and chest showed scars and discolorations. So she had to have sleeves put into her gowns. Also her nervous system has become much impaired.

Chandler was calm and outwardly undisturbed while he waited in the sheriff's office to get the required $25,000 bond. He remarked that his wife went about her action in the wrong way, that he received his money from his father and his wife had played her part well by causing his arrest, because that would not recommend her to the consideration of his family.

"I had no intention of leaving the city," said Chandler; "all I am interested in right now is getting out of here so that I can go to the theatre tonight, for I have tickets." But the "Million-Dollar Kid" could not get $25,000 bail, and the tickets were not used—by him.

$5000 FOR LOST LOVE

WIFE OF DORCHESTER CONDUCTOR SUES WIFE OF MOTORMAN WHO WORKED ON SAME CAR

BOSTON, April 8.—After failing to win back the love of her husband by promising to go anywhere in the world with him if he would only leave Dorchester, Mrs. Frederick Leighton Gwynn, 2 Paulkner Circle, has brought an alienation suit for $5000 against the wife of her conductor-husband's former motorman, Mrs. John R. Graham, 6 Gibson street, Dorchester.

The suit filed yesterday at the Pemberton square court house, brings to light a matrimonial tangle that centres around the Field's Corner trolley, where both men are stationed. Gwynn is a conductor and Graham is a motorman. Formerly for a long time they were paired together on the same car.

Mrs. Gwynn said last night that she knew positively that Mr. Graham had been keeping company with her husband since March, 1907, practically ever since their marriage, and since a year before the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

After trying for several years to stem the receding tide of her husband's affection, Mrs. Graham, as a last resort, prepared to seek a divorce. A lawyer to whom she had entrusted her case managed to reconcile the two. The wife says she begged her husband to go to Canada with her or to any part of the world. She promised never to make her jealous again and together they spent several months at her home on Prince Edward Island.

Not long after their return matters became as bad as ever. Mrs. Gwynn says, and turned detective. She secured a room across the street from the house occupied by her rival and kept constant watch for several days. It is expected that whatever evidence she secured will make dramatic testimony when it is recited on the witness stand.

THE SIEGEL CASE

Mrs. Eddy-Brown Will Appear to Testify Before Grand Jury

BOSTON, April 8.—Mrs. Diana E. Eddy, who became Mrs. James Salisbury Brown on Saturday last, and for whom District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier and his first assistant, Thomas D. Lavelle, have been conducting a vigorous search, in connection with the affairs of Henry Siegel in this city, will appear before the Suffolk county grand jury next week.

This fact became known last night after a confidential conference between ex-Mayor Henry E. Tiepke of Pawtucket, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Lavelle at the district attorney's office late yesterday. Both refused to tell what happened at the conference, but Lavelle declared he was satisfied that Mrs. Brown would appear next week to testify before the grand jury.

It was intimated last night that ex-Mayor Tiepke had received a letter from his clients telling him that if he could make satisfactory arrangements with the Suffolk county district attorney, Mrs. Brown would accept service on the special summons.

Tiepke called Lavelle on the long-distance telephone and announced his intention of coming to this city. It was late in the afternoon when he quietly walked into the office and asked for Mr. Lavelle. He was ushered into the private office without the attaches being aware of his identity.

Just what day Mrs. Brown will appear before the grand jury will not be determined until today, when District Attorney Pelletier will be at his desk. He completed his conference last night with District Attorney Whitman in New York regarding the Siegel affairs

Today Assistant District Attorney Lavelle will report to him of the final locating of Mrs. Brown and her husband. The town in which the couple are spending their honeymoon is not known. This information Attorney Tiepke refused to make public.

HOME RULE BILL PASSED

The home rule bill has been read a second time in the third year stage of its passage over the veto of the peers. In the British Isles when a bill is passed for the second time the people regard it as beyond the possibility of defeat. When the great measure of Catholic emancipation, the disestablishment of the English church in Ireland and the land act of 1903 passed their second reading, nobody paid much attention to the third reading which was regarded as a mere formality. So it is in the present case, the home rule bill is passed, the victory is won and not all the Ulster shouters nor the O'Brien-Healey traitors can avail to prevent it becoming law.

The question, however, is, will it pass unchanged or will the Ulsterites decide to accept the offered concessions? That matter is yet uncertain; but there is yet a possibility that the Ulsterites will accept the offered concessions granting them the privilege of local option on home rule for a term of six years. The question on the ballot for each county would be something like this:

"Shall this county come under the operation of the home rule for Ireland act for a period of six years?"

As the Irish parliament will not be opened until 1915, it is quite likely that every county in Ulster would vote in favor of local self-government. It is a mistake to say that Ulster is divided on religious lines on this question. A very considerable proportion of the Protestants of Ulster are in favor of home rule and these with the Catholics would make a majority in favor of the new law. The only possible exception is Antrim, in which Belfast is located; but one county could not remain outside as its business would be ruined by lack of co-operation by the rest of Ireland. Hence it is quite immaterial whether the bill passes with or without the offered concessions as the latter mean nothing permanent and would only supply the Ulsterites a means of backing down gracefully. Expecting to extort more from the government they ask that John Redmond be eliminated from the negotiations as he vetoes every request they make. But Redmond in this case represents Ireland and he will stand firm as a rock against any move that would cause a division of the Irish nation. As for the O'Brien-Healey gang, if by their abstention from voting they had defeated or even jeopardized the bill, they might never show their faces in Ireland. They would be mobbed and banished or slain. The people can tolerate and even respect the opposition of an avowed opponent like Sir Edward Carson, but pretended friends playing the role of traitors such as O'Brien and Healey, never!

Through all this crisis the patience and self-restraint of Mr. Redmond and his party in parliament have been marvelous, but not a whit more so than the calm and imperturbable serenity of the Irish nationalists, particularly in Ulster where the provocation to resentment and counter attacks has been the greatest that human ingenuity could invent. The home rule bill in all probability will pass into law without change within the next eight weeks and it will take an entire year to convince the Irish people at home and abroad that through the superb leadership of Hon. John E. Redmond backed by his parliamentary party and practically the whole Irish race the dream of centuries has become an indestructible reality.

UNDERWOOD'S VICTORY

Oscar W. Underwood, majority leader of the national house of representatives, did not have to do much fighting to beat Richmond P. Hobson in the race for United States senatorship of Alabama, and though he personally deserves the honor there are many involved issues that make his triumph unusually significant. More than any other man in national politics, with the possible exception of President Wilson, Mr. Underwood was responsible for the framing of the tariff bill of the administration and for its successful passage through the house, and though it may be far fetched to regard his election as a tariff vindication, it is certain that he will be defeated by Hobson, his failure would be quite generally attributed to the effects of the tariff revision on the popular mind. Mr. Underwood may not have been elected by such a large majority merely on the tariff issue, but his tariff reputation did not apparently injure him. In this one respect his success is a triumph for democracy in general and for the administration in particular.

Mr. Underwood is one of the most notable men in Washington who has taken issue with the president on the tariff revision question and it is gratifying to find that no party holds him in less esteem for his attitude which is undoubtedly sincere. Though the tariff matter is not a strictly party consideration, some of the more important democrats were not held to be altogether disinterested in their stand against the administration, but in the shadow of doubt rested on the name of Mr. Underwood except in a few cases where the wish was father to the thought. Were one of the great democratic reforms to be introduced in congress tomorrow there is not a man on whom the president could depend more readily and more wholly than on Mr. Underwood. It is folly to suppose that his attitude on the tariff problem affected his campaign either favorably or unfavorably. Hobson is a lightweight who has been equivocating about the country since the Spanish-American war striking for a greater navy. The dignity of the senate would be greatly lowered by the membership of such a man as Hobson in spite of the fact that he did risk his life in a brave deed at Santiago harbor in blowing up the Merrimack.

SPEAKER SCORES HOUSE

Speaker Grafton D. Cushing very forcibly reminded the Massachusetts house of representatives on Monday that it is a serious body appointed to transact serious public business and he mentioned some trivial activities of recent date to prove that this fact is sometimes forgotten by those interested. Without losing his temper he struck out from the shoulder and warned the members of the house that unless they introduce speedy reform in their methods of attending to state affairs they will be regarded as the most hopelessly inefficient legislative body of recent years—a truly awful outlook. Little wonder that immediately afterwards the legislature put aside trivial bills, useless debates and obstruction tactics and made a day's record for sensible public service.

When the reports of legislative happenings are so often of a nature calculated to try public patience, it is not strange that the absence of a sense of duty and the silly tactics so frequently displayed in the legislature should bring the speaker to his feet in occasional protest. Unfortunately many representatives got an exaggerated sense of their own importance the day after election and they will introduce nonsensical bills with all the gravity of a Webster or a Disraeli and make political mountains out of every ant hill. From long abuse we have grown accustomed to look for this style of thing in the deliberations of municipal boards, but we expect a slightly higher standard in the state legislature. If the senators and representatives who have nothing to say would refrain from saying it, a "scold" from the speaker would not be necessary and public patience would not be so often tried by the press reports—which are anything but flattering to our actions.

FIRES AND FINES

In his annual report, just published, former Fire Commissioner Cole of Boston makes the novel suggestion that they who are responsible for preventable fires be considered guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined accordingly. He specifically mentions as deserving of punishment the owners of property with defective chimneys. Most of his other suggestions are in line with those usually adopted by progressive cities such as the adoption of stringent regulations with regard to building, the elimination of wooden roofs, the creation of special zones in the business districts, certain restrictions of space and construction in building, and many other things that relate more particularly to the fire department of Boston. His suggestion with regard to fining those responsible for preventable fires seems impracticable, but it emphasizes the fact that fire is no longer considered a private affair but is something in which all the citizens are or should be interested. He who causes a fire through negligence endangers the property of his neighbor as well as his own and inflicts damage on the city.

SECRETARY DANIELS' ORDER

Opponents of the order of Secretary Daniels regarding the barring of intoxicating liquors from the navy pretend to be horrified at the possible embarrassment of our officers when meeting representatives of foreign powers. Surely there is no embarrassment in an officer's carrying out the instructions of his government. Even though there were, a careful reading of Secretary Daniels' order reveals an anticipation of such an emergency.

Appropos of this subject, it may not be generally known that Mr. Daniels has been for many years opposed to some phases of the liquor traffic, excluding all advertising of alcoholic liquors from the Raleigh newspaper which he owns. In this respect the Raleigh paper follows the policy adopted years ago by The Sun, which is one of the very few newspapers in New England that refuses to print liquor advertisements.

COURT INTERPRETATIONS

One of the points brought out in the recent legislative report on immigration is the inadequacy of the present system of court interpreters and the resultant confusion in achieving the only one thing that counts—justice. To get the genuine truth for the name, LEXATIVE BROMO QUININE. Look for Signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures a Cold in One Day. 25c.

ends of justice. The board found that many of those commonly used as interpreters were so incompetent as to be worse than useless, and it is no exaggeration to say that this state of things has resulted in anything but fair play for the immigrant on trial in some cases. In our local police court, trials are frequently delayed because of the difficulty of getting an interpreter, and when one is found who will assume to say that he is qualified to serve? The obvious remedy is the appointment of official interpreters under the civil service regulations.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Now that the board of trade has started on the problem of cleaning up the city and awaking a better spirit in this regard among our people, the committee in charge should not cease agitating until the city provides more receptacles for rubbish in the business district, and insists on public use of them, instead of allowing people to throw litter on the streets as is commonly done at present. This crusade for a general clean up and, in favor of the city beautiful is in the right direction and should be encouraged.

Let us hope that the preference of Miss Wilson for blue in selecting her trousseau is no indication of her feelings.

Seen and Heard

This rainy weather is depriving the youngsters of their favorite sport, baseball, for although it is still early in the season many have already exercised their muscles and tested their skill at this great game. Last Saturday the writer was in the vicinity of Walker street, when his attention was attracted to a large field between Columbus avenue and Middlesex street, where two full teams of youngsters, averaging between 11 and 15 years, were engaged in a game of baseball. The only hitch in the game was the fact that there was no umpire, but nevertheless the game was a lively one. One little chap showed great skill in catching right and left with one hand and on one occasion a very clever double play was made from first to third base. There was a large number of spectators on hand and they enjoyed the game immensely. Cheer up boys, this weather cannot last forever!

The papers lately have been full of items wherein women have been arrested for wearing skirts with slits in them, but so far we have only read of one case where a man was arrested for the same offense. A man, in a city of opportunity, was arrested for carrying a bottle of brew that made Milwaukee famous in his pistol pocket. The prisoner pleaded guilty, but insisted that he had not violated the law in carrying it. The judge thought otherwise, however, and fined him $5 and costs, giving as his opinion that

Beware of ointments offered as "just as good as Resinol"

If you have any skin trouble, you want Resinol. You want it because you have known about it for years, because your friends and neighbors have used it successfully, and because you know that physicians have prescribed it for nineteen years in the treatment of eczema, rashes, ringworm, pimples and other distressing eruptions.

You do not want a "substitute" or something that a dealer tells you is "just as good as Resinol." You do not want it because you know nothing of its value. It has nobody's endorsement and for all you can tell it never did anyone any good at all. If a dealer tries to force a "substitute" on you, it is for a very good reason of his own—read about it in the next column.

Most druggists sell Resinol gladly. Small jar 50c, large jar $1; Resinol Soap 25c per cake. For trial size free, write to Dept. 48-5, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

ECZEMA SO BAD HAD TO LEAVE WORK

Began by Pimples and Blackheads. Hands, Face and Neck Affected. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

46 No. Main St., Passaic, N. J.—"I had eczema which I could not get rid of. It began by pimples and blackheads and then began to itch so I began to scratch and kept on scratching until it formed in scabs and they came to a head. The parts that were affected were my hands, face and on my neck. I was covered with them. I had to leave my office work for a week and a half. The eczema caused much disfigurement and I could not put my hands into water at all. I could not wash my hands for two weeks. It also caused loss of sleep. I got some ointment and used one box and it didn't seem to do any good so I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three weeks and then I was cured." (Signed) Miss Beatrice Donatella, Sept. 17, 1913.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve purity and beauty of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, dry, scaly and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap (25c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Sample of each mailed free with 22-p. Skin Book. Address Postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

"no man has any business to appear in public with Schlitz in his pants."

Judge Martin Foran was a good speaker in great demand at political meetings in Cleveland, O. Once, when he had an engagement of this kind he was taken ill and sent his young partner, Newton D. Baker. No one in the audience had ever heard of the strapping, "Pat" McKinney, who presided, when he reached Judge Foran's number, looked pityingly at Mr. Baker.

"Judge Foran is sick and cannot appear," he said. "He sent his boy to speak for him. Come on, boy, and tell 'em what you know."

Of course, the crowd laughed as Mr. Baker tripped forward. But he was entirely self-possessed; he had spoken only a few clear-cut, staccato words when the laughter changed to the raucous attention; and, long before he had finished, says The World's Work, the crowd was just as well pleased that Judge Foran had not appeared. From that moment the "boy" has been one of the most vital elements in the life of Cleveland. He is now the city's mayor.

Some old friends greeted us in Champ Clark's speech on the Sims bill. You may recall some of them: "Jot or tittle," "The plain, unvarnished truth," "God forbid," "The jackal press," "That memorable occasion," "Tooth and nail," "The God of our fathers," "The awful horrors of Valley Forge," "The blood-stained heights of Yorktown," "Tell it not in Gath," "Proclaim it not in the streets of Askelon," "Peace with honor," "The Arabian Nights," "Munchehausen," "The fathers," "Our globe-encompassing domain," "I am a democrat," "The shores of the Barbary coast," "Democratic gospel and undeified," "Janus-faced double," "Good Lord, good devil," "All things to all men," "God-fearing patriots," "Come what may," "All things are fair in love or war," "The sliver hoisting," "The unwary voter," "Bait to catch gudgeons," "To live by or to die by," "These obsequious courtiers," "Rubber stamp," "At all hazards," "The most unkindest cut of all," "Old friends every one, and welcome back."—St. Louis Press Dispatch.

Security from physical injury and pain are now the right of a husband. That a man may defend himself against the attacks of his wife has been recognized as a right by a court. Whether the doctrine may ever be so far extended as to relieve from mental suffering and anguish, by affording injunctive relief against the wife's "cailings" and admonitions as to late hours and the husband's closest associates, can be settled by time only. But some of his rights were laid down by the court of criminal appeals of Texas, in Kelton v. State, 159 Southwestern Reporter, 312. This case arose out of a prosecution for assault. The only evidence for the state was that the wife of accused had asked him for money to visit relatives, and was told that he did not have it, but would have it for her a little later; that she became angry, striking him on the head with a bucket, and biting his shoulder, when he reached down and got a rock and struck back over his shoulder, making a small cut on her head. In reversing a verdict for erroneous instruction the court held that, "While the assault upon a woman usually is aggravated assault, it does not deprive a party of his right of self-defense against an assault. His right to defend himself against the attack of a woman, or against his wife, under these circumstances, would be the same as her right of self-defense against him or against any other person."

LITTLE HOUSES

Great apartments, fine and stately, line the boulevards of town. Sprucely modern, built but lately, per feet from the turret down. They're of marble, pure and snowy; they are things of boastful pride. Like a jewel casket, showy, for the gems that are inside. Ah, but these are dwellings where, in some still, modest street, Rows and rows of little houses make the name of home more sweet.

Mansions? Yes, we've those a-plenty, with an auto at each door. With their servants, eight or twenty, with great rooms—at least a score.

Ah, but these are chill so often for their women and their men; But the heart must warm and soften if we just look back again To the rows of little houses, tiny houses trim and neat. Standing back from roar and bustle on some little quiet street.

Rows and rows of little houses, and therein a city's pride: On the porch a baby drowns and there's the joy of love inside. Rows and rows of little houses, just as simple as the nest. That the springtime birds have builded for their loving and their rest. Mansions? Aye, they're very splendid, but there's something very sweet In the rows of little houses on some little quiet street.

"DRY" IN MILITIA

Officers Favor Barring Liquor—Gen. Pearson Commends Action

BOSTON, April 8.—Adjutant General Pearson yesterday commended the decision of National Lancer officers to bar liquor at the troops' 75th anniversary celebration. He also urged other militia organizations to follow suit.

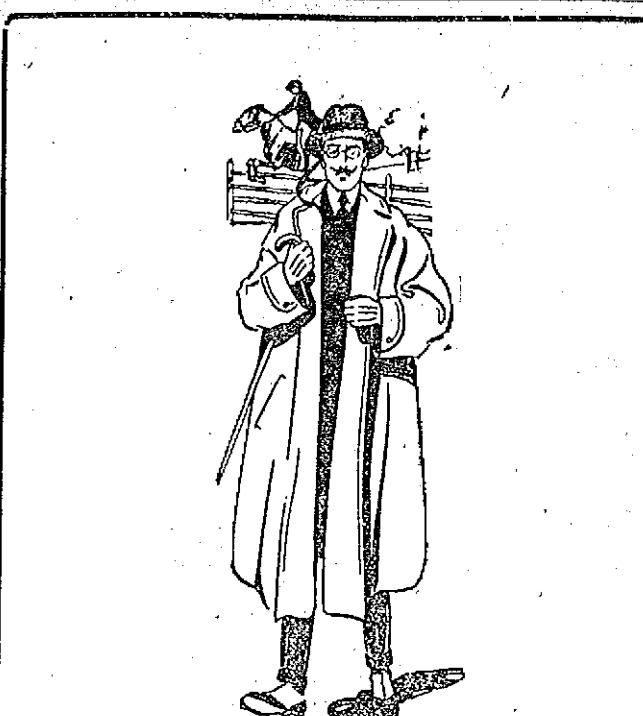

The announcement of the cavalry body created considerable interest in military circles. Sides have been taken on the abstinence question. A number of officers declare that they will propose an anti-liquor crusade in their respective companies.

First Step Toward Drought

It was stated that the action taken by Troop A (National Lancers) is significant of the sentiment that is now being expressed throughout the entire militia, and there are many who believe that it is the first step toward a general order that will prohibit the serving of liquor in camp or at social affairs.

The adjutant-general stated yesterday that it is not necessary to issue any sudden or drastic order. The enlisted men themselves are cutting down the use of liquor of their own accord," he said. "I will leave the question of having liquor in camp to the individual organization."

One thing is certain, however, that employers and parents of enlisted men are getting over the idea that the militia is an organization of benefit to brewers and distillers. Formerly the summer maneuvers of camp used to be an annual drink. Every private would contribute from three to five dollars for the "booze" chest. It cost officers as much as $16 for liquor during the one week's camp. "It used to be a serious question, but in the past few years the sentiments of the men themselves have changed so that I do not regard it as a problem today. I have advocated moving camp during the summer maneuvers. My most serious objection to a stationary camp is the temptation for men to bring liquor into their tents

BOSTON, April 8.—James A. Gallivan, democrat, was yesterday elected to congress from the 12th district, to fill the unexpired term of Mayor James M. Curley, resigned. The democratic candidate received a majority vote in a triangular contest. The vote was Gallivan, 5705; Frank L. Brier, republican, 3973; James B. Connolly, progressive, 3592.

The result marked the return of the republicans to second place in the district, the progressive candidate having finished second two years ago. The vote at that time was: Curley, (Dem.) 14,875; Connolly, (Prog.) 9001; Robinson, (Rep.) 5812. Largely because of bad weather, the total vote today was but little more than half that cast at the last previous election. Congressman-elect Gallivan, who resigned the street commissioner-

VIOLENT MILITANT
ATTACKS MAGISTRATE

LONDON, April 8.—Pandemonium reigned in Marlboro police court today when "General" Flora Drummond, the militant, was brought up again and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or as an alternative go to prison for two months on charges of creating a disturbance in Hyde park during the militant demonstration Saturday. Mrs. Drummond was so violent that three policemen had to pin her and the magistrate found a pause in the uproar to pronounce sentence.

The "general" vehemently declared she would never pay the fine and was then forcibly removed to the cells.

All the time Mrs. Drummond was in court she kept up a fierce struggle with the police and warders and shrieked denunciations of everyone present. Even a sister of the court who was also in court, was also a victim of a verbal outpouring because she did not storm the prisoners' enclosure and rescue the "general."

Seizing a policeman's metal whistle, Mrs. Drummond flung it at the magistrate's face and he was obliged to duck. Taking advantage of the diversion the "general" sprang from the enclosure but was seized before she got far away and was carried back shouting and struggling.

Several policemen were required to assist in dealing with the sturdy militant and they kept firm hold of her until she had been sentenced and then dragged off to the cells.

When Mrs. Drummond had become calmer she was released as either she or some one else had paid her fine.

COURT PROCEEDINGS CALLED OFF BECAUSE MILITANTS CREATED CONFUSION

BELFAST, April 8.—Militant suffragettes created so much confusion and noise in the police court here today when Dorothy Evans and Madge Muir, officials of the Belfast branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, were brought up for trial that the proceedings had to be adjourned.

The two women were charged with having in their possession explosives for the purpose of committing a felony.

The court was crowded with women when the prisoners were brought in and acting apparently on a signal they raised such a din that neither the magistrate nor prosecuting attorney could make himself heard during the uproar. Forty of the ladies were ejected from the court but the noise still kept up and the magistrate finally decided to suspend the sittings.

city solicitor relative to the control of the police department. Com. Brown having asked, at a previous meeting, for an opinion, Mr. Brown giving, as his opinion, that the management of the police department should be by the whole council rather than by the mayor alone, on the ground that it put too much power in one man's hands.

The city solicitor, however, gives as his opinion that in the mayor is vested the power of administration of the police department. The opinion was accepted and placed on file.

Coun. Carmichael asked for and received permission to purchase, through the purchasing agent, a 15-horse power turbine and other material for the water department.

Vote No More Loans

Mayor Murphy said that already $185,000 had been voted in loans this year and he stated that he would not vote for any more loans unless in case of great emergency. Com. Morse said he ought to have more money for sewers but he would try and get along with what has been given him.

Coun. Carmichael said it might be necessary for him to secure a loan for the purpose of chasing out the iron and manganese from the water. It would depend, he said, on the report of the chemists and experts.

HIGHLAND CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Board of Young Men
Put in Charge of the Club

Fred G. Woodworth is President — Summer Program

FRED G. WOODWORTH

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Highland club was held last evening in their spacious rooms on Princeton street with one of the largest gatherings in the history of the organization. In the absence of President Valiant, Vice President Runels presided throughout the evening.

After a palatable dinner, served in the dining room of the club by the D. L. Page company, Vice President Runels called the meeting to order and it was one of the most harmonious of recent years. The first matter to come before the members was the election of officers to serve for the ensuing year and the secretary was instructed to cast one ballot for the following, whose names were presented by the nominating committee: President, Frederick G. Woodworth; vice president, George H. Runels; secretary and treasurer, Orrin H. Webster; directors, William E. Potter, Alexander Strauss, Harry C. Briggs, Roy F. Lovejoy and Frank R. Kenney.

At the meeting it was voted to increase the number of directors from five to seven and the additional two will be chosen by the present board at a later date. For the first time in many years the officers and directors of the club were selected from the younger members of the club and this was one of the features of the meeting.

of a sealer of weights and measures to succeed the late John W. Stott.

Commissioner Donnelly asked the city solicitor for a verbal opinion as to whether the council had the right to elect a sealer of weights and measures or did it rest with the civil service, and the solicitor said it was up to the municipal council to elect.

The motion was put and Warren P. Riordan was elected unanimously, on the first ballot.

The Paint Question

The street department purchased some bridge paint in 1911 and the paint was never used and never paid for. The matter came up at the last meeting of the council and was referred to the mayor and city solicitor for investigation. The mayor brought in a report today signed by himself and the city solicitor.

In part the report was as follows:

"It does appear that the supplies in the officers will get near future and plan program and although has been announced as yet the events will include musical and literary entertainments, summer outings, lawn parties, etc. It is intended to furnish entertainments for ladies and children on Lady days, which are held regularly at the club, although they do not interfere with the program of the members.

After the business was transacted there were remarks by the newly elected officers and all were loudly applauded. Mr. Woodworth, the president-elect, last year served as chairman of the entertainment committee and is one of the most popular members of the club.

amount, but upon the relation of all the facts it does seem that a settlement might be made for an amount equal to the fair market value of the quality and kind of supplies such as are now in controversy; and such amount cannot be made manifest by any facts now at hand, but only after a conference with the sellers with whom the city solicitor will at once communicate."

FUNERALS

MAILLOUX—The funeral of Mrs. Francois Mailloux took place this morning from her home, 5 Melvin street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock, Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D. officiating. The bearers were Joseph Pigeon, Pierre and Joseph Messier, Gedeon Pigeon, Laurent Audette, Alexis Pouthin. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

BERTRAND—The imposing funeral of Mrs. Arthur M. Bertrand, beloved wife of the well known merchant tailor, took place this morning from the home of her brother, Edouard Bourassa, 123 Mt. Washington street and was very largely attended. For deceased counted a host of friends in this city. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock, Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I., officiating, assisted by Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Amund Baron, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. The bearers were Alexandre Doucet, Rodolphe Loupre, George Thancut, Arthur Jodoin, Joseph Yvette and Joseph Pepin. Among the floral offerings were tributes from the following: Mrs. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Bourassa and family, Mr. Bertrand, A. Jodoin, Miss Arsenault, Walter Benin, Dr. and Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. J. V. ## Lt. Gov. O'Hara of Illinois to Study Labor Conditions in the New England Factories

HOSTON, April 8.—Lieut. Gov. Barrett O'Hara of Illinois, chairman of the vice commission of his state, accompanied by his wife, is expected today to apply for a job at a New England factory or mill, so that he can investigate the relation of low wages and commercialized vice.

His wife, who is the daughter of Eliza A. Hoff of Cabery, Ill., one of the foremost living hymn composers, accompanies him here. She is also his campaign manager in his fight for congress. Just where O'Hara will take up his studies is known only to himself and his wife but it was said last night that he might apply for a job in one of the Lowell mills.

LICENSE BOARD HEARING

Charge of Selling to Intoxicated Man Heard—Case Taken Under Advisement

The license commissioners held a hearing in their rooms last evening on a complaint, which was signed by Supt. Redmond Welch, against the firm of John H. Douglass & Co., liquor dealers at 168 Middlesex street, in which it was charged that John H. Moore, an employee of the firm, sold intoxicating liquor to a person while under the influence of liquor on April 2, in violation of the terms of the first class license. Andrew Monahan was named in the complaint as the person who bought the liquor.

The firm of J. H. Douglass & Co. defendant was represented by Attorney James J. Kerwin while Superintendent Welch had charge of the government's case. Mr. Douglass pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Officer Philip D. Murphy of the liquor squad was the first witness called for the prosecution and he testified that he entered the store on Middlesex street on April 2, together with Officer C. W. Sheridan, also a member of the liquor squad. Witness said he immediately discovered a man, who appeared to be intoxicated standing at the bar with a glass of liquor in his hand. Mr. Murphy said that he took the liquor from the man's hand, tasted it and then passed it to Officer Sheridan, who stood just behind him. The bartender, John H. Moore, admitted to the liquor inspector that he sold the contents of the glass to the man standing against the bar but said he did not believe he was drunk. Mr. Douglass, the proprietor, was not in the store at the time, said the witness, and the man alleged to have been intoxicated was taken to the station.

Police Officer Sheridan was then called to the witness stand and told practically the same story as his fellow officer, saying that he believed that the man was drunk. Supt. Welch said that the man admitted being drunk at the time and was released as a first offender.

John H. Douglass was the first witness called for the defense and he said that both employees were familiar with the laws relative to selling liquor, as he had instructed both of them on the matter. Mr. Moore is still employed by him.

John H. Moore, who is said to have greater number of patrons. He spoke plainly and gave no evidence of being intoxicated, said the witness. He had served the same man on previous occasions during the week and noticed no change in his condition.

In his argument, Lawyer Kerwin said that he did not believe the evidence submitted was sufficient to prove the man was intoxicated and the judgment of the police officers was not infallible. He impressed upon the minds of the commissioners the fact that the matter occurred while the defendant was absent from the premises and that the acts of the employee were contrary to the defendant's instructions.

The board took the matter under advisement.

Minor Licenses

At the meeting the license of George Zappas, who conducts a coffee house at 493 Market street, was revoked. Mr. Zappas appeared in police court yesterday morning charged with maintaining a gambling nuisance at his place of business and was fined $50. He appealed.

The application of Nicholas Traflet for a common victualler's license at 355 Suffolk street, was laid upon the table.

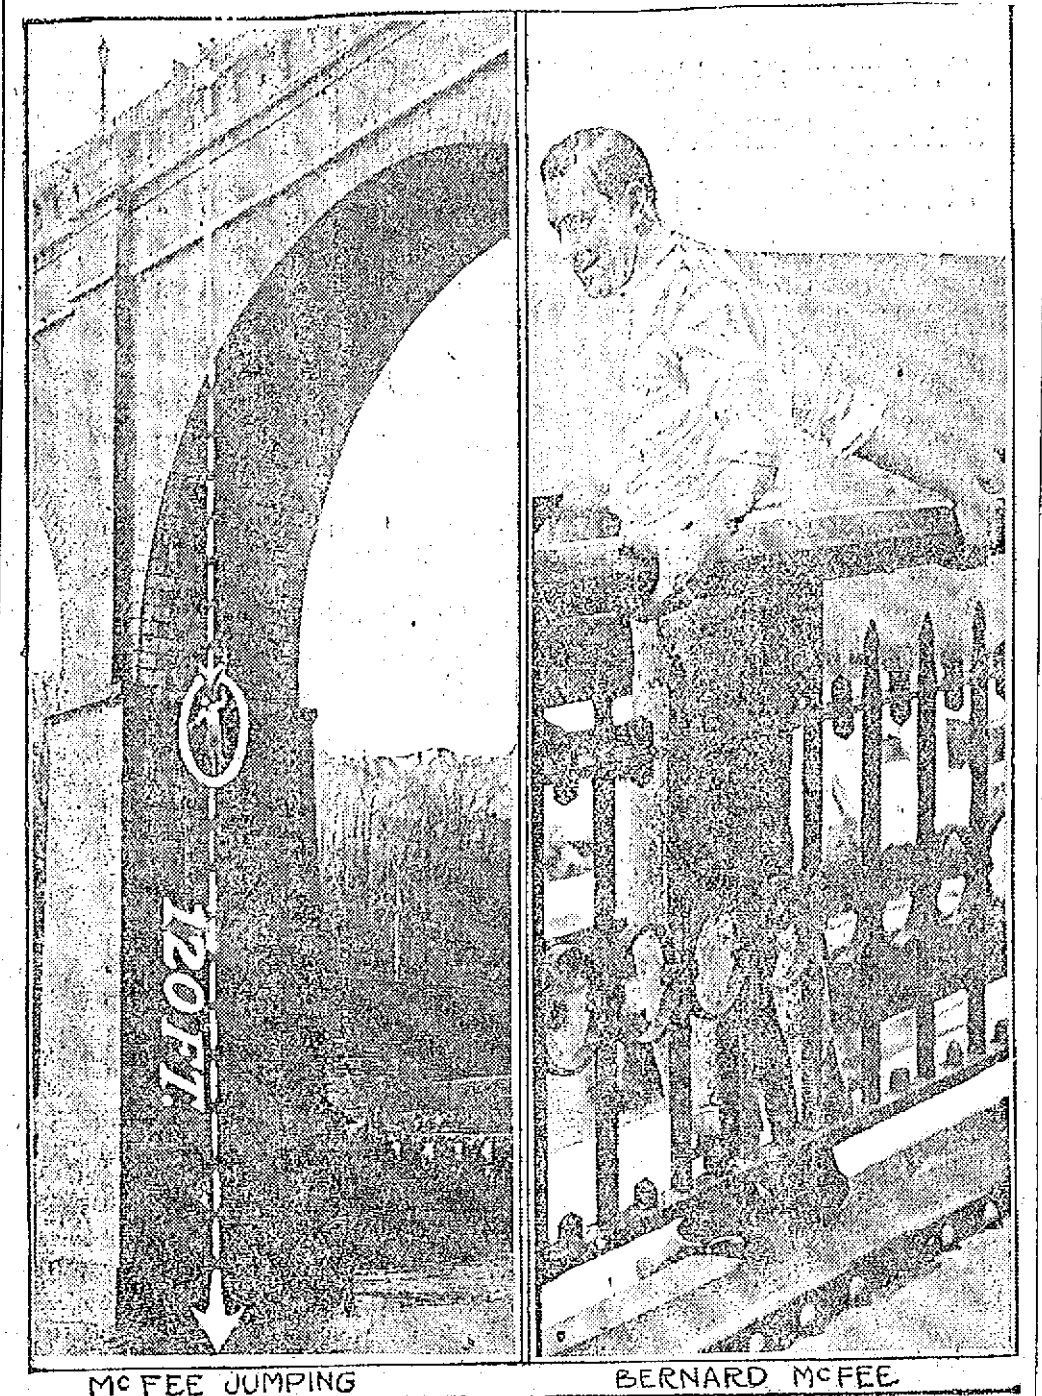

The following licenses were granted:

To take and sell pictures, Owen McNally, 14 Bradley street; hawker and peddler, Angelo Pilato, 137 Gorham street; Mike Williams, 37 Keene street; Smith Bros., 264 Varum avenue; Peckery Bros., 29 Whipple street; and Jeffery Cosette, 40 Sparks street; express, John B. Clancy of 25 Floyd street; Walter E. Sands of 36 West Meadow road; Eugene G. Stoughton of 37 Midland street; Joseph Rondeau of 63 Salem street; McGauvran Bros., 5 Bridge street; Nicholas Demetrakakes, 513 Market street; Dunham Bros., 459 Chelmsford street; and Ernest M. Heffer, 17 West Third street; to sell ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day, Michael F. Welch of 835 Dutton street, and Gordon Brothers of 391 Gorham street; driver's permit, to deliver but not sell intoxicating liquors, Athos Baroutas for James Cahin of Lakeview avenue.

The following licenses were surrendered and cancelled: Common victualler, Edward H. Blood of 20 Prescott street; permit to sell ice cream, etc., on the Lord's day, Eva Koyic of 391 Gorham street.

The board spent the day in the annual tour of inspection of premises where license applications have been made. The sections of the city visited included Worthen, Market, Middle and Central streets, Merrimack square, Belvidere and Centralville.

DAREDEVIL BRIDGE JUMPER M'FEE, WHO FACED DEATH TO WIN A BET

NEW YORK, April 8.—It is not an attempt at suicide to dive 120 feet into the Harlem river from High bridge if you accomplish it, but it is disorderly conduct. Magistrate Krole so held when he suspended sentence on Bernard McFee, a one time college student, who successfully negotiated the feat. On two occasions McFee was prepared for the attempt, but the police frustrated him. Finally he got on the bridge in a motorcar and quickly made the dive. He made a graceful arch as he sped to the water and a small splash when he hit it. He was under the water over a minute. Two men have been killed attempting the feat, and McFee is said to be the first man to make it successfully. When McFee faced the magistrate he said he had intended to fake the jump, but his foot slipped and he had to jump instead of dive. McFee is twenty-six years old and a native of Tarrytown. His agents report that he had defied death to win a bet.

Three of Six Who Robbed Bank Killed and Two Wounded—One Escaped With $1000

PRINCETON, B. C., April 7.—Three of the six bandits who robbed the bank of Canada at New Hazelton yesterday were killed and two were seriously wounded by a posse, the remaining robber escaping to the hills with the booty, about $1000.

As the robbers started for the hills 200 citizens followed, both sides firing as fast as they could work their guns. Just before gaining the shelter of the wood, two of the bandits were killed. The third was killed a little later. The two wounded robbers struggled on for a time but soon surrendered. None of the posse was injured. It is estimated that 1500 shots were exchanged and nearly all the ammunition in the town was exhausted.

COAL SUIT DISMISSED

U. S. COURT DECLARES THERE IS NO LAW AGAINST INTERLOCKING DIRECTORATES

TRENTON, N. J., April 8.—The United States court filed an opinion here yesterday dismissing the suit of the United States government against the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad company and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal company for alleged violation of the commodities clause and the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court holds that there is no United States law or decision prohibiting the same set of individuals holding stock in two distinct corporations, even though they may be engaged in kindred business.

The case is considered of the highest importance by the government, as it is one of the steps planned by the department of justice in its efforts to break up what it alleges to be a monopoly of the anthracite coal trade. The case, which was brought under both the Sherman anti-trust law and the commodities clause of the Hepburn railroad law, in all probability will go direct to the supreme court of the United States.

Yesterday's decision is the second that this court has handed down in a commodities clause case. The first case involved all the anthracite roads and reached the supreme court, which decided that the commodities clause was constitutional, but that a "railroad" might own stock in a bona fide corporation which owned the commodity the railroad is transporting.

U. S. WARNS CARRANZA

To Modify Villa's Expulsion Order Against Spanish Residents—Grave Situation

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Vigorous representations went from the American government yesterday to General Carranza, the constitutional chief, urging that he modify the order of Gen. Villa expelling Spaniards from Torreon.

The United States has undertaken to obtain for Spaniards in Mexico the same protection it affords Americans resident there, and Ambassador Riano has been assured that nothing will be left undone to assure for the Spaniards at Torreon every right to which they are entitled under international law and usage.

Purpose Made Plain

That Spain proposes to exhaust every resource to protect her people in the revolution-torn republic was made plain yesterday when Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico cabled the navy department that the commanding officer of the British cruiser Hermione had been instructed to care for Spaniards at this beleaguered port. Officials here did not comment on this development.

The state department, as well as the Spanish embassy here is embarrassed in dealing with the situation at Torreon by a lack of exact information as to the extent of the decree of expulsion and how far it has been executed. It is understood that Villa, in a public speech, has told the Spaniards of Torreon that they were to be deported en masse; that a commission would be appointed to examine into each individual case and that such of them as could establish the fact that they have rendered no aid to the Mexican cause would be permitted to return to Torreon.

The gravity of the problem has been increased by unofficial but credible information that this policy of expulsion of the Spaniards is to be of general application; that as rapidly as the constitutionalists by force of arms extend their control over such cities as Saltillo and Monterey and other places now within the federal line they intend to drive out the Spaniards and seize their property.

An attempt to carry out such a plan would meet with determined opposition from the United States. Officials say the Spaniards are in Mexico under the provisions of treaty conferring the right of residence, trade and travel, and anything like a sweeping deportation under these circumstances would be in violation of the principles of international law and would form a proper subject of reclamation by the Spanish government, even to the extent of hostile measures if need be.

It also has been pointed out that as Villa's decree involves the confiscation of the property of the Torreon Spaniards, it is wholly illegal; for even conceding the right of expulsion

LOWELL MEN FAVOR FISH AND GAME BILL

Proposed Law Submitted by State Commission is Indorsed—Officers Chosen—The Fishway at Falls Discussed

Two members of the Massachusetts Fish and Game commission, George W. Field, chairman, and William C. Adams, came to Lowell last night and talked matters over with the Lowell Fish and Game association. The third member of the commission, George H. Graham, was sick and unable to come.

It was the annual meeting of the association and the attendance, owing, perhaps, to the unfavorable condition of the weather, though hunters and fishermen are not supposed to mind a little thing like that, was rather slim, but the drift of talk and argument was quite interesting.

At the regular business meeting the following officers were elected: President, Lucius A. Derby; Harry L. Conzales, first vice president; Oswald Otter, second vice president; William P. McCarthy, secretary; Simon B. Harris, treasurer; H. A. Henry, J. C. Cooper, Willis S. Holt, Henry Burbach, Chas. E. Blaisdell and George F. Orr, directors.

The most important matters before the meeting, and to do with a restoration of the fishway at Pawtucket falls and the fishing license of $1 as proposed by the commission. The fishing license was not mentioned, and that was a mistake, as there was considerable opposition to it, at the very plain talk indulged in by Commissioner Adams last night seemed to turn the tide in favor of the proposition. He said that the fishermen of the state had never borne their share of the expense connected with fish and game work and he wanted to know if there was a man in the house who would object to paying a fishing license of $1. He allowed that five sportsmen would object to it. He explained that 15 cents of the $1 license fee would be paid by city or town clerks who receive less than $500 a year and that clerks whose salaries exceeded the minimum sum of $500 would not receive any part of the license money.

There was one man in the hall who objected to any clerk receiving any part of the license money. He said that the clerk was paid for his work and that making out licenses or filling out license blanks was part of their work. The association went on record, however, as endorsing the fishing license. The license proposal has been quite fully endorsed through the night and it will mean a considerable more money for the commission to spend. The commission's complaint last night of the

INDEMNITY TO COLOMBIA

U. S. Agrees to Pay $25,000,000 for Acquisition of Canal Zone in Treaty Signed by Authorities

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Twenty-five million dollars is the amount the United States agrees to pay Colombia for the partition of Panama and the acquisition of the canal zone in the treaty signed in Bogota by American Minister Thompson and the Colombian authorities. This was stated here today at the Colombian legation.

No rights for a new inter-oceanic canal across Colombia by the Atrato river route and no coaling privileges on San Andreas and Providencia islands off the Colombian coast, it was added, were contained in the treaty.

The Colombian congress will be called in special session to pass on the treaty before it is submitted to the senate here.

TREATY SIGNED

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Secretary

acted with evidence of high courage marked the taking of Santa Rosa and Catibajas hills, forming the western wall of Torreon. The rebels gained the positions but they paid the price. At other points along the line the dead scattered over the plain attested that there, too, the federal fire had been concentrated and deadly.

Three Salient Features

The taking of Torreon has concentrated Villa in his belief in night fighting—his principal contribution to date to the science of Mexican warfare. It is true that at night there may be confusion and the troops may fire on their own side as is said to have occurred once during the siege. On the other hand he holds night attacks give the assailants protection they would not otherwise have, keep the garrison in constant suspense and have a greater moral effect on the enemy. The three salient features of the campaign against Torreon—features which will not be found in the campaign against other cities in the east and south—were the comparative efficiency of the sanitary arrangements said to be unequalled in the history of Mexican warfare; the remarkable quickness with which the attacking army was made possible; and the continuance of night attacks, giving the combatants a world and sinister aspect which the struggle by day will always lack.

600 SPANISHES EXPELLED FROM TORREON BY VILLA. ARRIVE AT JUAREZ

JUAREZ, April 8.—Six hundred and twelve men, women and children of the Spanish colony expelled from Torreon by Gen. Villa arrived today. Huddled in the passenger cars they waited for dawn and the arrival of George C. Gwathmey, special agent of the United States department of state.

"Mr. Carothers came up a day ahead of us to see what he could do with Gen. Carranza," said Joaquin Fernandez, an exile. "We are under protection of the American flag and we decided not to leave the cars until Carranza came."

The refugees left Torreon yesterday morning. Carranza had another interview with Carranza last night, but it is said the general's attitude toward the Spaniards remained unchanged.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. U. W., was held last night in Hibernian hall, and was largely attended. Catherine A. Gaffney presided. It was voted to hold a "Rose Party" on the 16th of May. The following committee was appointed to have charge: Pres. Catherine A. Gaffney, Vice Pres. Mary E. King, Treas. Maria O'Connor, Phil. Sec. Nora Sheridan, Recording Secretary Mary E. Markham, Mistress-at-Arms Nellie Hamilton, Mary Curran, Pianist Elizabeth Curran. Other members, Delia O'Brien, Katherine Burke, Nellie Kelly, Agnes O'Keefe, Annie Cassidy, Mary Lee, B. McCabe, Lucy Sheridan, Margaret McDonnell, Mary Wabwood, Emma Dechamps, Mary Hayden, Marie Duffy, Josephine Dwyer, Margaret Stack, presiding. Three new members were initiated and several applications for membership were received and referred to the investigating committee. It was announced that the gold degree will be worked on Monday, April 20, and a large attendance is expected.

CHARGES OF GRAFT MADE

Recess Committee Criticized—Meetings Cost $200 Each—Rep. Jewett a Member

BOSTON, April 8.—Lieutenant-Governor Barry started something on Beacon Hill yesterday when he charged members of the legislative recess committee on tuberculosis with all sorts of improper expenditures, flatly refused to "O. K." their expense bills, and suggested that the council refuse to pass them.

That two members of the committee put in bills aggregating $135, for the hire of their own automobiles, that some of them asked pay for car-fares and luxury lunches, and that one member charged $100 for steamer staterooms, which bill he later reduced under pressure, were among the allegations of the Lieutenant-Governor.

$200 Per Meeting

He said that some members got as high as $200 for each meeting of the committee they attended, and that the losing of the records made it impossible to tell just what a "soft thing" they had had out of the committee.

The total amount of expense bills turned in by the committee is $1250, although the original figure was larger.

The members of the committee and their expense bills are as follows: Mr. Barry, $175.00; Samuel I. Collins, $124.50; Victor F. Jewett (of Lowell), $50; Michael S. Keenan, $17.40; Enos H. Higelow, $10; Benjamin F. Haines, $21.60; Cleveland A. Chandler, $9.50; Edward M. Hall, $253.68; and Benjamin F. Sharp, $110.

Mr. Barry said last night that as a result of his investigation he found that some of the members had been paid at the rate of $200 a meeting and besides had charged car fares and lunches. He stated that he had sent for Henry Bird, the secretary for the committee, and received the information that the records of the meetings of the committee were lost.

Records Disappeared

Because of the disappearance of the records of the committee it has been found impossible to check up the number of meetings attended by each member of the committee. The council has already paid the members $1000 each for their services, but the expense bills have been held up for some weeks. The stenographer of one of the members of the committee had a bill for $239.50.

According to the Lieutenant-Governor two other members of the committee put in bills for the hire of their own automobiles. One member charged $75 for his automobile and another charged $60. Meals in Boston costing $21.60 were charged by another legislator.

"I intend to hold up all expense bills until I get an itemized account of the bills," said Mr. Barry.

In one bill furnished the state there is a $3 charge made for a stateroom daily on a short water trip. The member reduced the original figure of his bill almost half. His original bill which was over $100, was reduced to $61.25 after talking with the Lieutenant-Governor.

Charged Railroad Fare

Another member of the committee on three different occasions charged a fare of $5.20 from a summer resort in Maine to be present at the meeting of the recess committee.

In contrast to the expenses of this committee are those of the special committee on child labor," said Mr. Barry. "The child labor committee did three times as much work, spent money for advertising and had a number of other legitimate bills, yet their expenses only totaled $784.64, and the members of the committee paid this before presenting the bills. The chairman of the committee, Representative Nathan Thurt, not only gave the use of his own automobile, but spent a considerable sum of money out of his own pocket on the investigation for which he refused to charge the state."

According to the Lieutenant-Governor some of the representatives are willing to allow the whole matter to drop and several have indicated a willingness to reduce the amount of their expense bill.

Expenses Not Justified

"I believe if there were any records available," said Mr. Barry, "it could be proved that members of this recess committee received in some cases over $200 for each meeting they attended. There was one member of the committee who does business regularly in Boston every day who charged his fare from some distance out of town, and this despite the fact that the state allows every member of the legislature 72 a mile.

It is very apparent that the expenses are not justified and I shall refuse to sign the warrants until I have heard from the various members of the committee for what purpose they spent money and the number of meetings they attended. I am satisfied that the number of meetings attended will not check up with the fares, which were in some cases heavy."

Another Bill Held Up

The Lieutenant-Governor has also held up the appointments of six ex-amirals of municipal accounts named by Charles F. Crotty of the bureau of statistics. These men are employed at a rate of not over 90 cents an hour. They are George H. Breed of Lynn, George H. Gerrish of Boston, William D. Maher of Dorchester, Fred Smith of Oak Bluffs, Walter M. Stone of Somerville, and William E. Tierney of Lawrence.

IN POLICE COURT

Richard Copper, a third offender for drunkenness, was continued until Saturday. Patrick J. Doherty, a young man who is practically deaf, was sent to the state farm at his own request. Doherty called at the police station last night and asked to be sent away as he couldn't find work.

Owen Sullivan, who gave his place of nativity as New York City, came to Lowell a few days ago from the woods where he has worked all winter. At that time Sullivan was fingling over a hundred dollars in his pockets. This morning he was broke.

From all accounts Sullivan has done little but drink and carouse since his arrival. Officer Hamilton told the court that the defendant was warned by him on several occasions. On condition that he leave Lowell at once Judge Enright allowed Sullivan to be released.

John Contu, the companion of the young man who was sentenced to three months in jail yesterday for assaulting Moses Fatenade, was arraigned today on the same complaint. Contu escaped, however, by settling the old man's doctor bill and the costs of the court. He was placed on probation.

Joseph N. Lawrin was held for the grand jury in the sum of $1000 on a warrant charging him with a felonious assault upon 14-year old Alice Condon. He pleaded guilty this morning.

Beginning Monday, April 13, 1914, two additional round trips will be added to the York Harbor and Beach Railroad service, leaving Portsmouth for York, Beach at 10:55 a. m. and 2:55 p. m. and returning from York Beach at 12:55 and 4:00 p. m.

MEXICAN SITUATION

campaign had been a sort of holiday but these pitiful evidences left no doubt that this was war. The wounded endured their sufferings with remarkable fortitude. In the little improvised hospital at Vergel were probably 70 men lying on cots and not a single groan came from one of them.

Prize of Death in Battle

"Courage in the hospital was matched by courage in the field—by a willingness to venture everything for the great prize of death in battle. Never were raw soldiers more easily turned back from flight into the thick of death and conflict. During the first daylight artillery and infantry attack on Gomez Palaco the federal troops went so hot that things seemed to be going badly for the rebels. Men began to leave the trenches and make their way to the rear. Two cannon were attached to caissons that were waiting to be placed in position at a certain point and began also to move backward, the drivers urging the mules on in plain, incipient panic.

"All at once a Mexican boy about 15 years old rode on horseback through the Mesquit in the direction of the rearward movement. 'Vuelte' (go back) he yelled and again put spurs to his horse. At the word from a microphone the cannon were stopped and turned, the men faced the shot and shell from the north once more and marched cheerfully back to the field they were about to abandon.

Few Evidences of Vandalism

"In simple judgment it must be said there was few evidences of vandalism. There probably has never been a better natured army than that which entered the village commands. The morning of the entrance into Gomez Palaco some soldiers rode up to a well kept cottage. The proprietor from the front yard watched them anxiously. One soldier drew into the gallery where a magnificent climbing rose vine was brilliant with red roses. He took one, waved it gaily to his companions and all rode on, leaving the house owner astonished at this illustration of military moderation. The incident is typical. In battle and too often out of it the Mexican is ruthless. Under ordinary circumstances he is apparently the most peaceful and agreeable of men.

"There is one branch of the federal service, however, for which the rebel has a constant stock of ferocity. This is the volunteer branch, made up of followers of Orozco in the anti-Madero revolution called 'Colonos' in the military slang of the day. All 'Colonos' must and should die.

"A prison train to the north seldom reaches Chihuahua without making a halt somewhere en route to shoot two or three men identified as former followers of Orozco. It is said that Bachimba, the place where Gomez was defeated by Huerta is a favorite place for such summary executions. On the other hand the regulars, the pelones, are regarded with a certain respect and treated almost with consideration. 'They are forced into the service,' rebel officers say, 'because they have to.'

How Torreon Was Taken

"Through the whole campaign, Villa has been direct and simple in his methods. Torreon was taken by main strength and tenacity. 'When will Torreon fall?' a newspaper correspondent asked Villa at headquarters. 'I don't know,' he said simply. 'All I know is that the town is going to be taken before we quit.'

"The sieges of Gomez Palaco and Torreon had held bloody angles. Shattered remnants of almost annihilated companies reeled back from La Pajar. The fortified hill protecting Gomez Palaco and similar catastrophes punctuated

HOUSE OF ALLEGED MURDERER GUARDED

Several Want to Rent Sweeney Home in Dracut—Officer Foye Notified by District Attorney to Hold Keys

Officer Charles A. Foye of the Dracut police force has been served an official notice from the district attorney's office to the effect that he is to keep the key of the William B. Sweeney home in his pocket and not allow a soul to enter the house in Hemlock street until he hears from the district attorney again.

The notice was served upon the officer by Sheriff Martin Courtney and accordingly the house of the alleged murderer of his wife is still in the same condition and will remain that way probably until Sweeney is removed from the Worcester state asylum.

Officer Foye reports that there were several parties who called to see him in relation to renting the house, and some of them when they were told that there was nothing doing for the present, asked the officer to give them the first chance, for they thought the place was an ideal one for a small family.

Michael Crumney, the man who, it is claimed, was murdered by Sweeney, was released from the institution Monday and he is now at his home, 15 England street, Weymouth. However, he will be disfigured for life. If the Sweeney case goes to trial Crumney will be the chief witness.

15 YEARS ALIMONY BILL

WM. STOWE OF WORCESTER OWES $2,423 TO HIS FORMER WIFE IS DECISION OF JUDGE

WORCESTER, April 8.—That William Stowe of Worcester owes a 15-years alimony bill amounting to $2,423 to his former wife, Mrs. Emma Taylor of Boston, who has separated from her second husband, Stephen A. Taylor of Boston, is the decision handed down by Judge William Waite today in superior court. The Stowes were married in 1896 but two years later Mrs. Stowe procured a divorce from Stowe and an order for alimony of $3 a week in the Maine courts. She married S. A. Taylor of Boston in 1899, but she has separated from him. Stowe married Annie Briggs in Worcester in 1902 and is living with her. The question submitted to Judge Waite was whether Stowe should be required to honor the alimony order since his former wife's second marriage. Judge Waite decides he must pay the bill.

Don't Let Them Fool You, Supt. Welch

There is a very ingenious attempt in certain quarters to mislead the superintendent of police and to deceive the public in connection with the so-called "Seely dinner" by giving the impression that the real question is who was present, or whether a certain official was present on that occasion. That is not the question, Mr. Welch. It is understood that most of those who were present were there innocently. It is no reflection upon anyone to show that he was unwittingly present at the "Seely dinner," nor can the fact of such presence at the show affect anyone's political fortune at this time. The campaign is over and the truth can no longer have any political effect whatever.

The question is not who was present but who was responsible for the whole affair. It is your duty, Mr. Superintendent, to find out who organized the entertainment, who solicited the different gentlemen to attend, who were the promoters, who were the stage managers, what they did during the performance, and what they did after it was over.

There is where the whole responsibility lies and there alone. If you find that this matter comes within the limitation of the statutes, and that there was any unlawful conduct on the part of the promoters before, during or after the performance, it is your duty to report it to the proper authorities in order to satisfy the ends of justice, to punish the real culprits, so as to wipe out the stain on the fair name of our city and to prevent a repetition of anything of the kind in Lowell in the future. It is not a question of gratifying any politician's spite or pulling the political chestnuts of any official out of the fire. The question is, did this exhibition occur as alleged, and if so, when did it occur, and who was responsible for it. Do your duty Supt. Welch. Don't let anyone sidetrack or fool you. Find the facts and take such action as the law demands.

VILLA'S WORD LAW

Graphic Picture of Villa's Successful Campaign Against Torreon—Army Well Behaved—600 Spanish Refugees Arrive at Juarez

EL PASO, Texas, April 8.—"Embroidering the salient facts of the successful constitutional campaign against Torreon are multitudes of incidents hardly less interesting," said the Associated Press correspondents who accompanied General Villa and who reached El Paso Monday night.

"What struck one chiefly during the campaign was the mixture of fear and confidence which Villa's name inspired in his followers. General Villa says he will shoot anybody who cuts the telegraph wires by shooting from the train, called out an officer to soldiers on top of a troop train who were improving their marksmanship by shooting at the insulators on telegraph poles. Instantly the firing ceased. Nobody doubted that Villa meant what he said."

"Send this telegram at once," said a newspaper correspondent to a military telegrapher in his field office under a tree near the railroad track. "I can't, senator," was the regretful response. "General Villa has just notified us that no messages must go out until further orders from him and he will shoot us, if we send this one, even though it is approved by his private secretary," to which there was obviously no answer.

Water Poisoned by Federals
"The camp at Vergel, just above Gomez Palacio, was alive with sinister rumors. A man started to lead his horse to drink from one of the numerous irrigation ditches in the vicinity. "Don't drink that water—don't let your horse drink it," came a warning cry from a number of soldiers. "That water comes from near Torreon and it is poisoned by the federals. Two men and two horses drank of it this morning and died at once."

"To this camp returned the long line of wounded from the first day's fight at Gomez Palacio. Previously the

It was decided by Supervisor of Athletics Stewart that the scheduled game for this afternoon between Textile and Malden high would be played off in spite of the threatening weather and the visiting team was sent word to appear at the Textile campus at 2:30 o'clock.

It was announced that probably both Captain Brickett and Studevant would be used in the box today and that the rest of the lineup would be the same as that which faced Cambridge Latin last Saturday.

The Textile season is so short, owing to the fact that the school term ends the latter part of May, that the management does not like to cancel any games that can possibly be played off.

Both teams came on to the Moody street diamond at two o'clock and went through a short preliminary batting and fielding practice. Promptly at 2:30 Umpire Nixey Coughlin called the Textile players into their positions and the game was on.

The lineup was as follows:

Third Edition CITY COUNCIL VOTES TO BORROW $138,000

Making a Total of About $190,000 Borrowed This Year—Warren P. Riordan Sealer of Weights and Measures

The municipal council met this forenoon and voted to borrow $138,000 for streets and sidewalks. The total amount borrowed this year amounts to about $190,000 and Mayor Murphy stated at today's meeting that he would not vote to borrow any more money this year unless the demand was a very urgent and a very necessary one. Warren P. Riordan was elected sealer of weights and measures to succeed the late John William Stott. Mr. Riordan received the votes of all five members of the council.

The city solicitor sent in an opinion relative to police department authority. The opinion was asked for by Com. Brown at a recent meeting. Continued to page five.

WILL GO TO FLORIDA

Paul Robinson Has Made Combination Motor Sail Boat for the Trip—Will Start From Salem

From Lowell to Florida in a motor and sail boat, such is the feat that will be undertaken in a few weeks by Paul Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson of East Chelmsford. The young man is now at work finishing his craft and as soon as it is ready, he will set sail for the south.

Mr. Robinson, who is a skilled machinist has been at work on building his boat for several months, but only worked during his leisure hours. The boat is 33 feet by 8½ feet and is equipped with a large motor engine as well as spacious sails. It is so well constructed that it will stand any storm. The craft has been tested in salt water at the Salem harbor and has proven to be suitable for a voyage to the south.

Mr. Robinson went south some years ago and it was then he conceived the idea of building a motor boat that would stand the roughness of the sea. He made up his mind to journey to Florida in his craft and there secure two singles, an overthrow by Mehlman and an infield out. However, the Textile nine evened it up in the last half. Mehlman walked, stole second, went to third on an infield out and scored on Brickett's timely single to left.

Malden threatened to score in the second with a man on the middle sack and none out. But Sturtevant lightened at this point and struck out Rounds and Reid and forced Cheney to fly to Capt. Dayeian in left field. Neither side scored in the third inning. Score: Textile 1, Malden High 1.

AGAINST MILL OWNERS

Fall River Clergyman Arraigns Mill Men of That City for Paying Starvation Wages

(From New Bedford Mercury.)
FALL RIVER, April 8.—Mr. Jas. E. Cassidy, V. G. pastor of St. Patrick's church, in the issue of "The Patriot" today has an interesting article entitled "The Arraignment of Our Mill Owners," having to do with a local daily criticizing a sermon by Mr. Cassidy on Dishonesty of Capital. The article in full is as follows:
"Under another heading we have given somewhat lengthy attention to an editorial criticism in the News of our recent pulpit remarks on the Dishonesty of Capital as practiced by the makers of proprietary patent medicines. At the risk of tiring the reader we would like to make answer to an editorial in the same issue of the News criticizing our sermon on Dishonesty of Capital as applied to our local mill owners. We are very much interested that the News started out by trying to convey the impression that we might be trying to foment a strike. Perhaps this editorial had gone entirely unanswered had it not been for this unfair imputation. When we know that a strike is in the very air, we say so in this fomenting a strike. No, Mr. News, we are not fomenting a strike, we are trying desperately to escape one and if you will only give us a little help the catastrophe may be avoided. The catastrophe, for strikes are always (do you take exception to the absoluteness of the statement?) calamities. It is an old saying that first impressions are the strongest and our first impressions of Fall River is strike—a desperate strike. We came to this city in May, 1904. In July of that year occurred a memorable strike extending into the February of the following year. We were then living at St. Vincent's orphan's home as secretary and chancellor to the illustrious first bishop of Fall River. We were in a position through the city churches and churches to get inside information and the bitter cost of that long struggle.
"It may have cost the News and some of its friends many dollars. But it cost the people with whom we came in contact something other than dollars. It cost them hunger and sacrifice and starvation. It cost them peace and with us still of the blocks on blocks of empty tenements and deserted houses as we rode back and forth to the home. Ah! those were bitter days,—to end for striking employees only in being locked into cells have always considered an infamous and outrageous unfair in its workings that the mill owners themselves had not the heart later to take advantage of its workings. No, Mr. News, you do wrong to mention 'strike' in the same breath with anything we have said. Were a strike in progress, we next week we would exert every possible influence to prevent it, even counselling the operatives to endure in more patient waiting the dishonesty of their employers. The strike is the last resource, the last resort, when reason and right have no longer a hearing and when employer and employee are at each other's throats in a trial to the death of physical endurance and state strength, in which struggle the employee is most likely to be first exhausted. No, Mr. News, we pray fervently that Fall River shall never see another strike—but there is only one thing that can make our prayers efficacious, the justice of the interests you do not withdraw one iota of what we said otherwise,—to wit: that labor in Fall River mills is largely underpaid and that the mill owners can and eventually must pay better wages. You have taken exception to this by saying the cost of six or seven mills would have paid no dividends. Then you would rate wages by these half dozen leg-bellies rather than by the doing of the eighty and odd others! Because six or seven mills out of a total of nearly one hundred are not making money do you want us to forsake them our estimate of the mill owners' ability to pay more and disregard the other vast majority? The proportion is so absurd as to be inconceivable. Again you cite the growing competition of southern mills. I believe this is all you represent it to be. The contemplation of the logical results of the factors of which you speak appall us as to what it may ultimately mean to Fall River. But southern mills or northern mills the Fall River mill operatives must get a living wage and today in thousands of cases they are not receiving it.
"You have said that we have stated incorrectly the wage of the average worker in Fall River. All right, then you state it. You have better means for finding out the truth than we have. And after you have proved (?) that the average wage is above $4.00 a week then we will ask for a hearing and we shall cite hundreds and hundreds of cases of Fall River mill operatives who are not receiving $5.00 a week, who are not receiving $7.00 a week, with many more who work for not much more than $6.00. But we shall reserve our figures until we study yours.
"But to close: We have tried to speak the truth, regardless of whom we offended. We have tried to describe a situation which we have been studying and observing for ten years. And it looks to us like this: 'The margin of earnings and losses between various Fall River mills operating in a common labor market is so wide as to make one feel that there is something radically wrong in the management of the mills and this should not be made a cause for injustice to our working people. And it seems to us that in the advance of ideas, nowadays, regarding the relations between the employer and employee, mismanagement and incompetency must first be considered in Fall River regardless of how southern mills may be making progress. The time is rapidly coming when Fall River mill owners will need some better common rallying cry to unite them than the reduction of wages or union to prevent advances and honest adjustments. And now a final warning word: If there be any mill in Fall River paying seven, eight, nine or ten per cent profit, if these earnings come from the blood and sweat of men and women whom it hires to work for six, seven or eight dollars a week, then we affirm that this is the grossest form of dishonesty of capital and that strike or no strike, southern mills or northern mills, competent or incompetent or dishonest mill managers, this injustice must eventually prove—James E. Cassidy."

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.
Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.
If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.
You must suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.
Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes anyone so.
But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.
A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, overworked women.
Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy, will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Ringhamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.

During the 1913 base ball season the New England league was represented by many players in the big leagues, more so in the American league than in the National. All told there were 16 former New England league players listed in the new league and but five in the old. Some of the players gained great distinction by their fine play and their work reflects a great deal of credit upon the "Little Old New England League."

FEAST OF PASSOVER

WILL BEGIN NEXT FRIDAY AT NOON AND WILL CONTINUE FOR EIGHT DAYS

The great Jewish Feast of the Passover will begin next Friday at noon and will continue for eight days. The first two days of this feast will be strictly observed by all, and so will the last two days while the four days intervening will be celebrated with special services in all the synagogues.
The first gathering of this great feast of rejoicing will be on Friday evening when all will attend the synagogue and the rabbi will preach a sermon suitable to this most important feast in the Hebrew calendar.
During the eight days, no one will partake of bread; a large water made from flour and water will be substituted. On Friday evening there will be an especial observance in every household. The dishes which are prepared except during the Feast of the Passover will be placed upon the table at the head of which the father of the family will sit upon a beautiful decorated seat, shaped somewhat like a couch or divan. The door of the house will remain open—symbolic of the nature of the feast—so that all who may be in want to enter and get food and shelter.
The feast is one of great rejoicing. It is the celebration and the commemoration of the coming out of the Jews from the land of Egypt. The only food they had then, according to the

Two Weeks or More in Colorado—as Inexpensive as Home

You will be surprised to learn how little it costs to spend two weeks or more in Colorado. I have cornered many wrong impressions about Colorado's hotels and boarding houses. About my road, "The Burlington," (C. B. & Q. R. R.) now sells out a booklet showing how reasonably and pleasantly one can spend a vacation in Colorado.
"I would love to go to Colorado on my vacation this summer, but the hotel prices are so high—used to be the expression of many. Five minutes' talk convinced them otherwise. Colorado has her share of elaborate hotels, but Colorado has lots of comfortable boarding places where the rates are as low as $2.00 a week—clean surroundings, and wholesome appetizing fare.
"I would like to send you a copy of our booklet. It will give you an entirely different idea about Colorado's hotel and boarding houses, their location, rates, conveniences, elevations, and other particulars of Colorado—its attractions and points of interest.

A BONUS FOR EACH BABY BORN
HARRISVILLE, W. Va., April 8.—This town of 800 inhabitants, known as the "happiest town," is becoming so wealthy that the mayor, backed by the council, will offer a bonus of $100 for every baby born here. Harrisville levies no property taxes because the town owns its own natural gas plant, oil and gas wells, mines and equipment.
A new ordinance provides that all persons less than 20 years old must be in their homes before 8 o'clock in the evening. Three young men who called on young women last evening were arrested for breaking the curfew law and they threaten to test the constitutionality of the ordinance in the courts.
"Sue," said the mayor, "what's the constitution got to do with regulating the peace, good order and civic etiquette of Harrisville?"

"Stuffy" McInnis, a former local star, was chosen by experts as the best first sacker in the big show, while Lajoie, who once cavorted on New England league diamonds, was accorded with the premier second sacker by an expert betting, a resume in the "Spaulding Records."

Real Headliners
McInnis and Lajoie were the only real headliners in their departments, although Olaf Hendrickson, a member of Steve Plannagan's Brockton crew, was second best hitter in the American league.
In his first year as a major leaguer, Lajoie, formerly of New Bedford, was ranked as the best leading shortstop in the National league, although records do not show such to be the case.
Such big stars as Harry Low, Marty O'Toole, Steve O'Neil, Larry Gardner, Eddie Ahlsmith and others, who are also headliners in some department of the game, are graduates of the New England circuit.

TO WORK IN MILL

LEUTENANT GOVERNOR BARRATT O'HARA OF ILLINOIS AND WIFE TO WORK IN MILL

NEW YORK, April 8.—Don't make the grave mistake, supposing you wander into the lobby of the Hotel Bristol in East Twenty-third street, to say to the first youthful looking, slight, dark-eyed, black-haired, dapper youth you run into, "Kid, where's the bar at?" or "Slip me a match, bo," or anything like that.
Be more respectful, for likely as not this lad you are addressing is none other than Hon. Barrett O'Hara, who at present holds down the job of lieutenant-governor of the well known state of Illinois. He is also candidate for United States senator and just now is headed toward a Massachusetts mill town with his wife, where both will go to work as mill hands.
The young lieutenant-governor has almost reached the ripe age of 32 years, he will tell you. Before you gaze into his dark eyes or get a full length view of his snappy college boy make-up don't let ecstasy obliterate from your mind that important item that he is already married.
"I'm going to get the best job in a New England factory that I can get," the young lieutenant-governor of Illinois told a reporter, "and so is my wife, because we want to find out what our respective economic values are in the eyes of a mill owner.
"I know my economic value both as a lawyer and as a reporter, but I want to find out what the New England factory boss values me at."
When this question has been answered for the lieutenant-governor and Mrs. O'Hara, they will go to a factory town in the south and get the best day laboring jobs they can corral. And after answering the morning whistle call for two weeks or so in the south, Mr. and Mrs. O'Hara will return to Illinois, where the lieutenant-governor, during four months of campaigning for the United States senatorship will use his practical knowledge of factory conditions during a stumping tour of Illinois.
"The work of the Illinois vice commission in which we were personally interested," he said, "showed that thousands of girls in Chicago alone receive only a dollar or a dollar and a half a week. Many employers had to testify that they paid their girls less than the girls can possibly live on."
"I am largely basing my campaign for senator from my state on what I think to be about the most important question before the country, the necessity for a federal minimum wage law. Therefore, now that our legislature is in session, I am taking about the present time to learn about factory conditions at first hand. I hope in

HAT BOWS AND SASHES TIED FREE.

This way to make my arguments for a federal law much more graphic.
"The necessity for the law is a national one and therefore Illinois cannot settle the problem all by itself. Because the question is national is the reason why we are going to work in the east and south instead of looking into conditions merely in my own state."
The lieutenant governor and his young wife say that the mill jobs are waiting for them. They would not, however, give any hint about just where they will go to work. They do not want their fellow workers to know who they are, but want to be accepted at looms or work benches merely for what they are worth as mill hands.
"I'm doing this thing just at this time, both of us are," grinned the lieutenant governor, "because there's no danger that a couple of youngsters like us would be suspected of being anything but the factory hands we are to profess to be. Why, I've gone all over Illinois and nobody suspected that I was the lieutenant-governor—not even in the insane asylums."
"Perhaps you know that O'Hara is a political joke. No? Well, when I started to work on the 'young men movement' which trying for the nomination for lieutenant governor two years ago we selected that O'Hara is a political joke as our battle cry. From the slump I rubbed it in to the young men that if I was a political joke so were they and all other young men, and that it was about time the young men changed such ideas."
The young men changed ideas so effectively that young Mr. O'Hara carried his state by 150,000.
There's an O'Hara baby now "being groomed for politics." The baby, named after Mrs. O'Hara's family, is Master Hoffman O'Hara. For if a name like that, said the lieutenant governor yesterday, "doesn't get the entire German and Irish vote" nothing will.

MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED

Byron Chandler Sued by His Wife Who Charges Violence and Stinginess

NEW YORK, April 8.—Byron Chandler, the Million-Dollar Kid, did not attend a theatrical performance last night as he intended. Instead, Chandler acted as host of Philip McDonnell and Louis Zeltner, deputy sheriffs, at the Waldorf-Astoria. The deputy sheriffs made the acquaintance of Chandler through the order of arrest which they served on him at the Hotel McAlpin in a suit for separation which Mrs. Grace La. Chandler, known on the stage as Grace La Rue, brought against him. After Deputy Sheriffs McDonnell and Zeltner placed Chandler under arrest he was unable to obtain the $25,000 bail required, and Sheriff Grifenhagen permitted the prisoner to go to the Waldorf on the assurance of Ruel W. Poor, president of the Garfield national bank, that Chandler's mother in Manchester, N. H., would arrange for the bail today.

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The Easiest and Best Way is to Dissolve It.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. Do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retreating; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop at once and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. If you want to preserve your hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

Feared "Kid" Would Skip. Chandler arrived here from Europe only a few days ago. It was only two days ago that Mrs. Chandler announced that she was going to sue for a separation and the things that happened in such rapid succession proved that when she says a thing she means it. It required only a few minutes for the attorneys for the wife to get the order of arrest to the sheriff's office after Justice Weeks had issued it.

The actress asked for the arrest of her husband in the proceeding because she feared he would leave the jurisdiction of the court and then there would be no way to enforce an order for alimony which she hopes to get in her separation suit.

The voluminous complaint of Mrs. Chandler is crowded with allegations of cruelty, including a threat to kill her and beatings that her husband administered to her and related about his alleged insubordination and his regard for various other women.

Although the plaintiff refers to the wealth enjoyed by the defendant and his lavish expenditures, she declares that he has been very remiss in the matter of providing her with means of sustaining herself, telling her on one occasion that if she wanted money she had better work for it, which she did, accepting an engagement which Chandler obtained for her in London.

Calls Him Poor Gambler. Just to show how little the "million dollar kid" thought of money, his wife mentions that he had an auto that cost him $11,000, including the duty to bring it into this country. Then he had another car that cost him $8000, and still another, the value of which Mrs. Chandler did not know. They always lived at the best hotels and in one night's play in France he lost $3000, the actress alleged. In brief, as Mrs. Chandler says, Chandler was known in this country and Europe as "a man of very large means," and yet when he went to Europe in the spring of 1913 to spend a month with his mother he left his wife with only $50, she says.

Getting down to the cruel treatment which the wife declares she suffered at the hands of her husband, she alleges that, beginning in 1911, he became very abusive and frequently threatened to kill her. Mrs. Chandler declares that her husband beat her while they lived at the Hotel Somerset until she required medical treatment. At times he had been drinking heavily. When she protested against his driving one of his automobiles while in that condition, he, so it is alleged, drew a revolver from a drawer and threatened to kill his wife.

The latter, frightened by the threat, telephoned to the hotel office and a negro porter was rushed up to their apartment to protect the woman in distress. Chandler ordered him out and hardly had the hotel functionary left the room when the fighting was renewed and was continued until the wife felt from exhaustion.

Mrs. Chandler also mentions that while they were in London, Chandler used to entertain other women in their apartments while she was at the theatre but when she got home he was gone and would not return until 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning.

Had to Wear Sleeves. The cruel treatment of her husband has also made quite a difference to her appearance on the stage, Grace La Rue says, for whereas, formerly she appeared in some parts in décolleté gowns, she was compelled to forego them because her shoulders, neck and chest showed scars and discolorations. So she had to have sleeves put into her gowns. Also her nervous system has become much impaired.

Chandler was calm and outwardly undisturbed while he waited in the sheriff's office to get the required $25,000 bond. He remarked that his wife went about her action in the wrong way, that he received his money from his mother and his wife had played her part well by causing his arrest, because that would not recommend her to the consideration of his family.

"I had no intention of leaving the city," said Chandler, "all I am interested in right now is getting out of here so that I can go to the theatre tonight, for I have tickets." But the "Million-Dollar Kid" could not get $25,000 bail, and the tickets were not used by him.

$5000 FOR LOST LOVE

WIFE OF DORCHESTER CONDUCTOR
SUES WIFE OF MOTORMAN
WHO WORKED ON SAME CAR

BOSTON, April 8.—After failing to win back the love of her husband by promising to go anywhere in the world with him if he would only leave Dorchester, Mrs. Frederick Leighton Gwynn, 2 Faulkner Circle, has brought an alienation suit for $5000 against the wife of her conductor-husband's former motorman, Mrs. John R. Graham, 6 Gibson Street, Dorchester.

The suit filed yesterday at the Pemberton square court house, brings to light a matrimonial tangle that centers around the Field's Corner barn, where both men are stationed. Gwynn is a conductor and Graham is a motorman. Formerly for a long time they were paired together on the same car.

Mrs. Gwynn said last night that she knew positively that Mrs. Graham had been keeping company with her husband since March, 1907, practically ever since their marriage, and since a year before the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

After trying for several years to stem the receding tide of her husband's affections, Mrs. Graham, as a last resort, prepared to seek a divorce. A lawyer to whom she had entrusted her case managed to reconcile the two. The wife says she begged her husband to go to Canada with her or to some part of the world. She has promised never to make her jealous again and together they spent several months at her home on Prince Edward Island.

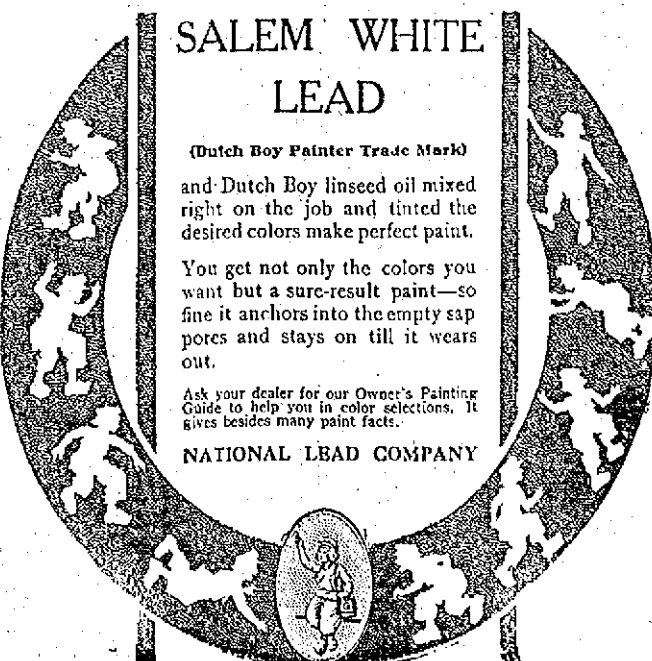

Not long after their return matters became as bad as ever. Mrs. Gwynn says, and turned detective. She secured a room across the street from the house occupied by her rival and kept constant watch for several days. It is expected that whatever evidence she secured will make dramatic testimony when it is recited on the witness stand.

THE SIEGEL CASE

Mrs. Eddy-Brown Will Appear to Testify Before Grand Jury

BOSTON, April 8.—Mrs. Diana E. Eddy, who became Mrs. James Salisbury Brown on Saturday last, and for whom District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier and his first assistant, Thomas D. Lavelle, have been conducting a vigorous search in connection with the affairs of Henry Siegel in this city, will appear before the Suffolk county grand jury next week.

This fact became known last night after a confidential conference between ex-Mayor Henry E. Tleplek of Pawtucket, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Lavelle at the district attorney's office late yesterday. Both refused to tell what happened at the conference, but Lavelle declared he was satisfied that Mrs. Brown would appear next week to testify before the grand jury.

It was intimated last night that ex-Mayor Tleplek had received a letter from his clients telling him that if he could make satisfactory arrangements with the Suffolk county district attorney, Mrs. Brown would accept service on the special summons.

Tleplek called Lavelle on the long-distance telephone and announced his intention of coming to this city. It was late in the afternoon when he quietly walked into the office and asked for Mr. Lavelle. He was ushered into the private office without the attaches being aware of his identity.

and left for home on the midnight train. Today Assistant District Attorney Lavelle will report to him of the final hearing of Mrs. Brown and her husband. The town in which the couple are spending their honeymoon is not known. This information Attorney Tleplek refused to make public.

DETROIT, April 8.—Several hundred persons paid several hundred dollars to watch Wladislaw Zbyszko, brother of Stanislaw and Ed (Strangler) Lewis, wrestle at a local armory last night.

Twenty minutes of clawing, pulling and hawling.

A right swing to the jaw delivered by Ed which sent Wladislaw to the mat.

Lewis struck after he had cried that Zbyszko had tried to gouge out one of his eyes.

Several free-for-all fights.

A ringside speech by Zbyszko. In Polish, declaring he tried to gouge his friend.

An outpouring of angry, excited people that kept the police busy for more than an hour.

Police interference.

The match was witnessed by a large crowd. When Lewis struck Zbyszko the latter's friends leaped from their seats and started toward the ring. Police immediately interfered, and somebody awarded the match to the Pole on a foul. Somebody declared all bets off. As a mob surged about the ring police broke it up and after hard work a number of trouble-makers were ejected.

COUNT KAROLYI

In This Country Asking Aid to Make Hungary Free

NEW YORK, April 7.—Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the opposition in the Austro-Hungarian parliament, is now in this country endeavoring to raise funds to carry on the fight for the independence of the Magyar kingdom from Austria. He will deliver a series of addresses in the principal cities of the United States and Canada. He is a multi-millionaire.

There were almost as many mills along the river then as there are today. Mr. Marren rather held to the belief that if the fishways were restored the salmon and shad would manage to survive the pollution of the river.

David Has the Floor

It was at this point that David Curtin got Chairman Derby's eye and David proceeded to pass out a little inside information relative to fish and their habits. He told how eels will "take a dam" and then he spoke about the "blowing up" of lakes and ponds. He thought it was an outrage and he understood it was sometimes done by authority of selectmen. He told of meeting men with baskets loaded with fish in the early morning, the result of a "blown up" pond. He said that dynamite had been used several times at Lakeview, and Dr. Field said it was so if that dynamite was not used. He said that members of the association should be just as much interested in streams, lakes and ponds as they would be in their own property.

Enforce the Game Laws

Commissioner William C. Adams is an unconventional sort of chap and he addressed the meeting without rising. He simply stood to his chair and talked matters over sorer sportsman like. He corroborated all that Dr. Field had said relative to the uselessness of restoring the fishway at the falls. He seemed to anticipate a feeling on the part of certain ones that the commission would stall on ordering the Locks and Canals to restore the fishway and he wanted it understood, he said, that there were no strings between the manufacturers and the commissioners. Mr. Adams spoke about covering the ponds in order to keep in the fish and said that if the association believed there were any ponds around here that should be screened the commission would see to them. He mentioned Forge pond, merely as an example.

Mr. Adams spoke about the fishing license and was very emphatic in declaring that the fishermen should bear their share of the freight. He said that the $100 fish license was a "red-blooded proposition" and he didn't think any real sport would object to it.

but one way, co-operation between the fish and game commission and fish and game clubs and the manufacturers. He said that the pollution of the river was responsible for the decrease in the fish population, and that shad and salmon, once so abundant, are now very rare. He said that the last salmon, taken in any quantity, was in 1884, and that was at Cape Cod, the fish being on their way to the river to spawn. Salmon go up the river in the spring season. The Atlantic salmon goes back to the ocean, wide and deep, in the fall, but the Pacific salmon never goes back, because the Pacific salmon spawns and dies. The female of the Pacific salmon, arriving at the spawning grounds is nothing more or less than a swimming mass of eggs and when those have been deposited the salmon gives up the ghost.

Stock River With Alewives

Dr. Field allowed that alewives would live in the Merrimack river all right, but yet there was the danger of the spawn being destroyed. The spawn of the alewife clings to the bottom of the river and they stood a big chance of being smothered by sewage and waste from the mills. Dr. Field could hardly account for the almost entire disappearance of the lamprey eel. He explained that the lamprey eel like the Pacific salmon dies after spawning and he said that the eel's place in nature was to keep other fish from increasing too rapidly, that the eel was a big egg eater, and a rather undesirable citizen from the average point of view.

"To make a long story short," said Dr. Field, "it would be a waste of money to attempt to stock the Merrimack river until the sewage and manufacturing waste has been taken care of."

Dr. Field invited the association members to ask questions or offer suggestions and a few questions were asked. Charlie Marren, one of Lowell's best known fishermen, said that there were lots of salmon in the Merrimack river 25 years ago and that this evil, he said, could be corrected in

LONDON SCIENTIST USES ELECTRIC LIGHT IN CASE WHICH HITHERTO REQUIRED KNIFE

LONDON, April 8.—Dr. Reyn, head of the Fluen light Institute, has made interesting experiments in the treatment of patients suffering from surgical tuberculosis, says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. Electric light was used in cases which had hitherto required the knife and, it is said, with most satisfactory results.

Describing the treatment, the correspondent says the patient is placed about a yard in front of an ordinary arc lamp and his rays directed against the affected parts of the body. The irritation lasts, at the beginning of the treatment, 15 minutes daily, but it is increased gradually until it reaches two and one-half hours. It has been suggested that the light cure may also be useful in cases of lung tuberculosis, but this has not yet been demonstrated.

ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS DEVOTE CONSIDERABLE SPACE TO AMERICAN GOLFERS

NEW YORK, April 8.—According to despatches, made public here today,

English newspapers are devoting much space to Francis Ouimet, the American golfer, who already has won many friends by his unassuming manner, modesty and sportsmanship. Ouimet made his first appearance on an English golf course at Deal yesterday and there was much speculation as to how he would shape up after his long rest from practice. That he needs very little practice to get into form was shown when he went around the course in 31 strokes, a remarkable performance in the face of a stiff wind.

HOME RULE BILL PASSED

The home rule bill has been read a second time in the third year stage of its passage over the veto of the peers. In the British Isles when a bill is passed for the second time the people regard it as beyond the possibility of defeat. When the great measure of Catholic emancipation, the disestablishment of the English church in Ireland and the land act of 1903 passed their second reading, nobody paid much attention to the third reading which was regarded as a mere formality. So it is in the present case, the home rule bill is passed, the victory is won and not all the Ulster shouters nor the O'Brien-Healey traitors can avail to prevent it becoming law.

The question, however, is, will it pass unchanged or will the Ulsterites decide to accept the offered concessions? That matter is yet uncertain; but there is yet a possibility that the Ulsterites will accept the offered concessions granting them the privilege of local option on home rule for a term of six years. The question on the ballot for each county would be something like this:

"Shall this county come under the operation of the home rule for Ireland act for a period of six years?"

As the Irish parliament will not be opened until 1915, it is quite likely that every county in Ulster would vote in favor of local self-government. It is a mistake to say that Ulster is divided on religious lines on this question. A very considerable proportion of the Protestants of Ulster are in favor of home rule and these with the Catholics would make a majority in favor of the new law. The only possible exception is Antrim, in which Belfast is located; but one county could not remain outside as its business would be ruined by lack of co-operation by the rest of Ireland. Hence it is quite immaterial whether the bill passes with or without the offered concessions as the latter mean nothing permanent and would only supply the Ulsterites a means of backing down gracefully. Expecting to extort more from the government they ask that John Redmond be eliminated from the negotiations as he vetoes every request they make. But Redmond in this case represents Ireland and he will stand firm as a rock against any move that would cause a division of the Irish nation. As for the O'Brien-Healey gang, if by their abstention from voting they had defeated or even jeopardized the bill, they might never show their faces in Ireland. They would be mobbed and banished or slain. The people can tolerate and even respect the opposition of an avowed opponent like Sir Edward Carson, but pretended friends playing the role of traitors such as O'Brien and Healey, never!

Through all this crisis the patience and self-restraint of Mr. Redmond and his party in parliament have been marvelous, but not a whit more so than the calm and imperious serenity of the Irish nationalists, particularly in Ulster where the provocation to resentment and counter attacks has been the greatest that human ingenuity could invent. The home rule bill in all probability will pass into law without change within the next eight weeks and it will take an entire year to convince the Irish people at home and abroad that through the superb leadership of Hon. John E. Redmond backed by his parliamentary party and practically the whole Irish race the dream of centuries has become an indelible reality.

UNDERWOOD'S VICTORY

Oscar W. Underwood, majority leader of the national house of representatives, did not have to do much fighting to beat Richmond P. Hobson in the race for United States senatorship of Alabama, and though he personally deserves the honor there are many involved issues that make his triumph unusually significant. More than any other man in national politics, with the possible exception of President Wilson, Mr. Underwood was responsible for the framing of the tariff bill of the administration and for its successful passage through the house, and though it may be far fetched to regard his election as a tariff vindication, it is certain that were he defeated by Hobson, his failure would be quite generally attributed to the effects of the tariff revision on the popular mind. Mr. Underwood may not have been elected by such a large majority merely on the tariff issue, but his tariff reputation did not apparently injure him. In this one respect his success is a triumph for democracy in general and for the administration in particular.

Mr. Underwood is one of the most notable men in Washington who has taken issue with the president on the tariff revision question and it is gratifying to find that no party holds him in less esteem for his attitude which is undoubtedly sincere. Though the tariff matter is not a strictly party consideration, some of the more important democrats were not held to be altogether disinterested in their stand against the administration, but no shadow of doubt rested on the name of Mr. Underwood except in a few cases where the wish was father to the thought. Were one of the great democratic reforms to be introduced in congress tomorrow there is not a man on whom the president could depend more readily and more wholly than on Mr. Underwood. It is folly to suppose that his attitude on the tariff problem affected his campaign either favorably or unfavorably. Hobson is a high-spirited man who has been gallivanting about the country since the Spanish-American war shrieking for a greater navy. The dignity of the senate would be greatly lowered by the membership of such a man as Hobson in spite of the fact that he did risk his life in a brave deed at Santiago harbor in blowing up the Merrimack.

SPEAKER SCORES HOUSE

Speaker Grafton D. Cushing very forcibly reminded the Massachusetts house of representatives on Monday last that it is a serious body appointed to transact serious public business and he mentioned some trivial activities of recent date to prove that this fact is sometimes forgotten by those interested. Without losing his temper he struck out from the shoulder and warned the members of the house that unless they introduce speedy reform in their methods of attending to state affairs they will be regarded as the most hopelessly inefficient legislative body of recent years—a truly awful outlook. Little wonder that immediately afterwards the legislature put aside trivial bills, useless debates and obstruction tactics and made a day's record for sensible public service.

When the reports of legislative happenings are so often of a nature calculated to try public patience, it is not strange that the absence of a sense of duty and the silly tactics so frequently displayed in the legislature should bring the speaker to his feet in occasional protest. Unfortunately many representatives get an exaggerated sense of their own importance the day after election and they will introduce nonsensical bills with all the gravity of a Webster or a Disraeli and make political mountains out of every ant hill. From long abuse we have grown accustomed to look for this sort of thing in the deliberations of municipal boards, but we expect a slightly higher standard in the state legislature. If the senators and representatives who have nothing to say would refrain from saying it, a "scold" from the speaker would not be necessary and public patience would not be so often tried by the press reports—which are anything but flattering to our solons.

FIRE AND FINES

In his annual report, just published, former Fire Commissioner Cole of Boston makes the novel suggestion that they who are responsible for preventable fires be considered guilty of a misdemeanor and be fined accordingly. He specifically mentions as deserving of punishment the owners of property with defective chimneys. Most of his other suggestions are in line with those usually adopted by progressive cities such as the adoption of stringent regulations with regard to building, the elimination of wooden roofs, the creation of special zones in the business districts, certain restrictions of space and construction in building, and many other things that relate more particularly to the fire department of Boston. His suggestion with regard to fining those responsible for preventable fires seems impracticable, but it emphasizes the fact that fire is no longer considered a private affair but is something in which all the citizens are or should be interested. He who causes a fire through negligence endangers the property of his neighbor as well as his own and inflicts damage on the city.

SECRETARY DANIELS' ORDER

Opponents of the order of Secretary Daniels regarding the burning of intoxicating liquors from the navy pretend to be horrified at the possible embarrassment of our officers when meeting representatives of foreign powers. Surely there is no embarrassment in an officer's carrying out the instructions of his government. Even though there were, a careful reading of Secretary Daniels' order reveals an anticipation of such an emergency.

Apologies of this subject, it may not be generally known that Mr. Daniels has been for many years opposed to some phases of the liquor traffic, excluding all advertising of alcoholic liquors from the Raleigh newspaper which he owns. In this respect the Raleigh paper follows the policy adopted years ago by The Sun, which is one of the very few newspapers in New England that refuses to print liquor advertisements.

COURT INTERPRETATIONS

One of the points brought out in the recent legislative report on immigration is the inadequacy of the present system of court interpretations and the resultant confusion in achieving the desired results.

ONLY ONE "BROMO QUININE" Get the genuine, call for full name, "BROMO QUININE." Look for signature of E. W. GROVE. Cures Cold in One Day. 25c.

ends of justice. The board found that many of these commonly used as interpreters were so incompetent as to be worse than useless, and it is no exaggeration to say that this state of things has resulted in anything but fair play for the immigrant on trial in some cases. In our local police court, trials are frequently delayed because of the difficulty of getting an interpreter, and when one is found who will assume to say that he is qualified to serve? The obvious remedy is the appointment of official interpreters under the civil service regulations.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Now that the board of trade has started on the problem of cleaning up the city and awakening a better spirit in this regard among our people, the committee in charge should not cease agitating until the city provides more receptacles for rubbish in the business district, and insists on public use of them. Instead of allowing people to throw litter on the streets as is commonly done at present. This crusade for a general clean up and in favor of the city beautiful is in the right direction and should be encouraged.

Let us hope that the preference of Miss Wilson for blue in selecting her trousseau is no indication of her feelings.

Seen and Heard

This rainy weather is depriving the youngsters of their favorite sport, baseball, for although it is still early in the season many have already exercised their muscles and tested their skill at this great game. Last Saturday the writer was in the vicinity of Walker street, when his attention was attracted to a large field between Columbus avenue and Middlesex street, where two full teams of youngsters, averaging between 11 and 16, were roughing it. The only hitch in the game was the fact that there was no umpire, but nevertheless the game was a lively one. One little chap showed great skill in catching right and left with one hand and on one occasion a very clever double play was made from first to third base. There was a large number of spectators on hand and they enjoyed the game immensely. Cheer up boys, this weather cannot last forever!

The papers lately have been full of items wherein women have been arrested for wearing skirts with slits in them, but so far we have only read of one case where a man was arrested for the same offense. A man, in a city of opportunity, was arrested for carrying a bottle of brew that made Milwaukee famous in his pistol pocket. The prisoner pleaded guilty, but insisted that he had not violated the law in carrying it. The judge thought otherwise, however, and fined him $5 and costs, giving as his opinion that one of the most vital elements in the

If you have any skin trouble, you want Resinol. You want it because you have known about it for years, because your friends and neighbors have used it successfully, and because you know that physicians have prescribed it for nineteen years in the treatment of eczema, rashes, ringworm, pimples and other distressing eruptions.

You do not want a "substitute" or something that a dealer tells you is "just as good as Resinol." You do not want it because you know nothing of its value. It has nobody's endorsement and for all you can tell it never did anyone any good at all. If a dealer tries to force a "substitute" on you, it is for a very good reason of his own—read about it in the next column.

Most druggists sell Resinol gladly. Enroll for 20c. large jar $1; Resinol Soap 25c per cake. For trial also free, write to Dept. 45-B, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

ECZEMA SO BAD HAD TO LEAVE WORK

Began by Pimples and Blackheads. Hands, Face and Neck Affected. Could Not Put Hands in Water. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

46 No. Main St., Passaic, N. J.—"I had eczema which I could not get rid of. It began by pimples and blackheads and then began to itch so I began to scratch and kept on scratching until it formed in scabs and they came to a head. The parts that were affected were my hands, face and on my neck. I was covered with them. I had to leave my office work for a week and a half.

The eczema caused much discomfort and I could not put my hands in water at all. I could not wash my hands for two weeks. It also caused loss of sleep. I got some ointment and used one box and it didn't seem to do any good so I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for three weeks and then I was cured." (Signed) Mrs. Beatrice Desautels, Sept. 17, 1913.

The regular use of Cuticura Soap for toilet and bath not only tends to preserve, purify and beautify the skin, scalp, hair and hands, but assists in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and zoster, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin. Cuticura Soap (26c) and Cuticura Ointment (50c) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. Skin Book. Address postcard, "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

"no man has any business to appear in public with Schiltz in his pants."

Judge Martin Foran was a good speaker in great demand at political meetings in Cleveland, O. Once, when he had an engagement of this kind he was taken ill and sent his young partner, Newton D. Baker. No one in the audience had ever heard of the strapping, "Pat" McKinney, who presided, when he reached Judge Foran's number, looked pityingly at Mr. Baker.

"Judge Foran is sick and cannot appear," he said. "I sent his boy to speak for him. Come on, boy, and tell 'em what you know."

Of course, the crowd laughed as Mr. Baker tripped forward. But he was entirely self-possessed; he had spoken only a few clear-cut, staccato words when the laughter changed to the rappest attention; and, long before he had finished, says The World's Work, the crowd was just as well pleased that Judge Foran had not appeared.

From that moment the "boy" has been and costs, giving as his opinion that one of the most vital elements in the life of Cleveland. He is now the city's mayor.

Some old friends greeted us in Champ Clark's speech on the Sims bill. You may recall some of them: "Jot or tittle." "The plain, unvarnished truth." "God forbid!" "The jackal press." "That memorable occasion." "Tooth and nail." "The God of our fathers." "The awful horrors of Valley Forge." "The blood-stained heights of Yorktown." "Tell it not in Gath." "Proclaim it not in the streets of Askelon." "Peace with honor." "The Arabian Nights." "Munchausen." "The fathers." "Our globe-encircling domain." "I am a democrat." "The pirates of the Barbary coast." "Democratic gospel and undelivered." "Janus-faced double." "Good Lord, good devil." "All things to all men." "God-fearing patriots." "Come what may." "All things are fair in love or war." "The slithering bowstring." "The unwary voter." "Bait to catch gudgeons." "To live by or to die by." "These obsequious courtiers." "Rubbishy stuff." "At all hazards." "The most unkindest cut of all." Old friends every one, and welcome back.—St. Louis Press Dispatch.

Security from physical injury and pain are now the right of a husband. That a man may defend himself against the attacks of his wife has been recognized as a right by a court. Whether the doctrine may ever be so far extended as to relieve from mental suffering and anguish, by affording a junctive relief against the wife's "cuttings" and admonitions as to late hours and the husband's closest associates, can be settled by time only. But some of his rights were laid down by the court of criminal appeals of Texas, in Keller v. State, 160 Southwestern Reporter, 342. This case arose out of a prosecution for assault. The only evidence for the state was that the wife of accused had asked him for money to visit relatives, and was told that he did not have it, but would have it for her a little later; that she became angry, striking him on the head with a bucket, and biting his shoulder, when he reached down and got a rock and struck back over his shoulder, making a small cut on her head. In reversing a verdict for erroneous instruction the court held that, "while the assault upon a man usually is aggravated assault, this does not deprive a party of his right of self-defense against an assault. His right to defend himself against the attack of a woman, or against his wife, under these circumstances, would be the same as her right of self-defense against him or against any other person."

LITTLE HOUSES
Great apartments, fine and stately, line the boulevards of town. Sprucely modern, but lately, perched from the turret down, they're of marble, pure and snowy; they are things of boastful pride. Like a jewel casket, showy, for the Ah, but greater pride arouses where, in some still, modest street, Rows and rows of little houses make the name of home more sweet.

Mansions? Yes, we've those a-plenty, with an auto at each door; With their servants, eight or twenty, with great rooms—at least a score. Ah, but these are chaff so often for their women and their men; But the heart must warm and soften if we just look back again To the rows of little houses, tiny houses trim and neat, Standing back from rear and bustle on some little quiet street.

Rows and rows of little houses, and therein a city's pride: On the porch a baby drowns, and there's joy of love inside. Rows and rows of little houses, just as simple as the next That the springtime birds have builded for their loving and their rest. Mansions? Aye, they're very splendid, but there's something very sweet In the rows of little houses on some little quiet street.

"DRY" IN MILITIA

Officers Favor Barring Liquor—Gen. Pearson Commends Action

BOSTON, April 8.—Adjutant General Pearson yesterday commended the decision of National Guard officers to bar liquor at the troop's 75th anniversary celebration. He also urged other militia organizations to follow suit.

The announcement of the cavalry body created considerable interest in military circles. Sides have been taken on the abstinence question. A number of officers declare that they will propose an anti-liquor crusade in their respective companies.

First Step Toward Drought
It was stated that the action taken by Troop A (State Militia) is significant of the sentiment that is now being expressed throughout the entire militia, and there are many who believe that it is the first step toward a general order that will prohibit the serving of liquor in camp or at social affairs.

The adjutant-general stated yesterday that it is not necessary to make any sudden or drastic order. "The enlisted men themselves are cutting down the use of liquor of their own accord," he said. "I will leave the question of serving liquor in camp to the individual organizations."

One thing is certain, however, that employers and parents of enlisted men are getting over the idea that the militia is an organization of benefit to brewers and distillers. Formerly the summer maneuvers or camp used to be an annual drunk. Every private would contribute from three to five dollars for the "booze" chest. It cost officers as much as $15 for liquor during the one week's camp.

"It used to be a serious question, but in the past few years the sentiment of the men themselves have changed so that I do not regard it as a problem today. I have advocated the moving camp during the summer maneuvers. My most serious objection to a stationary camp is the temptation for men to bring liquor into their tents

GALLIVAN WINS

BOSTON, April 8.—James A. Gallivan, democrat, was yesterday elected to congress from the 12th district, to fill the unexpired term of Mayor James M. Curley, resigned. The democratic candidate received a majority vote in a triangular contest. The vote was Gallivan, 8705; Frank L. Brer, republican, 3973; James B. Connolly, progressive, 3592.

The result marked the return of the republicans to second place in the district, the progressive candidate having finished second two years ago. The vote at that time was: Curley, (Dem.) 14,875; Connolly, (Prog.) 3001; Robinson, (Rep.) 5512.

Largely because of bad weather, the total vote today was but little more than half that cast at the last previous election. Congressman-elect Gallivan, who resigned the street commissioner-

VIOLENT MILITANT
ATTACKS MAGISTRATE

LONDON, April 8.—Pandemonium reigned in Marlborough police court today when "General" Flora Drummond, the militant, was brought up again and sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or as an alternative go to prison for two months on charges of creating a disturbance in Hyde park during the militant demonstration Saturday. Mrs. Drummond was so violent that three policemen had to pin her and the magistrate found a pause in the uproar to pronounce sentence.

The "general" vehemently declared she would never pay the fine and was then forcibly removed to the cells.

All the time Mrs. Drummond was in court she kept up a fierce struggle with the police and warders and shrieked denunciations of everyone present. Even a sister of the cause, who was also in court, was also a victim of a verbal outpouring because she did not storm the prisoners' enclosure and rescue the "general."

Seizing a policeman's metal whistle, Mrs. Drummond flung it at the magistrate's face and he was obliged to duck. Taking advantage of the diversion, the "general" sprang from the enclosure but was seized before she got far away and was carried back shouting and struggling.

Several policemen were required to assist in dealing with the sturdy militant and they kept firm hold of her until she had been sentenced and then dragged off to the cells.

When Mrs. Drummond had become calmer she was released as either she or some one else had paid her fine.

COURT PROCEEDINGS CALLED OFF BECAUSE MILITANTS
CREATED CONFUSION

BELFAST, April 8.—Militant suffragettes created so much confusion and noise in the police court here today when Dorothy Evans and Madge Muir, officials of the Belfast branch of the Women's Social and Political Union, were brought up for trial that the proceedings had to be adjourned.

The two women were charged with having in their possession explosives for the purpose of committing a felony.

The court was crowded with women when the prisoners were brought in and acting apparently on a signal they raised such a din that neither the magistrate nor prosecuting attorney could make himself heard during the uproar.

Forty of the ladies were ejected from the court but the noise still kept up and the magistrate finally decided to suspend the sitting.

him, he said, to think of putting in smooth paving. The order as presented was adopted.

$30,000 For Macadam

The mayor then read another loan order of $30,000 for macadam pavement and the emergency clause was attached to this order, too. Mr. Morse read the streets included in this order and the amounts, as follows: Andover street from Rutland road to city line, $25,000; Powell street from Liberty street to Chelmsford street, $9,100; Vermont avenue from Mammoth road to Brookside street, $9,300; High street from East Main street to Rogers street, $14,700; School street from Westford street to Liberty street, $3,400; Rogers street from Perry street to High street, $3,900; Boulevard from entrance to Dunbar avenue, $2,850; Fairmount street from the reservoir, easterly, $5,200; Fifth street from Bridge to Read street, $1,600; Riverside street from Moody street to Mammoth road, $6,000; Wentworth avenue from Laurel street to Hovey street, $3,100; Cabot street from Moody street to Market street, $2,600; Cheever street from Cabot street to Perkins street, $4,500; Willie street from Rock to Fletcher street, $4,200; and Chelmsford street from city line to city line, $7,800.

Police Department Control

The mayor read the opinion of the city solicitor relative to the control of the police department. Com. Brown having asked, at a previous meeting, for an opinion, Mr. Brown giving, as his opinion, that the management of the police department should be by the whole council rather than by the mayor alone, on the ground that it put too much power in one man's hands.

The city solicitor, however, gives as his opinion that in the mayor is vested the power of administration of the police department. The opinion was accepted and placed on file.

Com. Carmichael asked for and received permission to purchase, through the purchasing agent, a 13-horse power turbine and other material for the water department.

Vote No More Loans

Mayor Murphy said that already $155,000 had been voted in loans this year and he stated that he would not vote for any more loans unless in case of great emergency. Com. Morse said he ought to have more money for sewers but he would try and get along with what has been given him.

Com. Carmichael said it might be necessary for him to secure a loan for the purpose of chasing out the iron and manganese from the water. It would depend, he said, on the report of the chemist and experts.

HIGHLAND CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Board of Young Men
Put in Charge of the Club

Fred G. Woodworth is President—Summer Program

FRED G. WOODWORTH

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Highland club was held last evening in their spacious rooms on Princeton street with one of the largest gatherings in the history of the organization. In the absence of President Vallant, Vice President Runels presided throughout the evening.

After a palatable dinner, served in the dining room of the club by the D. L. Page company, Vice President Runels called the meeting to order and it was one of the most harmonious of recent years. The first matter to come before the members was the election of officers to serve for the ensuing year and the secretary was instructed to cast one ballot for the following, whose names were presented by the nominating committee: President, Frederick G. Woodworth; vice president, George H. Runels; secretary and treasurer, Orrin H. Webster; directors, William E. Potter, Alexander Strauss, Harry C. Briggs, Roy F. Lovejoy and Frank B. Kenney.

At the meeting it was voted to increase the number of directors from five to seven and the additional two will be chosen by the present board at a later date. For the first time in many years the officers and directors of the club were selected from the younger members of the club and this was one of the features of the meeting.

of a sealer of weights and measures to succeed the late John W. Stott.

Commissioner Donnelly asked the city solicitor for a verbal opinion as to whether the council had the right to elect a sealer of weights and measures or did it rest with the civil service, and the solicitor said it was up to the municipal council to elect.

The motion was put and Warren P. Riordan was elected unanimously, on the first ballot.

The Paint Question

The street department purchased some bridge paint in 1911 and the paint was never used and never paid for. The matter came up at the last meeting of the council and was referred to the mayor and city solicitor for investigation. The mayor brought in a report today signed by himself and the city solicitor.

In part the report was as follows: "It does appear that the supplies in ing. The officers will get together near future and plan a program and although it has been announced as yet, the events will include musical and literary entertainments, summer outings, lawn parties, etc. It is intended to furnish entertainments for ladies and children on Lady days, which are held regularly at the club, although they do not interfere with the program of the members.

After the business was transacted there were remarks by the newly elected officers and all were loudly applauded. Mr. Woodworth, the president-elect, last year served as chairman of the entertainment committee and is one of the most popular members of the club.

amount, but upon the relation of all the facts, it does seem that a settlement might be made for an amount equal to the fair market value of the quality and kind of supplies such as are now in controversy; and such amount cannot be made manifest by any facts now at hand, but only after a conference with the sellers with whom the city solicitor will at once communicate."

FUNERALS

MAILLOUX—The funeral of Mrs. Francois Maillox took place this morning from her home, 5 Melvin street. High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. I., Ph. D. officiating. The bearers were Joseph Pigeon, Pierre and Joseph Messier, Adolphe Parent, Laurent, Audette, Alexis Poulin. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Albert.

BERTRAND—The imposing funeral of Mrs. Arthur M. Bertrand, beloved wife of the well known merchant tailor, took place this morning from the home of her brother, Edouard Bourassa, 128 Mt. Washington street and was very largely attended, for deceased counted a host of friends in this city. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock. Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. I. officiating, assisted by Rev. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I. as deacon and Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. I. as sub-deacon. The bearers were Alexandre Dorez, Rodolphe Loupre, George Phaneuf, Arthur Jodoin, Joseph Foyette and Joseph Pepin. Among the floral offerings were tributes from the following: Mrs. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Bourassa and family, Mr. Bertrand, A. Jodoin, Miss Arseneault, Walter Bean, Dr. and Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. J. V. Pepin, Patrick Regan, John O'Hare, Mrs. Walker, Rose Doherty, Mr. Corcoran, Miss Buras, Mrs. Charles Crevier, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Daignault, Mr. Molter, Mr. Borg, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey, Mr. Chitty, Miss Clifford, Mr. and Mrs. John Piepton, Mr. and Mrs. James Dunaigun, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Small, Mr. and Mrs. Kinch, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. J. Union, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Benn, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Croft. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Joseph Denis, O. M. I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Amodeo Archambault.

KENDALL—Mrs. Martha A. Kendall, widow of Rufus A. Kendall, a former resident of Lowell, died Monday, at the residence of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Henry D. Kendall, at West Newton, Mass., Sept. 11, 1920.

DREW—The many friends of And Beatrice Drew, aged 24 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Drew of Westford, will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred suddenly at her home yesterday. The young woman who was favorably known in the town and this city, was employed as a clerk in the office of the Boston & Maine in Boston. Saturday she attended to her usual duties, but in the afternoon she complained of being ill. She went to her home and despite the best of medical attendance she passed away yesterday. Deceased was a graduate of the Lowell Commercial college.

DEATHS

THOMPSON—Died, at 170 Andover street, Elizabeth M., wife of James B. Thompson, aged 58 years. She was a member of St. Paul's Methodist church. Funeral notice later.

FOURMOUTSEA—Peter Fourmoutsea, aged 49 years, died this morning at the Lowell hospital. He leaves a wife, and one son in this city. The body was taken to the chapel of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Athletes and Athletics

Leo Handy, the New England sprinting champion of the merman, broke his own record for the 220 yards at the Brooklyn gym tank last night. Handy showed his speed here in Lowell a few weeks ago at the Y. M. C. A. tank and those who saw him at that time can readily believe most anything about his swimming ability.

Well, what do you know about that New York bout last night. Al McCoy knocked George Chip cold in the first round of their ten session affair, that it was a scheduled ten-rounder. The K. O. was the only blow that McCoy landed during the entire affair in seconds which the contest lasted. Chip, owing to his defeat of Frank Klaus, was commonly heralded as the middleweight champion of the world. Klaus had beaten Georges Carpentier, the French champ, before hitting the dust at Chip's hands so the title was fairly clear. However, last night's affair will put a different aspect on the middleweight title.

McCoy has never been called a first division performer by the New York fans. He lives in Brooklyn and has boxed many times in the metropolitan clubs. Last night was Chip's first appearance in the big city and the promoters looked around for someone who they thought would give him a pretty tough fight—and they found more than they expected. The blow that put Chip away was a left hand uppercut in the form of a hook which caught the unwary stranger on the point of the chin.

Although the Phillies outfit the Athletics yesterday Connie Mack's men came through and grabbed off the contest by a 2 to 1 score. Shawkey and Penneck did the stah work for the Athletics and allowed eight hits, while the American leaguers could collect but four off Alexander and Jacobs. Byrne got three hits, one of them a double.

A meeting was held at the Cambridge armory last night for the purpose of forming a military baseball league this year. Manager Chester Young of the Co. G team sent in a letter to the committee in charge stating that the Lowell company would be willing to enter an aggregation for the season. They say that the local company includes several classy diamond artists.

"Charlie" Raymond, well remembered as one of the greatest athletes which Lowell high ever turned out, has returned to Lowell for a short time to renew old acquaintances. Charlie is located in business in Miami, Florida.

The colored boy will long be remembered as one of the greatest football backs, sprinters and baseball players that the local high school ever boasted and there are very few of those interested in any branch of athletics in Lowell who have not seen him perform in some contest.

This sure is some cold place," asserted Charlie when he called on the writer at The Sun office. "Where I come from the apple trees are all in blossom." The ex-high school athlete will return to Florida in a few weeks.

Benny Stewart has decided to play ball with Burket's crew another season and has so stated his intentions to Jesse. The Worcester outfielder of several seasons is at his home in North Carolina at present and wants transportation from his old manager. Jesse thought that Stewart was lost to his club this year and will welcome him with open arms. If Carroll and Nye only come through now with a signed contract the Worcester club will start the season with quite a string of veterans.

Manager Pieper's recruits have had a tough time of it so far this week in their practice. Louis brought on his team a week ahead of the other clubs but has gained little so far. Indications look as though Pieper was rather worried about the calibre of the men he has signed up for a troupe.

Murray Parker, the Hartford pitcher, has fully recovered from the broken shoulder he received in the last contest between Lowell and Hartford in the latter city during the post-season series last fall. Parker, it will be remembered, collided with a Lowell player while attempting to field a bunt along the first base lines. It was thought at the time that he would never be able to face another batter.

The soccer game next Saturday between the Bunting and the Waltham flowers which will be played at the South Lowell grounds is arousing great interest and a large crowd should be on hand to witness the sport. The visitors are a husky aggregation of fast soccer experts while it is expected that the Bunting club will be a much better team this year than last.

A freshman by the name of Kirkpatrick handed out a K. O. to the strength test record set up by "Tackles" Birdwick in the Harvard gymnasium last fall. The freshman is a monster in size, standing six feet-four inches in height and weighing over 200 pounds. His most remarkable feat during the test was to "chin" himself 30 times and "dip" 40. Kirkpatrick is the football player who was injured at Exeter and whom the doctors stated had broken his back. Doesn't look much like it, does it?

Lowell Has Good Nucleus

With Waycob and Thomas behind the bat, Dee at either third or short, Burke at second, and DeGroff in one of the outfield pastures the Lowell club will start off with a group of reliable that there is no under-rating. It is a club that either Kelley or Simmons will show class enough to perform in this circuit and Carr at third looks good from all accounts.

Just who will fill the other two outer pasture positions, of course, is an uncertainty at present, but if Jimmy Gray lands the fast Michigan man he is angling for everything will be rosy in the outfield. And from the long list of box artists who will be tried out it's a cinch that some of them will be returned as real pitchers. Buck Weaver in form will be welcomed back as will also Roy Smith and Pete Wood. Of course you never can tell, friends, but don't go laying money against the Lowell club just at present.

Reason Porter Never Shone

Irving Porter, the fleet outfielder of the Lynn team last season and at present with the Cincinnati Reds, did not show up to advantage in his work at the bat against the local club last year for the reason that Gray always lay in wait for his appearance in the batting order.

Porter's tendencies to dump the ball along the first and third base lines urged only one mode of procedure—pull on his feet that he—sild leg it to first before the infield could cover his bunts if they played their natural positions.

When the Lowell infield came in on Porter, Patsy Flaherty would immediately begin to rave. He knew that Porter was a weak brother when it came to facing the ball and would start to coach his star "sprinter."

"I am that old ball," Flaherty would yell, "knock them off their pins," and again, "When they come in like that knock it down their throats." The only result, however, was a sore throat for Flaherty for Porter seldom "came through" against the locals.

Umpires Look Tacky

With Jack Stafford and "Red" Rorty both among the missing at the roll call of the New England league umpires this circuit will be in the hole from the start. No longer will the Portland fans have a favor to scapegoat for a team which could not win the pennant and which should have landed lower than "old in the race when the calibre of the club is taken into consideration. And no longer will the Lawrence series "saw wood" in the press box for fear of receiving one of Jack's right hooks on their nasal organs. Rorty has gone up a notch and will be seen in the International circuit, while Stafford has announced his retirement from active participation in rendering decisions.

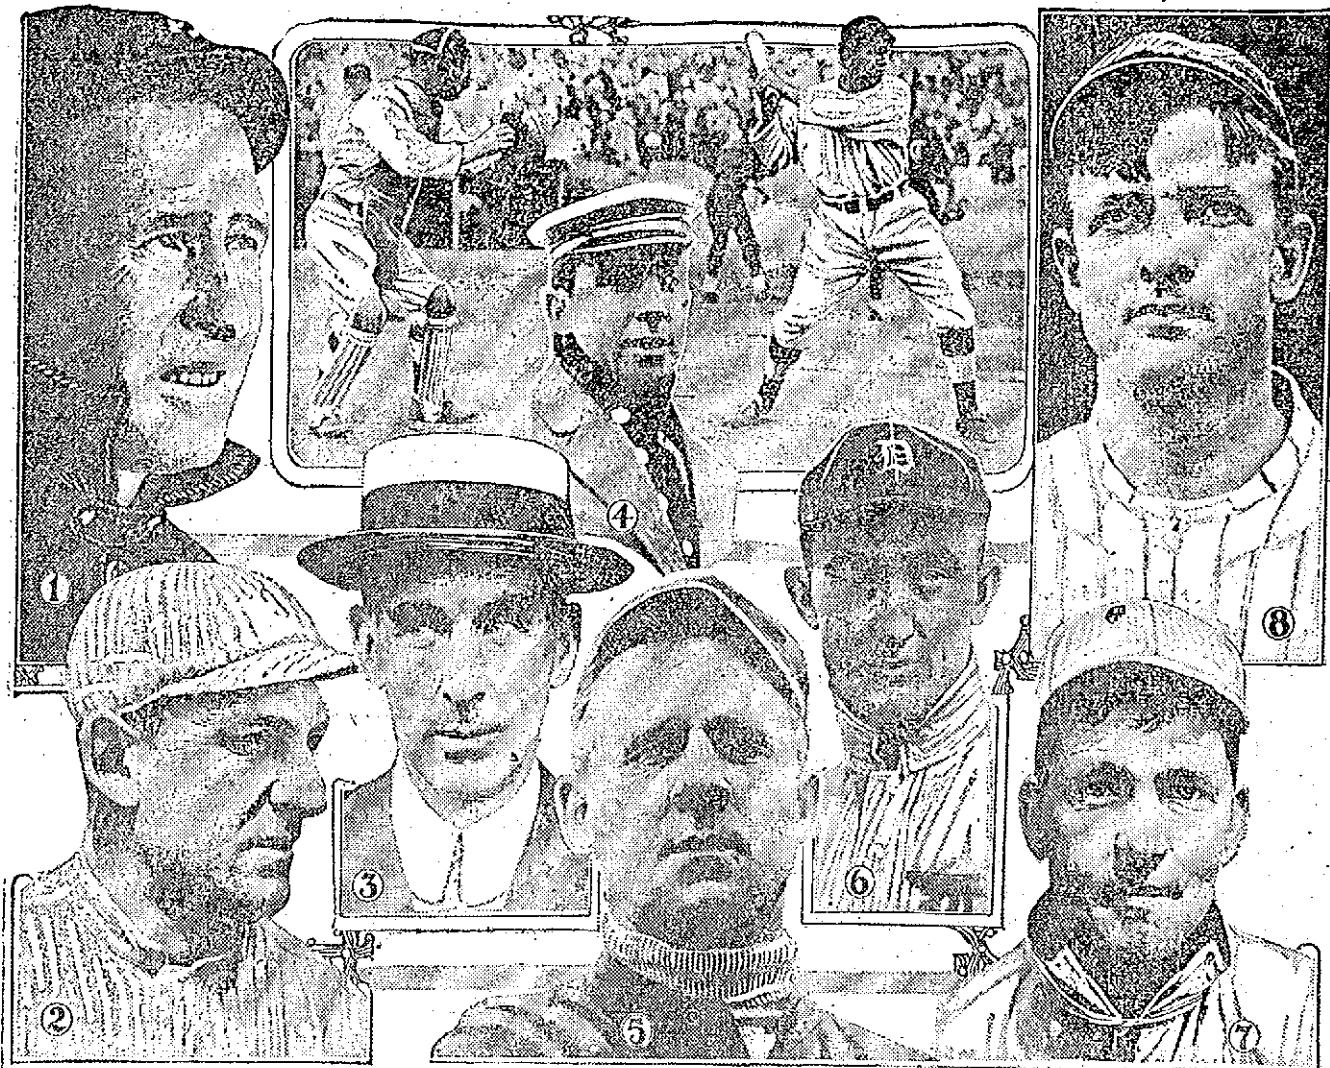

Burket Sticks to Old Snoddy

Old Jesse Burket set at rest the wild and idle pastimes of the Worcester scrib to the effect that the Worcester manager was thinking seriously of hopping aboard a Federal convict train, he has been laughing ever since he saw this article.

Burket is a third owner of the Worcester club and from the first, it looked preposterous to suppose that the doughy leader of the Busters was going to cast his lot with the Federals. Jesse is out with another pennant claiming team but he will have to strengthen it materially over his last season's delegation if he expects to finish close to the top.

ALL READY FOR OPENING OF BASEBALL SEASON; SOME OF LEADING FACTORS IN THE MAJOR LEAGUES

This season's baseball race promises to be one of the most interesting in many years. The advent of the Federal league is of great interest in itself, as is the fact that by weakening several of the major league clubs they have given other teams an outside chance as pennant contenders. The illustrations are as follows: No. 1, Frank Chance, who guides the New York Yankees; No. 2, Fred Clarke, Pittsburgh's veteran manager; No. 3, Connie Mack, "the silent leader" of the Athletics; No. 4, Joe Tinker, backbone of the Federal league and manager of the Chicago team; No. 5, Johnny Me-

Graw, New York Giants' famous leader; No. 6, Ty Cobb, the American league's greatest all round player; No. 7, George Stovall, manager of the Federals' Kansas City team; No. 8, Christy Mathewson, the National league's premier player. The three pennant winners are picked as follows: New York in the National, Philadelphia in the American and Baltimore in the Federal. Pittsburgh, Washington and Chicago are all counted on as sure runners up, and a great battle for the remaining first division berths is expected.

Y. M. C. I. BEATEN

The Lawrence A. A. A. Swamps Local Team in Basketball Game

The Y. M. C. I. Five were badly beaten last night by the heavier aggregation of basketball players representing the Lawrence A. A. In their game at Association hall, losing the contest by the score of 23 to 9. The Lowell team was at a disadvantage in every department of the game.

From the time that Referee Tierney first blew his whistle until the close of the contest the Lawrence militiamen led. Their team worked with a smoothness which resembled the olden days of professional basketball and without the slightest appearance of haste the down-river players proceeded to roll up the score.

The two visiting forwards, L. Lacasse and Barracough, did not take any chances on long shots, but simply played the game safe throughout. Solom did either one miss a shot, while the local fans failed repeatedly on easy shots.

Jack Lacasse at centre for the Lawrence team gave a classy exhibition of the way his position should be played. His great height and strength added not a little to the visitors' advantage.

Bucky Lew, the colored boy who was considered to be one of the best in the business at one time, appeared in the Lowell lineup in place of McPherson. Lew did some very good defensive work but his eye for the basket was not acclimated last night.

Jimmy Grant and Herve Cole pulled off several sensational stunts in their journeys down the floor. Grant broke away on many occasions and dribbled the ball the length of the hall. Clark, Haggerty and McCarthy also put up an aggressive game against their heavier opponents.

The summary of the game and the lineup:

Y. M. C. I.—23—LAWRENCE A. A.
Grant 11, Clark 11, Haggerty 11, Cole 11, McCarthy 11, Barracough 11, Lacasse 11, Lew 11, Tierney 11, Timers 11, John Farthington 11, Scorer 11, Bert Dunham 11, Time: Two 20-min. periods.

ennial sessions of the legislature was postponed to today.

The following reports of committees were read in the senate:

Public Service—A bill to authorize the justice of the East Boston district court to appoint two officers for attendance upon that court; reference to next general court of the petition for an increase of the salaries of the judges of probate for Suffolk and Middlesex counties to $8000 and $7000 each for each county, respectively. Messrs. Perry, Sullivan, Harrington and Carney of the house dissent.

Grade Crossings—

Railroads—A bill to change the basis of assessing the cost of the abolition of grade crossings upon the railroads, the commonwealth, the street railways and the municipalities involved; the bill provides that the commissioners may consider the financial ability of a town to pay 10 per cent. of the cost and may assess on the municipality such smaller proportion as they think fit, and that the difference between the amount so assessed and the 10 per cent. now fixed by law shall be assessed upon the railroad. Mr. Ellis of the house dissents.

Agriculture and Public Health, sitting jointly—Leave to withdraw on the following petitions: That a dealer in milk shall not be liable for prosecution for selling impure milk unless a sample of his milk is taken from his possession with his knowledge and a sealed portion of the sample taken is given him; that the terms milk and pure milk shall be defined; for the safeguarding of the public from the danger of milk injurious to the public health; for the licensing of dealers in milk whose average sale is five quarts per day; to regulate the taking of analysis of milk; for the exclusion of out-of-the-state milk not handled under sanitary conditions; to prohibit the sale of milk and milk products produced or handled under unsanitary conditions.

Appointments Today

Gov. Walsh will probably send to the executive council today a large number of appointments, including those of the members of the board of labor and industry.

It is taken for granted that Mrs. Mary H. Dewey of Cambridge, who was on the board which the governor removed not long ago, will be reappointed, but according to gossip at the state house, not more than one other, and perhaps no other member of the old board will be on the new list.

The governor will also appoint today a successor to the late Louis M. Clark as associate judge of the land court.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Speaker Cushing's "Lecture" Discussed—Bill on Railroad Crossing Abolition—Other Matters

BOSTON, April 8.—The members of the Massachusetts house of representatives yesterday again heard Speaker Cushing's sentiments as to their conduct. This time he spoke in resentment of the criticism of Representative Carr of Hopkinton, who had declared "No wonder the session is tedious when members are not given a fair show."

The controversy began when Mr. Carr moved that the house reconsider its vote, by which it killed on Monday a bill to establish a minimum wage for laborers employed by the commonwealth. Mr. Carr said he was convinced that the action on Monday was due to the speaker's reprimand of the house because it wasted time. Mr. Carr declared that the speaker was treating the house members as if they were a lot of schoolboys.

Several members became involved in the debate, among them Mr. Burdick of Adams, who said: "I, as a democrat, believe no other member of the house has ever received as much consideration as has the gentleman from Hopkinton and I believe that the admonition given to the members yesterday by the speaker was absolutely justifiable. I refuse to cater to the gentleman from Hopkinton any longer, or to support every request for a roll call or reconsideration that he may ask for." Reconsideration was refused, 23 to 94.

In the afternoon the house refused to substitute for an adverse report of the committee the Ewell insurance bill to provide that life insurance companies be compelled to separate investment and life insurance.

The house also killed the bill to authorize the city of Boston to pay the claim of the Atlas Construction company (Ex-Senator Frank J. Linnehan), subject to acceptance by the mayor and city council, for work done in the construction of a sea wall on Deer Island.

In the Senate

In the state senate yesterday Senator Cox of Malden moved to substitute for an adverse committee report a resolve providing that the Public Service commission shall investigate and report to the next general court on the cost of the installation of extension telephone sets. After a brief discussion the resolve was rejected, 22 to 17, and the report of the committee was accepted.

The senate debated for a long time the motion to reconsider the rejection of the bill compelling insurance companies which issue both participating and non-participating policies to keep separate the cost of each kind of insurance. The arguments advanced last week were repeated, and finally reconsideration was voted, 17 to 14. Further consideration was postponed.

The bill defining the method for proceeding against the liquidation of delinquent insurance companies was ordered to a third reading.

Lt. Gov. O'Hara of Illinois to Study Labor Conditions in the New England Factories

BOSTON, April 8.—Lieut. Gov. Barrett O'Hara of Illinois, chairman of the vice commission of his state, accompanied by his wife, is expected today to apply for a job at a New England factory or mill, so that he can investigate the relation of low wages and commercialized vice.

His wife, who is the daughter of Eliza A. Hoff of Cabery, Ill., one of the foremost living hymn composers, accompanies him here. She is also his campaign manager in his fight for congress. Just where O'Hara will take up his studies is known only to himself and his wife but it was said last night that he might apply for a job in one of the Lowell mills.

LICENSE BOARD HEARING

Charge of Selling to Intoxicated Man Heard—Case Taken Under Advisement

The license commissioners held a hearing in their rooms last evening on a complaint, which was signed by Supt. Redmond Welch, against the firm of John H. Douglass & Co., liquor dealers at 168 Middlesex street, in which it was charged that John H. Moore, an employee of the firm, sold intoxicating liquor to a person while under the influence of liquor on April 2. In violation of the terms of the first class license, Andrew Monahan was named in the complaint as the person who bought the liquor.

The firm of J. H. Douglass & Co., defendant was represented by Attorney James J. Kerwin while Superintendent Welch had charge of the government's case. Mr. Douglass pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Officer Philip D. Murphy of the liquor squad was the first witness called for the prosecution and he testified that he entered the store on Middlesex street on April 2 together with Officer C. W. Sheridan, also a member of the liquor squad. Witness said he immediately discovered a man, who appeared to be intoxicated standing at the bar with a glass of liquor in his hand. Mr. Murphy said that he took the liquor from the man's hand, tasted it and then passed it to Officer Sheridan, who stood just behind him. The bartender, John H. Moore, admitted to the liquor inspector that he sold the contents of the glass to the man standing against the bar but said he did not believe he was drunk. Mr. Douglass, the proprietor, was not in the store at the time, said the witness, and the man alleged to have been intoxicated was taken to the station.

Police Officer Sheridan was then called to the witness stand and told practically the same story as his fellow officer, saying that he believed that the man was drunk. Supt. Welch said that the man admitted being drunk at the time and was released as a first offender.

John H. Douglass was the first witness called for the defense and he said that both employees were familiar with the laws relative to selling liquor, as he had instructed both of them on the matter. Mr. Moore is still employed by him.

John H. Moore, who is said to have served Andrew Monahan while intoxicated, took the witness stand and told of receiving instructions from his employer relative to the selling of liquor to minors and intoxicated persons. The man whom he served on April second, he believed, was perfectly sober. He said that the man leaned against the bar, but this is the custom of the greater number of patrons. He spoke plainly and gave no evidence of being intoxicated, said the witness. He had served the same man on previous occasions during the week and noticed no change in his condition.

In his argument, Lawyer Kerwin said that he did not believe the evidence submitted was sufficient to prove the man was intoxicated and the judgment of the police officers was not infallible. He impressed upon the minds of the commissioners the fact that the matter occurred while the defendant was absent from the premises and that the acts of the employee were contrary to the defendant's instructions.

The board took the matter under advisement.

Minor Licensees
At the meeting the license of George Zappas, who conducts a coffee house at 493 Market street, was revoked. Mr. Zappas appeared in police court yesterday morning charged with maintaining a gambling nuisance at his place of business and was fined $50. He appealed.

The application of Nicholas Trafalea for a common victualler's license at 355 Suffolk street, was laid upon the table.

The following licenses were granted:
To take and sell pictures, Owen McNally, 11 Bradley street; Hawker and peddler, Angelo Ellato, 137 Gorham street; Mike Williams, 37 Keene street; Smith Bros., 254 Varnum avenue; Peasey Bros., 79 Whipple street; and Jeffery Cassette, 40 Sparks street; express, John E. Clancy of 38 West street; Walter E. Sands of 36 West street; Eugene G. Stoughton of 37 Midland street; Joseph Roudau of 65 Salem street; George H. Hovey of 279 Middlesex street; McGauvran Bros., 5 Bridge street; Nicholas Demetralakes, 573 Market street; Dunlay Bros., 12 Cedar street; and Ernest M. Heller, 17 West Third street; to sell ice cream, confectionery, soda water and fruit on the Lord's day, Michael E. Welch of 535 Dutton street, and Gordon Brothers of 391 Gorham street; driver's permit, to deliver but not sell intoxicating liquors, Athas Barontas for James Cahlin of Lakeview avenue.

The following licenses were surrendered and cancelled: Common victualler, Edward R. Hood of 20 Prescott street; permit to sell ice cream, etc., on the Lord's day, Eva Hoyle of 331 Gorham street.

The board spent the day in the annual tour of inspection of premises where license applications have been made. The rejections of the city visited included Western Market, Middle and Central streets, Merrimack square, Belvidere and Centralville.

U. S. WARNS CARRANZA

To Modify Villa's Expulsion Order Against Spanish Residents—Grave Situation

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Vigorous representations went from the American government yesterday to General Carranza, the constitutionalist chief, urging that he modify the order of Gen. Villa expelling Spaniards from Torreon.

The United States has undertaken to obtain for Spaniards in Mexico the same protection it affords Americans resident there, and Ambassador Riano has been assured that nothing will be left undone to assure for the unfortunate at Torreon every right to which they are entitled under international law and usage.

Purpose Made Plain
That Spain proposes to exhaust every resource to protect her people in the revolution republic was made plain yesterday when Gen. Carranza cabled the commanding officer of the British cruiser Hermeles had been instructed to care for Spaniards at this besieged federal port. Officials here did not comment on this development.

The state department, as well as the Spanish embassy here, is embarrassed in dealing with the situation at Torreon by a lack of exact information as to the extent of the decree of expulsion and how far it has been executed. It is understood that Villa, in a public speech, has told the Spaniards of Torreon that they were to be deported en masse; that a commission would be appointed to examine into each individual case and that such of them as could establish the fact that they have rendered no aid to the Huertista cause would be permitted to return to Torreon.

The gravity of the problem has been increased by unofficial but credible information that this policy of expulsion of the Spaniards is to be of general application; that as rapidly as the constitutionalists by force of arms extend their control over other cities as Saltillo and Monterey and other places now within the federal line they intend to drive out the Spaniards and seize their property.

An attempt to carry out such a plan would meet with determined opposition from the United States. Officials say the Spaniards are in Mexico under the provisions of treaty conferring the right of residence, trade and travel, and anything like a sweeping deportation under these circumstances would be in violation of the principles of international law and would form a proper subject of resentment by the Spanish government, even to the extent of hostile measures if need be. "It also has been pointed out that as Villa's decree involves the confiscation of the property of the Torreon Spaniards, it is wholly illegal; for even conceding the right of expulsion of aliens under certain circumstances, international law expressly provides that this shall be done humanely and without inflicting loss upon the subject.

Wholesale Expulsion
Forecasting the gravest international complications if the constitutionalists should undertake to apply this doctrine of wholesale expulsion of aliens to other than Spaniards, the state department is expected to lay this subject before General Carranza so plainly that he will exercise his full power to prevent further interference with all foreigners.

VICTORY FOR DRUCKER

REPUBLICAN WON IN NEW JERSEY BY 5000 VOTES—SUCCEEDS LATE ROBERT BRENNER

PATERSON, N. J., April 8.—Practically complete returns from the election in the seventh New Jersey congressional district show that Dow H. Drucker, republican, has beaten James J. O'Dwyne, democrat, by a plurality of more than 5000 votes.

Whitehead, progressive, received but 611 votes, a big falling off from the progressive vote of 1912, when Roosevelt carried the district by 891 votes.

O'Dwyne had the personal endorsement of President Wilson. Democratic leaders nevertheless today asserted that the reapportionment of 1912 which divorced Passaic from Bergen and Sussex counties and made it a district by itself left a normal republican plurality.

They called the election of the late Congressman Robert G. Brenner, a democrat, in this new district a personal success and accounted for Drucker's victory on the same grounds.

TO PROTECT AMERICANS

WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN SUBURB OF TAMPICO BROUGHT INTO CITY—FIGHTING ON

WASHINGTON, April 8.—American women and children in Dona Cecilia, a suburb of Tampico have been brought into the city by order of Rear Admiral Mayo in order that their lives may not be endangered by fighting in progress there. Admiral Fletcher forwarded to the navy department this report he received yesterday from Admiral Mayo at Tampico.

"Sharp fighting during the day until six, Vera Cruz firing all day. Do not believe this is a serious attack on Tampico as nothing indicates rebels have artillery but report is persistent they will have some soon. Government soldiers in command of the rebels. Some alarm in town but not acute. Have brought American women and children from Dona Cecilia into Tampico. Some non-combatants injured."

SELECTION OF RESERVE BANKS

Under objection it went over until tomorrow.

The resolution followed a hot debate between southern senators over the selection of Atlanta and Dallas as against New Orleans.

LONDON, April 8.—Premier Asquith again became a member of the house of commons today when he was returned unopposed by his old constituency of East Fife, Scotland. At noon as no other candidates had put in an appearance the returning officer of the constituency declared Herbert Henry Asquith duly elected once more for the constituency he has represented in the lower house since 1886.

An interesting coincidence in connection with Mr. Asquith's return is that today is the sixth anniversary of his assumption of the premiership.

Jacob Theis, 79, and His Wife, 78, Committed Suicide at Home of Grandson in New York

NEW YORK, April 8.—Despondent because they believed they were a burden to their grandchildren, Jacob Theis, 79 years old, and his wife, Elizabeth, 78, committed suicide today by hanging themselves in the apartment of their grandson, George, in First avenue.

The old couple made careful preparations for their death.

Apparently the old man helped his wife adjust the noose around her neck. Then he assisted her to the window sill over which the rope was fastened. When she had stepped off to her death, he slashed his wrists and then hanged himself beside her. Landing side by side they were found by the janitor.

TOWN OF DRACUT

The selection of Dracut have made the appointments of police officers for the coming year and there has been but one change, this being on account of one of the police officers being elected to the board of selectmen at the past town meeting. The newcomer is Clinton Coffin of the Centre district, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by Victor Cluff, now a member of the board.

Two old-timers, William Cullinan of the Collinsville district, and Charles A. Foye of the Kenwood district have been reappointed and their many friends will be pleased to hear the good news, for they are both valuable officers for the town and they are held in the highest esteem by their fellow citizens.

It was stated that there was a lively contest for Officer Foye's position, as other members of the Kenwood community were out strong for the job, but the officer's record is so high and the selection could not see their way clear to remove such a brave officer, especially after the clever arrest of Sweetness, the alleged murderer of his wife.

The whole list of appointments is as follows:
Collinsville: William Cullinan.
Navy Yard: Arthur Garland.
Centre: Clinton Coffin and Peter Goyette.

CHARLIE GANZEL DEAD

FORMER CATCHER OF THE BOSTON NATIONALS DIED AT QUINCY AT MIDNIGHT

QUINCY, April 8.—Charles Ganzel, the oldtime ball player, died at midnight last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Pawsey of 332 Billings road, Norfolk Downs, after a long illness of cancer.

Last winter many old baseball players who played with him started a fund for him and several thousand dollars were contributed.

Nathan Ganzel, the former Boston National club catcher, was born in Watford, Wis., June 18, 1862. His first professional engagement was with the Minneapolis club in 1884, as first baseman and change catcher. While there he caught Caruthers, formerly of Brooklyn.

In 1885 Ganzel signed with the Philadelphia club and made his debut in the National league. Manager Harry Wright engaged him as a catcher and he remained with Philadelphia that season and part of 1886.

In 1886 he was purchased by the Detroit club. He was not long with Detroit before he showed a marked improvement in his work. He was a fine thrower and had a wonderful reach.

RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Three of Six Who Robbed Bank Killed and Two Wounded—One Escaped With $1000

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., April 7.—Three of the six bandits who robbed the bank of Canada at New Hazelton yesterday were killed and two were seriously wounded by a posse, the remaining robber escaping to the hills with the booty, about $1000.

As the robbers started for the hills 200 citizens followed, both sides firing as fast as they could work their guns.

Just before gaining the shelter of the wood, two of the bandits were killed. The third was killed a little later.

The two wounded robbers struggled on for a time but soon surrendered. None of the posse was injured.

It is estimated that 1500 shots were exchanged and nearly all the ammunition in the town was exhausted.

COAL SUIT DISMISSED CHENEY MAYOR AGAIN

U. S. COURT DECLARES THERE IS NO LAW AGAINST INTERLOCKING DIRECTORATES

TRENTON, N. J., April 8.—The United States court filed an opinion here yesterday dismissing the suit of the United States government against the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad company and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal company for alleged violation of the commodities clause and the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court holds that there is no United States law or decision prohibiting the same set of individuals holding stock in two distinct corporations, even though they may be engaged in kindred business.

The case is considered of the highest importance by the government, as it is one of the steps planned by the department of justice in its efforts to break up what it alleges to be a monopoly of the anthracite coal trade. The case, which was brought under both the Sherman anti-trust law and the commodities clause of the Hepburn railroad law, in all probability will go direct to the supreme court of the United States.

Yesterday's decision is the second that this court has handed down in a commodities clause case. The first case involved all the anthracite roads and reached the supreme court, which decided that the commodities clause was constitutional, but that a railroad might own stock in a bona fide corporation which owns the commodity the railroad is transporting.

LIFTS BAN AT BOWDOIN

WINS BY 61 PLURALITY IN HARTFORD, BUT DEMOCRATS CLAIM DEFECT IN MACHINE

HARTFORD, Conn., April 8.—Mayor Louis R. Cheney, republican was yesterday reelected mayor of Hartford, defeating Joseph H. Lawler, democrat, by a plurality of 61 votes out of a total of approximately 16,000 cast. The democrats claim, however, that one of the voting machines in the 4th ward failed to register 100 democratic votes and it was said last night that the case will be carried to the courts. The machine registered 1224 votes for Cheney and 350 for Lawler.

The total vote stood: Cheney, 7549; Lawler, 7485.

Socialists and Socialist labor ticks were also in the field, but the vote was small. Democrats elect a majority in both the upper and lower boards of the common council. By a good majority the proposition to abolish the lower board next year was passed. It was also voted by a big majority to purchase water frontage at a cost of $500,000.

LOWELL MEN FAVOR FISH AND GAME BILL

Proposed Law Submitted by State Commission is Indorsed—Officers Chosen—The Fishway at Falls Discussed

Two members of the Massachusetts Fish and Game commission, George W. Field, chairman, and William C. Adams came to Lowell last night and talked matters over with the Lowell Fish and Game association. The third member of the commission, George H. Graham was sick and unable to come. It was the annual meeting of the association and the attendance, owing, perhaps, to the unfavorable condition of the weather, though hunters and fishermen are not supposed to mind a little thing like that, was rather slim, but the drift of talk and argument was quite interesting.

LUCIUS A. DERBY
President

At the regular business meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Lucius A. Derby; Harry L. Conzales, first vice president; Oswald O'Hair, second vice president; William P. McCarthy, secretary; Simon B. Harris, treasurer; H. M. Henry J. Dwyer, William S. Holt, Henry Kirchbach, Chas. E. Blaisdell and George F. Croft, directors.

The most important matters before the meeting, and to do with a restoration of the fishway at Pawtucket falls and the fishing license of $1 as proposed by the commission. The fishing license was not passed, and that was the only thing there was considerable opposition to it. It is the very plain talk induced by Commissioner Adams last night seemed to turn the tide in favor of the proposition. He said that the fishermen of the state and never borne their share of the expense of the fish and game work and he wanted to know if there was a man in the house who would object to paying a fishing license of $1. He allowed that five sportsmen would object to it. He explained that 15 cents of the $1 license fee would be paid by or town clerks, who receive less than $200 a year and that clerks whose salaries exceeded the sum of $300 would not receive any part of the license money.

There was one man in the hall who objected to any clerk receiving any part of the license money. He said that the clerks were paid for their work and that making out licenses or filling out license blanks was part of their work. The association went on record, however, as endorsing the fishing license. The proposition has been quite fully endorsed throughout the state and it will mean a considerable more money for the commission to spend. The commissioners complained last night of the way

U. S. Agrees to Pay $25,000,000 for Acquisition of Canal Zone in Treaty Signed by Authorities

Recess Committee Criticized—Meetings Cost $200 Each—Rep. Jewett a Member

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Twenty-five million dollars is the amount the United States agrees to pay Colombia for the partition of Panama and the acquisition of the canal zone in the treaty signed in Bogota by American Minister Thompson and the Colombian authorities. This was stated here today at the Colombian legation.

No rights for a new inter-oceanic canal across Colombia by the Atrato river route and no coaling privileges on San Andreas and Providencia islands off the Colombian coast, it was added, were contained in the treaty.

The Colombian congress will be called in special session to pass on the treaty before it is submitted to the senate here.

TREATY SIGNED
WASHINGTON, April 8.—Secretary

Bryan and other officials of the state department were highly gratified today that the negotiations between the United States and Colombia for a settlement of the long pending Panama controversy had been brought to successful termination through the signing of a treaty between the two countries at Bogota yesterday.

The next step will be the ratification of the treaty by the Colombian congress which has been called to meet in special session for this purpose on May 1 and by the United States senate.

While details of the agreements have not been announced here it is understood that the treaty provides that the United States shall pay to Colombia a lump sum of between $22,500,000 and $25,000,000 in full for the loss suffered by the latter company when Panama seceded and transferred the canal zone to the United States for the construction of an inter-oceanic canal through Colombian territory and for a coaling privilege on the Colombian coast.

BOSTON, April 8.—Lieutenant-Governor Barry started something on Beacon Hill yesterday when he charged members of the legislative recess committee on tuberculosis with all sorts of improper expenditures, flatly refused to "O. K." their expense bills, and suggested that the council refuse to pass them.

That two members of the committee put in bills aggregating $135 for the hire of their own automobiles, that some of them asked pay for car-fares and luxury lunches, and that one member charged $100 for steam-er staterooms, which bill he later reduced under pressure, were among the allegations of the lieutenant-governor.

$200 Per Meeting
He said that some members got as high as $200 for each meeting of the committee they attended, and that the losing of the records made it impossible to tell just what a "soft thing" they had had out of the committee.

The total amount of expense bills turned in by the committee is $1250, although the original figure was larger.

The members of the committee and their expense bills are as follows: Matthew Carbery, $27.50; Samuel L. Collins, $124.90; Victor P. Jewett (of Lowell) $60; Michael S. Keenan, $47.40; Enos H. Bigelow, $110; Benjamin F. Haines, $24.60; Cleveland A. Chandler, $37.50; Edward M. Hall, $25.65; and Benjamin F. Sharp, $110.

Mr. Barry said last night that as a result of his investigation he found that some of the members had been paid at the rate of $200 a meeting and besides had charged car fares and lunches. He stated that he had sent for Henry Bird, the secretary for the committee, and received the information that the records of the meetings of the committee were lost.

Records Disappeared
Because of the disappearance of the records of the committee it has been found impossible to check up the number of meetings attended by each member of the committee. The council has already paid the members $1000 each for their services, but the expense bills have been held up for some weeks.

The stenographer of one of the members of the committee had a bill for $299.50.

According to the lieutenant-governor two other members of the committee put in bills for the hire of their own automobiles. One member charged $75 for his automobile and another charged $80. Meals in Boston costing $24.60 were charged by another legislator.

"I intend to hold up all expense bills until I get an itemized account of the bills," said Mr. Barry.

In one bill furnished the state there is a $3 charge made for a stateroom daily on a short water trip. The member reduced the original figure of his bill almost half. His original bill which was over $100, was reduced to $61.25 after talking with the lieutenant-governor.

Charged Railroad Fare
Another member of the committee on three different occasions charged a fare of $5.20 from a summer resort in Maine to be present at the meeting of the recess committee.

"In contrast to the expenses of this committee are those of the special committee on child labor," said Mr. Barry. "The child labor committee did three times as much work, spent money for advertising and had a number of other legitimate bills, yet their expenses only totaled $751.64, and the members of the committee paid this before presenting the bills. The chairman of the committee, Representative Nathan Tuffy, not only gave the use of his own automobile, but spent a considerable sum of money out of his own pocket on the investigation for which he refused to charge the state."

According to the lieutenant-governor some of the representatives are willing to allow the whole matter to drop and several have indicated a willingness to reduce the amount of their expense bill.

Expenses Not Justified
"I believe if there were any records available," said Mr. Barry, "it could be proved that members of this recess committee received in some cases over $200 for each meeting they attended. There was one member of the committee who does business regularly in Boston every day who charged his fare from some distance out of town, and this despite the fact that the state allows every member of the legislature $2 a mile.

"It is very apparent that the expenses are not justified and I shall refuse to sign the warrants until I have heard from the various members of the committee for what purpose they spent the money and the number of meetings they attended. I am satisfied that the number of meetings attended will not check up with the fares, which were in some cases heavy."

Another Bill Held Up
The lieutenant-governor has also held up the appointments of six examiners of municipal accounts named by Charles F. Gettys of the bureau of statistics. These men are employed at a rate of not over 90 cents an hour. They are George H. Breed of Lynn, George H. Gerrish of Boston, William D. Maher of Dorchester, Fred Smith of Oak Bluffs, Walter M. Stone of Somerville, and William E. Tierney of Lawrence.

IN POLICE COURT

Richard Cooper, a third offender for drunkenness, was continued until Saturday. Patrick J. Doherty, a young man who is practically deaf, was taken to the state farm at his own request. Doherty called at the police station last night and asked to be sent away, as he couldn't find work.

Owen Sullivan, who gave his place of nativity as New York City, came to Lowell a few days ago from the woods where he has worked all winter. At that time Sullivan was jingling over a hundred dollars in his pockets. This morning he was broke.

From all accounts Sullivan has done little but drink and carouse since his arrival. Officer Hamilton told the court that the defendant was warned by him on several occasions. On condition that he leave Lowell at once Judge Burleigh allowed Sullivan to be released.

John Contu, the companion of the young man who was sentenced to the state farm for assaulting Moses Patenaude, was arraigned today on the same complaint. Contu escaped, however, by settling the old man's doctor bill and the costs of the court. He was placed on probation.

Joseph N. Lawrin was held for a grand jury in the sum of $1000 on a warrant charging him with a felonious assault upon 14-year old Alice Conchou. He pleaded guilty this morning.

Beginning Monday, April 13, 1914, two additional round trips will be added to the York Harbor and Beach Railroad service, leaving Portsmouth for York Beach at 10:35 a. m. and 2:55 p. m., and returning from York Beach at 12:55 and 4:00 p. m.

MEXICAN SITUATION

campaign had been a sort of holiday but these pitiful evidences left no doubt that this was war. The wounded endured their sufferings with remarkable fortitude. In the little improvised hospital at Vergel were probably 70 men lying on cots and not a single groan came from one of them.

"Courage in the hospital was matched by courage in the field—by a willingness to venture everything for the prize of death in battle. Never were raw soldiers more easily turned back from flight into the thick of death and conflict. During the first daylight artillery and infantry attack on Gomez Palacio the federal force grew so hot that things seemed to be going badly for the rebels. Men began to leave the trenches and make their way to the rear. Two cannon were attached to caissons that were waiting to be placed in position at a certain point and began also to move backward, the drivers urging the mules on in plain, impatient tones.

"All at once a Mexican boy about 15 years old rode on horseback through the Mesquite in the direction of the rearward movement. 'Viva! (go back) he yelled and again put spurs to his horse. At the word from a more boy the cannon were stopped and turned, the men faced the shot and shell from the south once more and marched cheerfully back to the field they were about to abandon.

Few Evidences of Vandalism
"In simple judgment it must be said there were few evidences of vandalism. There probably has never been a better natured army than that which Villa commands. The morning of the entrance into Gomez Palacio some soldiers rode up to a well kept cottage. The proprietor from the front yard watched them anxiously. One soldier drew into the gallery where a magnificent climbing rose vine was brilliant with red roses. He took one, waved it gaily to his companions and all rode on, leaving the house owner astonished at this illustration of military moderation. The incident is typical. In battle and too often out of it the Mexican is ruthless. Under ordinary circumstances he is apparently the most peaceful and agreeable of men.

"There is one branch of the federal service, however, for which the rebel has a constant stock of ferocity. This is the volunteer branch, made up of followers of Orozco in the anti-Madero revolution called 'Voluntarios' in the military slang of the day. All 'Voluntarios' must and should die.

"A prison train to the north section reaches Chihuahua without making a halt somewhere en route to shoot two or three men identified as former followers of Orozco. It is said that Bachimba, the place where Orozco was defeated by Huerta is a favorite place for such summary executions. On the other hand the regulars, the police, are regarded with a certain respect and treated almost with consideration. 'They are forced into the service,' rebel officers say, 'because they have to.'

How Torreon Was Taken
"Through the whole campaign Villa has been direct and simple in his methods. Torreon was taken by main strength and tenacity. 'When will Torreon fall?' a newspaper correspondent asked Villa at headquarters the day after the fall of the city. 'I don't know,' he said simply. 'All I know is that the town is going to be taken before we quit.'

"The sieges of Gomez Palacio and Torreon had their bloody angles. Shattered remnants of almost annihilated companies reeled back from La Piedad, the fortified hill protecting Gomez Palacio and similar catastrophes punctuated the campaign.

COURT MERR'K, F. OF A.

WILL SOON OBSERVE ITS 34TH ANNIVERSARY—OTHER EVENTS IN PROSPECT

Three Salient Features

"The taking of Torreon has confirmed Villa in his belief in night fighting—his principal contribution to date to the science of Mexican warfare. It is true that at night there may be confusion and the troops may fire on their own side as is said to have occurred once during the siege. On the other hand he holds night attacks give the assailants protection they would not otherwise have. The garrison in constant suspense and have a greater moral effect on the enemy. The three salient features of the campaign against Torreon—features which will no doubt be carried into the campaign against other cities in the east and south—were the comparative efficiency of the sanitary arrangements, said to be unequalled in the history of Mexican warfare; the remarkable quickness with which the wrecked railroads in front of the advancing army were made passable and the continuance of night attacks, giving the combatants a weird and sinister aspect which the struggle by day will always lack."

600 SPANIARDS EXPELLED FROM TORREON BY VILLA, ARRIVE AT JUAREZ

JUAREZ, April 5.—Six hundred and twelve men, women and children of the Spanish colony expelled from Torreon by Gen. Villa arrived today. Had they been in the hands of the rebels for dawn and the arrival of General Carothers, special agent of the United States department of state.

"Mr. Carothers came up a day ahead of us to see what he could do with Gen. Carranza," said Joaquin Fernandez, an exile. "We are under protection of the American flag and we decided not to leave the cars until Carothers came."

The refugees left Torreon yesterday morning. Carothers had another interview with Carranza last night, but it is said the general's attitude toward the Spaniards remained unchanged.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., was held last night in Hibernian hall, and was largely attended. Catherine A. Gaffney presided. It was voted to hold a "Rose Parly" on the 15th of May. The following committee was appointed to have charge: Pres. Catherine A. Gaffney, Vice Pres. Mary E. Ring, Treas. Maria O'Connor, Fin. Sec. Nora Sheridan, Recording Secretary Mary M. Marchant, Mistresses-at-Arms Nellie Haviland, Mary Curran, Pianist Elizabeth Curran. Other members, Delia O'Brien, Katherine Burke, Nellie Kelley, Agnes Orgg, Annie Cassidy, Mary Lee, B. McCabe, Lucy Sheridan, Margaret McDonnell, Mary Walwood, Emma Delehanty, Mary Hayden, Marie Duffy, Josephine Dean, Margaret Rehn, Josephine Kennedy, Mary McGowan, Minnie Rayball and Mary Scully.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

DELEGATES FROM N. E. CHURCHES WILL ATTEND THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE IN LYNN

Representatives of local Methodist churches are planning to attend the annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal churches of New England, which is to be held in Lynn during the third week of this month. Notices had been sent out that Bishop Frank At Bristol would have charge of the conference but it has now recently been announced that he will not be able to preside as he has been critically ill.

According to the latter statement either Bishop Hughes or Bishop McConnell will preside during the sessions. Both of these are well known in Massachusetts and the announcement will be received with interest by Lowell people.

The regular meeting of Wamsitt lodge, 7102, I. O. O. F., M. U., was held Monday evening in Odd Fellows hall on Middlesex street with N. G. Russell Stack presiding. Three new members were initiated and several applications for membership were received and referred to the investigating committee. It was announced that the gold degree will be worked on Monday, April 20, and a large attendance is expected.

G.A.R. ELECTIONS

Woods Elected Commander—Annual Banquet Held Today

BOSTON, April 8.—The Massachusetts G. A. R., for the first time in 18 years, yesterday turned down the candidacy of a senior vice-commander for department commander and elected the junior vice-commander over his head.

Former Mayor John M. Woods of Somerville, who had been the junior vice-commander, was elected department commander, defeating Colonel Edward O. Skelton of Dorchester. The election came at the close of the day's convention and followed a warm debate. Five hundred and eighty-seven votes were cast, and Colonel Skelton received 177 and the other 410 went for Mr. Woods.

It had been rumored prior to the convention yesterday that there was an active movement to defeat Colonel Skelton. The presence of nearly 600 delegates at Faneuil Hall when the convention was opened by Department Commander Thomas J. Ames signified that something was in the air, as the number was larger than it has been for several years.

At the conclusion of the election Mr. Woods, who was inducted into office yesterday morning when the convention resumed at Faneuil Hall, made a speech of acceptance. Rumors were about the defeat of Colonel Skelton was because he had declared he would appoint a new assistant adjutant-general in place of Wilfred A. Weather.

The other officers elected were Alfred H. Knowles of Post 36, Arlington, senior vice-commander; Francis E. Mole of George E. Sayles Post 126, Adams, junior vice-commander; Dr. John Gilbert of Fall River, Post 46, surgeon; and the Rev. John W. Adams of Post 100, Methuen, chaplain.

The annual banquet of the veterans is to be held today at Faneuil Hall, and seats have been reserved for 500. Commander-in-chief Washington Gardner of Michigan, who spoke to the veterans at the meeting yesterday, is expected to be a special guest at the banquet today.

Department Commander Ames in his address told the comrades that during the year past 648 veterans had died and he asked that the members read the report of the adjutant-general. He also urged the veterans to increase their membership by persuading men who do not belong to posts and who fought in the Civil war, to join.

1000 SALOONS TO CLOSE

Women Voting in Illinois Demonstrated Their Power by Adding 60 Counties to Dry Column

CHICAGO, April 8.—Women voting for the first time in Illinois township elections demonstrated their power yesterday by closing the doors of more than a thousand saloons outside of Chicago adding 60 counties to the 39 already "dry."

Their victory included 11 of the larger cities of the state hitherto "wet" territory. They were Bloomington, Galesburg, Elgin, Decatur, Canton, Freeport, Belvidere, Monmouth, Keokuk, Lockport and East Galena. Rockport, Mattoon and Galva remain in the "dry" column.

No city or township which was "dry" before the election was lost but the cities of Springfield, Quincy, Rock Island, Aurora, Alton, Moline, Dixon and West Galena remained "wet."

Complete returns from country townships and more remote sections of the state were not available but detailed figures of the vote in 57 townships placed the woman's vote at 40, 631 and 18,151 "dry" and "wet" respectively, showing that in those townships approximately 70 per cent of the women voters favored the anti-alcohol ticket.

However, these roles must be played and played by good actors, only they get no credit from an audience for good work. The better the work, the better hated is the villain.

The role of Christian Brent is one which gives an actor no satisfaction, but is very necessary to the success of the play. Brent is a thoroughly unprincipled coward and trifle. He will be interpreted by C. G. Carroll, a brilliant English actor who came to this country with the London company which William Morris brought over to play in "The Blindness of Virtue."

KEITH'S THEATRE How to get married and live in a one-room flat in New York is the theme of the unusual comedy sketch, "A Dramatic Cartoon," played by Norton and Nicholson at the B. F. Keith-theatre, this week. There is very little of story in the piece although the action is far from lacking. Miss Norton wrote the piece and plays the leading character, that of "Maude," a bride of three weeks. Mr. Nicholson is the "Charles," who makes the best of everything. As a matter of fact it is well that he has such a disposition, for the temptations to get angry are far from few. Misses Heron and Gaylord put over another splendid conception, in which they assume to be vaudeville actresses who, through frequent disagreements, threaten to dissolve their partnership. Of course they kiss and make up, when one of them announces that she wishes to buy her mother a hot water bottle. It is all very good comedy. Robbins elephants do some extraordinary work in the classical musical acts seen here this season. Other acts on the bill are: Webb and Burns, "The Italian Minstrels," Nat Aldine, clown; Knyce & Dunn, singers and whistlers; and the Pathe Weekly. Good seats for all performances may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE Next week, commencing with a native act at 2 o'clock, Manager Gay will open a return engagement with the old favorites, The Merrimack Square Theatre Players in one of America's best comedies, "The Man on the Moon," a four act creation by the same Harold Lloyd, who has made a study of the play. The play is said to be unusually clever and when presented properly, will appeal to the vast audience which will appear in the cast include Walter Scott Weeks, Gladys Mulvren, May B. Hunt, Ivaldo Eddy, Nathalie Rouds, Charles
